Kiwanis And Rotary Teams Meet in a Stirring Contest

Friday afternoon, at approximately four o'clock, Kingston time, one of the biggest events in the history of baseball in Kingston was staged when the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs met at the cricket field to boost their respective teams against one another. Supporters of each club were out in force and a large crowd of interested spectators besides.

First Inning.

The game started off in rather loose fashion and things looked rather easy for Kiwanis. Tom McGinnis, the Rotary twirler, was right on the job but had poor support. "Shorty" Dick, catcher for Kiwanis, started the music going with a three-bagger and scored when Geo. VanHorne sent a hot one to M. S. Grace and reached first before that doughty third baseman recovered himself. Percy Borland repeated the dose with Joe Stewart and things were looking pretty black for Rotary when their pitcher took things in his own hands and registered the first man down when he fanned Noble Steacy. Reg. Crawford got away with a single which sent VanHorne and Borland over the plate. Crawford followed immediately afterwards because of the home run pounded to the park by Ernie Ryan to make himself famous. Once again Tom McGinnis got sore and struck out Amby Shea. Jim Sowards took a crack at the ball and made first safely because Jack Phillips failed to connect, and Ryan scored during the confusion. McGinnis decided to make a complete job of it and struck out Harold Hughes, retiring the side by his own efforts.

When Sims, lead-off man for the Rotarians, took his place at the plate, he found himself facing no less a warrior than George VanHorne and the shock must have been great for he succumbed to George's fancy curves. M. S. Grace did better and worked the Kiwanis' pitcher for a free passage. He was too ambitious, however, and was caught stealing second by "Shorty" Dick's nice throw. Herb Steacy popped one at Jim Sowards but Jim got his hands in a tangle and missed. Matt Graham picked a nice single, scoring Steacy. Joe Stewart tried to put over a bunt but George VanHorne was too spry for him.

Kiwanis 5, Rotarians 1.
In the second inning Kiwanis opened out their heavy battery again with a two-bagger contributed by "Shorty" Dick and another one by VanHorne. Percy Borland followed with a single and Noble Steacy made first when Joe Stewart grabbed his grounder and tried to catch VanHorne at the plate. Crawford fanned the breeze three times, Ernie Ryan walked, Amby Shea struck out, and Jim Sowards bunted to McGinnis, who beat him to first. In the general confusion four runs romped in. Then Rotarians had a go. Henry Richardson opened the proceedings with a two-bagger. McGinnis bunted to pitcher and was thrown out at first. Jack Phillips did the same. Roy Ward walloped out another two-bagger, scoring Richardson. Sims and Grace walked. Ward, Sims and Grace crossed the plate from hits by Herb Steacy and Matt Graham, who were left on when Joe Stewart dribbled one to Reg. Crawford, Kiwanis 9, Rotarians 5.

They Tighten Up.

Then the baseball started. Both teams settled down to work and the playing became serious baseball and not the joke some of the spectators had thought to see. In the three remaining innings of the game no runs were scored and each pitcher allowed only one hit. The Steacy brothers were in the limelight for good playing, Noble for a double play on Phillips and Ward in the fourth, and Herb for a pretty running catch on Ernie Ryan's fly in the first half of the same inning. Bob Bushell made things more interesting by some fine coaching on the third base line.

In the pitching, McGinnis allowed seven hits and achieved six strike-outs, while VanHorne allowed six hits and had four strike-outs. McGinnis walked one man and VanHorne four. How they played:

Those who saw this game between Rotarians and Kiwanians are now out yelling for more games in this series. This event certainly proved that there are a lot of ball-players among our Kingston business men and the fans are clamoring to see them in action again. The score was by no means any indication of yesterday's game as the Rotarians, after the first five minutes were just as good as their opponents, and both sides played tight and fast baseball. Of course there will be a few stiff backs, limbs, etc., and odd suits to be cleaned but little things like that do not matter.

OSWEGO-PONIES GAME

Owing to delays in making train and boat connections and a slight misunderstanding of the time, the Oswego Rowan Stars did not get on the field for their game with Ponies yesterday evening until well after seven o'clock. In spite of the fact that they were tired and hungry, however, they showed a good brand of baseball in the four and a half innings that were played. Today's game ought to be a dandy.

It looked like cream for the visitors in the first inning when they started to pound Derry a little and slipped in three runs and captured two nice hits. In their other four innings, however, they succeeded in getting only one more hit from Derry and in the five rounds he struck out twelve of them. Three men got free passages.

Ponies went in in the last of the first and showed that they could also handle the willow by sneaking a couple of hits and as many runs. In the third they secured five hits and five runs and one hit in the fourth. Wilfred, pitcher for the visitors, struck out four, allowed eight hits and walked one.

The game was called in the middle of the fifth on account of darkness. The feature of the event was the first home run of the year, a beautiful walloped right down centre field in the third by Daly. The big problem of the first home run and "the new lid" is now solved.

Clings to Amateur Rules

The Manitoba branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will support President McDonald of the A.A.U. of C. in his ruling that the amateur laws must be lived up to in connection with amateurs playing against the touring Scottish football club stated President Morkin of the local branch, yesterday morning, when asked what action would be taken here if any noted amateurs took part in the games. "We would have to suspend any players taking part in the games, as it would not do to change the rules just for such an event," he said. "I do not agree with Brig-Gen. MacDonald, president of the Alberta branch, in passing over the laws of the game to allow amateurs to compete against professionals in this particular case."

It's All Right in Alberta

Brig-Gen. Macdonald, president of the Alberta branch of the Athletic Union of Canada, stated that so far as Alberta amateurs were concerned, the Alberta branch will give its sanction to the playing of amateur footballers against the touring Scottish eleven.

The Washington club has released a pair of rookies, Johnson, outfielder, and Shirey, pitcher, to the Bloomington Three-I club. Frank Gleich, outfielder, who was sent to Vernon by the New York Yankees in the Johnny Mitchell deal, has been transferred to the Dallas club.
