The Royal Assent. Sections 55, 56 and 57 of the British North America Act provide the method of procedure in withholding assent to bills that have passed both Houses of the Dominion Parliament. Previous to 1878 the Governor-General was instructed to refuse assent to bills that came within certain specified classes. In accordance with these instructions the Governor-General between 1867 and 1878 reserved 21 bills of the Province of Canada of which eleven referred to divorce and these received the assent of the Crown with little or no delay. Other bills were held up for assent for a long time and one of them respecting copyrights in Canada never did receive the royal sanction
