Theatrical

At The Strand.

Ethel Clayton's latest photoplay, "Crooked Streets," will be the attraction at the Strand theatre, Monday and Tuesday. It is an adventure-romance of China and was adapted from an original story by Samuel Merwin.

Miss Clayton has the role of Gall Ellis, who, answering an advertisement, becomes secretary to an antiquarian on a trip to China in search of rare vases. In Shanghai, Gall becomes suspicious that her employer's errand is not an honest one. Venturing alone into the native section of the city, she is involved in a brawl between some Chinamen and a roistering French sailor on leave. An Irish adventurer named O'Dare rescues her with difficulty, but the adventure is not half so startling as the one which follows. Suffice it to say that the picture ends happily for Gall and her rescuer.

An excellent cast, including Jack Holt and Clyde Filmore, supports Miss Clayton in "Crooked Streets."—Adv.

At The Allen.

"Trust Your Wife." Katherine MacDonald's latest starring vehicle, released by Associated First National, will be the piece de resistance at the Allen theatre next Monday. This production was directed by J. A. Barry, being a screen adaptation of Harry S. Sheldon's play, "Confession." David Winter, wealthy Los Angeles clubman who looks like a twin brother of Douglas Fairbanks and who is described as a screen "find," makes his debut in motion pictures in "Trust Your Wife." He will be seen as the American Beauty's leading man. Charles Richmond, favorite of the silent drama, has an important role, while others in the cast are Miriam MacDonald, the star's sisters, and Mary Alden.

In "Trust Your Wife" Katherine MacDonald is said to have been given an especially suitable vehicle for her talents and advance reports state that it represents her very best work. She portrays the part of a newlywed, the bride of a young architect who leaves the middle west for New York to put over his big idea on a bluff. Dick and Margot Hastings take up an expensive apartment and put on a bold front so that he may obtain financial backing for his scheme. Dick meets Slater T. Holcomb, a financier and a fancier of pretty women, and endeavors to interest the millionaire in his plans. Holcomb is at once interested in the beautiful and young Mrs. Hastings and agrees to advance money, but when he learns of their bluff insists that the architect put up a large sum of his own as evidence of "good faith." This Dick cannot do, and the arrival of a letter from his bank demanding payment on a note completes his discouragement. Margot arranges a secret meeting with Holcomb on his yacht to persuade him to live up to his agreement. This is just the opportunity he has been awaiting. A dramatic scene takes place on the yacht, but Margot finds a way to stir the conscience of this designing man. Dick arrives at the pier just as the yacht draws away. A stirring climax takes place when Margot returns home, but all the misunderstandings are happily smoothed out as a result of the conscience which she has restored to Holcomb.

The play is said to be the most absorbing in which Miss MacDonald has ever appeared and presents a powerful moral which emphasizes the true value of conscience.—Adv.

Last Sunday evening the Allen theatre was crowded to its capacity to witness the showing of the wonderful photo-drama of creation as presented by the International Bible Students' Association.

All who witnessed it were most enthusiastic regarding the production and expressions of heartfelt appreciation were heard on all sides. Part One, as shown in the afternoon, carried the minds of the audience through the various epochs, or periods of time, during which Jehovah was preparing or ordering the earth for the habitation of man. The bible declares nothing in regard to the creation of the earth, but rather the form and void—shapeless and empty; therefore nothing was revealed upon the screen showing the process of creating the earth, but rather the work of each epoch, or as the bible terms it, "the work of each day," culminating with the creation of Adam at the close of the sixth day.

From that point time was pictured the history of mankind from Eden to the deluge, and on to Abraham's time; incidentally showing the fall of the angels who kept not their first estate, and the result of their reign, and the reasons of the flood.

Part Two, as shown in the evening, began with Melchisedec, and then depicted the exodus and the wanderings of Israel in the wilderness, explaining and illustrating their affairs during the reigns of King Saul, David, Solomon—and on to Zedekiah, their last king. An impressive feature of this part of the story is the film production of the restoring of the Shunammite's son by the Prophet Elisha. Saul's visit to the Witch of Endor is represented in realistic fashion. Israel's history follows, as portrayed in the bible account, on to Jerusalem's destruction and the Babylonian captivity.

Next Sunday afternoon will be shown Part Three, and in the evening, Part Four. These portions of the drama are equally interesting, inspiring and instructive. It gives whoever sees it a wider scope of thought and a broader mental vision than ever before possessed.—Adv.

SPORTING NEWS

Sunday School Baseball.

In a senior group game played at Victoria Park, Friday evening, in the Sunday School League, Sydenham defeated Bethel, 27 to 11, in a batting practice for both teams. Four men from the Bethel team did not turn up, one of them being the catcher and this may account for the defeat being such a decisive one. The game was not up to the standard of baseball that it should have been, but both teams had some fun, which is one of the big things. Mr. Pound acted as umpire.

NO CUT IN FORD PRICES. Van Loven Brothers Deny the Rumor to That Effect.

In the Whig's issue of Thursday, May 13th, appeared an article telling of the rumors of a price-cutting war among the automobile manufacturers around Detroit. Among other makes the Ford was mentioned as being the barometer of prices and it was hinted that a decrease in Ford prices might be expected shortly.

Van Loven Brothers, local Ford representatives, at once got into touch with the Canadian Ford headquarters regarding this rumor. They received a reply that the rumor was absolutely false, as a cut in Ford prices had not even been contemplated as yet, the price now being as low as labor conditions will allow. The Ford factories are operating to full capacity and expect to make a new record for turnover this month. The objective for May is 100,000 cars, which, if attained, will break all records.

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

Prices Were About the Same as a Week Ago.

Saturday morning's market was a healthy one, although not quite as large as last Saturday's. Between ten and eleven some of the prices asked were: Butter, 35c; eggs, 25c; radishes, 5c; lettuce, 5c; green onions, 5c; potatoes, 70c a bag, and in some places as high as 90c; Hlacs, 10c an armful; rag carpets, $1.50 each; chickens, $2.50 a pair. Butter was for sale in noticeably large quantities, as many farmers are bringing in their last lots before sending all their milk to the factories.

The police have a sum of money which was found on the market square on Saturday morning and is now awaiting an owner.

Bootleggers who contracted to supply rum runners in Detroit with whiskey have been so hard pressed for supplies since the law against importation of liquor from Quebec went into effect that they have resorted to organized raids on liquor stocks in private homes at Windsor.

Some people I have in mind are so very, very good that they are very, very disagreeable.
