

THE BRITISH WHIG
85TH YEAR.

Published Daily and Semi-Weekly by THE BRITISH WHIG PUBLISHING CO., LIMITED

J. G. Elliott, President
Lemua A. Gullu, Editor and Managing-Director

TELEPHONES:
Business Office 243
Editorial Rooms 239
Job Office 282

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
(Daily Edition)
One year, delivered in city $6.00
One year, if paid in advance $5.00
One year, by mail to rural offices $2.50
One year, to United States $3.00
(Semi-Weekly Edition)
One year, by mail, cash $1.00
One year, if not paid in advance $1.50
One year, to United States $1.50

OUT-OF-TOWN REPRESENTATIVES
F. Calder, 22 St. John St., Montreal
F. W. Thompson, 170 King St. E., Toronto.

Letters to the Editor are published only over the actual name of the writer.
Attached is one of the best job printing offices in Canada.

The circulation of THE BRITISH WHIG is authenticated by the A B C Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Heredity counts. Our theory is that most of these boy robbers were sired by umpires.

Perhaps two can live as cheaply as one, but a bride can't be supported as cheaply as won.

"Is baldness increasing?" asks a writer. Sorry to say, it seems to be, as we grow older.

Let's see; what was the meaning of that old-fashioned expression: "The buying public?"

"Swat the first fly." is a good slogan, but we can't help regretting that it wasn't coined in Adam's time.

In the old days a groom began at once to save for a home; now he must begin at once to save for alimony.

Events in Upper Silesia teach us that Nature probably knew what she was doing when she flattened the poles.

It begins to appear that the United States' refusal to have anything to do with mandates wasn't a permanent waiver.

It will be easy to love one another when nations are no longer inspired by the thought that they can lick one another.

Every woman likes to think her nerves unusually sensitive, and every man likes to think his beard unusually tough.

When age brings bitter memory of wild oats and the desire to become a philanthropist, you might call it his antidote.

You can say one thing for this season of depression. It isn't so difficult to find the reading matter in the magazines.

"Poles taking root in Upper Silesia," says a headline. They might as well. They have taken about everything else.

Why shouldn't a bank trust an underpaid employee with great sums? Nature trusts him with a great number of children.

Heine doubtless finds comfort in the reflection that the north and south poles are too far away to make it hot for him.

"British Cheerful in Spite of Strike Woes and Ireland," announces a newspaper headline. There's hope for the Old Land yet.

The statisticians have neglected to tell us whether those German marks would reach to a place in the sun if placed end to end.

A physician says that sleeping sickness is caused by cerebral unrest. And in these days of jazz, much loss of sleep is caused by pedal unrest.

"The United States lags in air conquests," says a headline. What can you expect in a country where it is impossible to have a high old time?

You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, but circumstances can make a hog breeder of the farm boy who wore silk shirts in town last year.

Judging by the light sentences meted out to German prison camp commanders for offences against Allied prisoners, the ex-kaiser, if brought to trial, might be fined even as much as twenty-five cents.

JAZZ AND HYSTERIA.

Is jazz music an outward and visible manifestation of an inward hysteria, reflecting the jangled nerves of the people? Judging from the remarks of Dr. Frank E. Morton, chairman of the Music Industries Committee, who spoke at the opening of the Music Trades Convention in Chicago the other day, this hectic form of modern music is having a most pernicious influence, in the land and should be checked before it leads to disastrous results.

It would appear that Dr. Morton is himself becoming rather hysterical on the subject of jazz. Jazz has its bitter enemies and they cannot say enough mean things about it, but it is an ephemeral phase of music that will disappear in time. But there will be no dissent from Dr. Morton's dictum that the world needs good music as never before. Good music soothes the nerves; jazz irritates them. Jazz is killing itself. Give it time and it will expire with a raucous yawn. Nothing so empty as jazz can exist very long.

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO AND NOW.

Professor Raitt, the eminent Royal Scottish historian, has been drawing some parallels and contrasts between the conditions following the Battle of Waterloo a hundred years ago, and those which have followed on the recent war. Save for the appalling problem of Russia which keeps the keenest minds guessing, and which constitutes for the modern publicist a special heritage of horror, our ancestors in 1821 had externally just about as troubled, quarrelsome and sanguinary a world to re-order as we have to-day. And internally if the old country in those times had not ceaseless and exasperating strikes to deal with, it had ugly riots and insurrections, marshalling of soldiers, mustering of volunteers, and executions of revolutionaries. In those days the Clyde was a storm centre as it is to-day, and in London—there was window smashing and shop raiding, as to-day there is window smashing and Sinn Fein burnings.

The domestic trouble then was political and social; franchise and disabilities, electoral and religious; Today they are largely industrial and political—religious tolerance has so far advanced within a century that we have now the notable deliverance by the Lambeth Conference of full denominational recognition.

It is interesting to note that the way to peace in those days was found, not in repression, but in the removal of genuine grievances. Within the thirty years following the Battle of Waterloo, there were 300 acts passed by the Imperial Parliament every one of which might be termed remedial. It must be obvious to all thinking men, that no agitation can flourish without some feeling of injustice to support it and that as wisdom and self-restraint on the part of all classes has saved the Empire in the past, we must seek the solution of our present difficulties along the same lines.

For one thing we must make peace more interesting to our people than war, and for another we must bring back such a conscience into our efforts that the only dishonor in work will be to do a thing badly, and to seek to profit by bad work at the expense of self-respect and character. This means in the long run the re-awakening of spiritual forces as the only ground for confidence that the world will recover itself and find the way out of the darkness of to-day.

WISHING HIM WELL.

The Prime Minister of Canada, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, is leaving shortly for England to take part in an important imperial conference. Canadians, irrespective of party, will very heartily join in wishing him a delightful time on his outing, the pleasure of which will be enhanced as his charming wife will accompany him. The sessions of the conference will be of a very important character and will have a great and influential bearing on Canada's part in the great British Empire. It is a matter of sincere congratulation that Canadians are so confident of our cause being in such able hands. They feel that the distinguished premier will in nowise dim Canada's lustre as the successor of Laurier and Borden in the delicate and yet responsible work committed to his hands.

Mr. Meighen is thoroughly competent as an advocate and a statesman; his whole career as a parliamentarian has been marked by splendid success as a debater, strategist and diplomat, marked by assiduous labor and toll in mastering details and pre-eminently marked by high moral principles and clear and dignified speech.

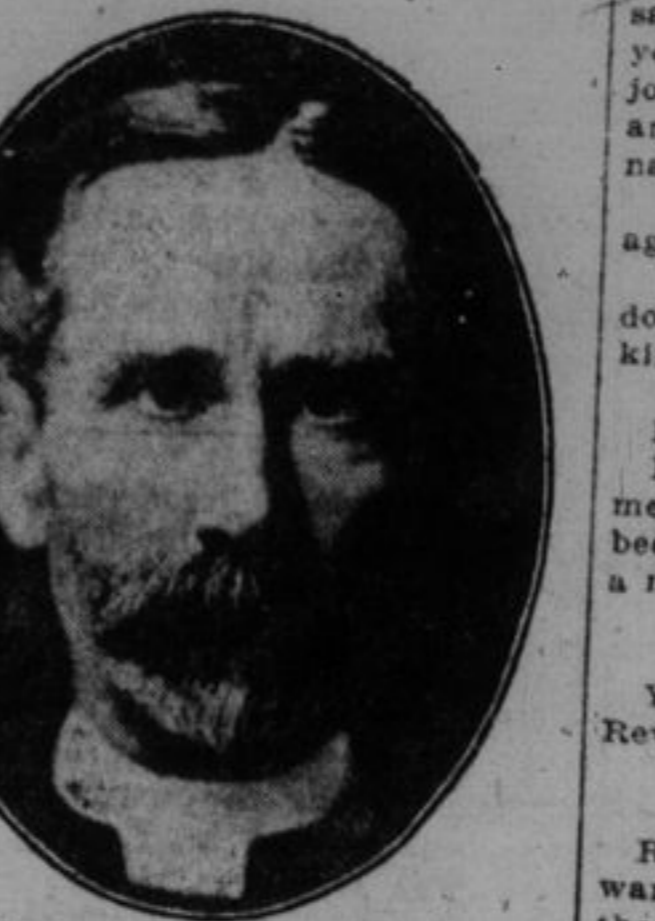

He has shown admirable qualities of patience, self-reliance and astuteness. He has carried himself with distinguishing dignity, calm, courteous and commanding. Mr. Meighen has a quietness of disposition, a serenity of manner, that commands admiration. He will carry with him to the old land all the conspicuous qualities that have marked his public career, and we have confidence that he will be honored by the statesmen of Britain and his fellow colleagues from the dominions, returning with added honors. May he also come back inspired and invigorated to do worthwhile work than ever for the Canada, whose reconstruction problems largely rest in the keeping of the government of which he is the head.

Walt Mason
THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE ONE TOPIC.

I'd like to talk of books and writers, of literary stars, but all the town is full of blighters who talk of motor cars. I see a bunch of kids conversing, and I proceed that way, and in my mind I am rehearsing the things I mean to say. I'll show that authors of the present make fiction a disease; they do not make their endings pleasant, their heroes' hint of cheese. But men won't listen to my talking, my views they don't desire; they speak of cylinders and knocking, and sparkplugs missing fire. They have a jargon pestiferous that jars my soul, by jings; it treats of gears and differential, and cantilever springs. They care no hoot if art's receding from her accustomed spot, or if the modern books we're reading show symptoms of dry rot. Connections rods and tubes and pistons engage their domes of thought; I say wise things but no one listens, and I am sore distraught. The bookish world is badly shaken, such innovations rise, and I would speak of Francis Bacon, Sam Johnson, and such guys; but nothing of that nature touches the boys who make their spiels, concerning patent dry disc clutches, sleeve valves and steering wheels.

—WALT MASON.

REV. DR. C. W. GORDON
Well-known as "Ralph Connor," elected Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada.

People Read Advertisements.

An exchange well remarks that never was there a time when the people were so constant and inveterate readers of newspapers as they are today, and this is especially so in the matter of newspaper advertising. People who a few years ago would hardly look at an advertisement now digest every word of it, and they do it with a purpose. The human mind is broadening and expanding, and becoming more liberal. It demands food, and particularly that class of food that conserves the financial interests of the reader. The demand is satisfied in the perusal of advertisements as they appear from day to day in the Telegraph, provided quick action is taken to grasp the money-making opportunities offered. The well-worded advertisement appeals directly to every well-balanced mind. It points the way to economy. And the wise business man advertises accordingly.

Not an Age of Miracles

(Boston Shoe and Leather Reporter)
People who want lower freight and passenger rates and higher wages at the same time probably have not heard that the age of miracles is past.

BITS OF BY-PLAY
By LUKE McLUKE
Copyright, 1920, by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Strange!
The ice man is a funny guy.
In fact, he often makes me sigh;
For, while he always brings me pay,
I know he gives his ice a weigh.

Ouch!
"What is a long time loan?" asked the Old Fogey.
"Well, there's that book you borrowed from me about four years ago, for instance," replied the Grouch.

Firms Is Firms.
No wonder a certain grocery store in Klondyke, Ohio, is always crowded with women. I.N. Tice runs the place.

Wah!
The man in the moon I can't resist.
He is a cheerful guy, by jings!
I know he must be an optimist.
He's always making light of things.

His Motto.
We were interviewing the candidate who was running for office.
"And what is your favorite motto?" we asked.
"Put Yourself in His Place," replied the Candidate.

Notice!
The official rat killer of the Names Is Names Club is going to visit the house at 1259 Wabash avenue, Ft. Wayne, Ind., to see what can be done for William Mousenest.

In What Set
The hen said: "Man's a helpless mutt.
For knowledge he should beg,
A man can lay a carpet, but
He cannot lay an egg!"

Demanding Full Credit!
"The evidence shows that you threw a brick at this Englishman," said the Police Court Judge.
"It shows more than that, yer Honor!" replied Hogan. "It shows that I hit him!"

Cheer Up!
We do not know much, but we do know that if you are healthy you haven't any kick coming—Lukie Mc-Luke. And yet some big, husky guy, who never had an ache or a pain and doesn't know whether he has a stomach or not, imagines he would be terribly happy if he was in the place of some dyspeptic old geezer who can't walk and has to ride around in a 12-cylinder automobile.—Dusty Miller.

You Know Him!
I'd like to choke this Johnny Joint.
And some day I will do it;
He always seems to make a point
Of never coming to it.

Firms Is Firms.
Live and Let have a drugstore in Savannah, Tenn.

The Chorus Girl.
A chorus girl's sure hard to gauge,
When you see her work on the stage,
You think she can boast
Of 16 at most.
But so is more like her age.

Something Wrong!
If everybody wanted prohibition, and Volsteadism is such a good thing, why are nine men out of ten defying the law and holding it up to ridicule? How many men do you meet in a day who will admit that they voted dry? Why are the newspapers filled with violations of the Eighteenth Amendment every day? Why is it that good citizens who respect and abide by the law that states: "Thou Shalt Not Drink?" We have given prohibition a fair test. It is worse than a failure. It is a joke.

Atta Boy!
The manager of an inland Summer resort in Massachusetts at which there was a bathing beach, advertised for two men to act as lifesavers at the beach. A big raw-boned youth from Vermont applied for the job. He was seven feet, one inch tall, and looked taller because he was so narrow.

"Can you swim?" asked the Manager.
"Now," replied the young giant, "I don't hafta swim in this 'ere lake, I kin wade like H—I!"

Lears One New Thing Each Day.
Bear this in mind in case an argument comes up. The question has been decided officially. Radium is not a mineral, it is a salt.

You Win!
Yonkers refers to it as the Eternal Revenue Department.

Oldies!
Rhoda Steed, of Petersburg, Va., wants us to get her a job as jockey at the Latonia race track.

Our Daily Special.
Some Men Won't Yield To Anything Except Temptation.

The discovery by a London scientist that oxidizing the surface of glass lessens its reflecting power had led to the invention of lenses which transmit more light than normally.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Truss Fitting

No matter how bad your hernia or how long, you have suffered, we have a Truss to fit your case.

We have a complete and up-to-date line of all modern appliances.

Abdominal Supporters, Suspensories and Elastic Hosiery—always on hand.

Dr. Chown's Drug Store
Rupture Specialist
185 Princess St. Phone 843.

FOR SALE OR TO LET

FRAME DWELLING, ALBERT STREET—5 bedrooms, furnace; B. and C. separate; electric light; gas; verandah; good concrete cellar. Possession at once. Price $3,300.

We have some bargains in general country stores.

Can sell you a good farm with stock, implements and a d crop.

Fire insurance; conveyancing; money to loan; bonds bought, sold or exchanged.

T. J. Lockhart

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
N.B.—We have removed our office to 58 Brock street, Kingston.
Phone 3223 or 17973.

Coal That Suits

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad's
Celebrated
Scranton
Coal

The Standard Anthracite
The only Coal handled by
Crawford

The Standard Anthracite
The only Coal handled by
Crawford
Phone 9. Foot of Queen St.
"It's a black business, but we treat you white."

Wise men never borrow trouble as long as they can borrow money.

BIBBY'S STORE OPEN TO-NIGHT
MEN'S and BOYS' WEAR
At Prices That Should Appeal to You. To Do a Little Better Than the Rest is Our Constant Aim!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR Combinations
Short sleeve, knee length long sleeve, ankle length. All sizes. You have likely paid $2.00 and $2.50. Our price—
$1.50 per Suit
SUMMER 'SUSPENDERS
Invisible—2 and 4 points —our price—
50c.
RELAX 'GARTERS BOSTON GARTERS
Special value 35c.
MEN'S HOSE
Cashmerinos, Black and Tan. Extra special—
25c. per pair
MEN'S HOSE
Mercerized Lisle Thread; Blacks, Tans, and Whites —extra special value—
3 pairs for $1.00
MEN'S HOSE
Blue, Tan and Greys —extra special values—
50c. per pair
NEW BELTS
Initial Buckle—
50c., 75c. and $1.00
NEW SOFT COLLARS
25c. each.
PURE SILK HOSE
Tan, Navy, Grey, White and Blacks. Special value
$1.00 per pair
SILK UNDERWEAR
Combination
White athletic style—extra special—
$4.50 per Suit
BIBBY'S

Paint, Varnish and Clean-up
Paint quality counts. Use—
"LOWE BROS" HIGH STANDARD LIQUID PAINT
No better Paint made or sold in Canada!
BUNT'S HARDWARE

FOR SALE
GOOD, CLEAN COAL
A. Chadwick & Son
New location:
Corner Ontario and West St.
Phone 07.
Wise men never borrow trouble as long as they can borrow money.
OBTAINABLE ONCE MORE
A shipment of Peck Frean's Celebrated Biscuits has just arrived, including:—
Short Cake, Digestive, Pat-a-Cake, Cream Crackers, French and Judd, Bourbon, Clotted Cream, Lemon Puffs.
Jas. REDDEN & Co.
Phone 20 and 050.
The House of Satisfaction
Lake Ontario Trout and Whitefish, Fresh Sea Salmon, Haddock, Halibut and Cod.
BOOTH FISHERIES
Canadian Co.
Phone 520. 63 Brock St. No. 9-3249.
British M.P.'s will be allowed to come tax exemption on their pay.

Dr. H. A. Stewart
Dental Surgeon
Wishes to announce that he has resumed his practice, cor. Wellington and Princess Streets. Phone 2092.
Dr. H. A. Stewart
Dr. J. L. Stewart

Lake Ontario Trout and Whitefish, Fresh Sea Salmon, Haddock, Halibut and Cod.
BOOTH FISHERIES
Canadian Co.
Phone 520. 63 Brock St. No. 9-3249.
British M.P.'s will be allowed to come tax exemption on their pay.