JUNE

The name given to the sixth month is believed to be taken from Juno, the patron deity of marriage—the idea that it was the month of brides dates back to early Roman days, when it was considered very lucky for weddings, and the superstition still remains. We have a splendid stock of—

Told In Twilight

(Notice—Hereafter, the Whig, in common with other papers all over Canada, will make a charge of $1 for inserting an engagement, marriage or reception announcement.)

Blue dancing waves in the harbor, foliage of vivid green, scarlet uniforms, girls in gay summer frocks, made the charming picture that greeted the board of visitors and the parents of the cadets, who had come from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa to see their sons take their part on Saturday afternoon, in the mounted sports, for which the Royal Military College is famous. To the left of the campus were the handsome modern buildings of grey limestone, and to the right, the old Martello tower, with its loopholed wall, and through its arched gateway came riding the cadets like young knights of old with their lance in rest, till galloping past the staff enclosure, they vainly or successfully attempted to bear the peg lance high to the goal. The band of the R.C. H.A. played popular music, tea was served from a marquee on the green, and, lest this was not entertaining enough for their guests, two clowns, a goat and a long enduring steed were on hand to add to the fun. In the staff enclosure were Lady Macdonell, Sir Arthur Currie, General, and Mrs. Greisbach, Commissioner, and Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Hughes (England), Major General McBrien and several of the board of visitors.

On Monday evening many cars were seen on the lake shore road, filled with people who had taken advantage of the announcement in the press, that Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Nickle would be "at home" at "The Shelling," on this, the tenth anniversary of their wedding day, to offer their congratulations and good wishes in person. As everyone knows the gifts on this anniversary must be of tin, so tin large and tin small, tins for use in every room in the house, were brought by the visitors and accepted with laughter and thanks by the host and hostess. This charmingly informal reception was held in the lovely grounds of "The Shelling," where the flowers of early summer were scenting the air and here refreshments were served during the evening, to the visitors who added many good wishes to their farewells.

Miss Olive Woodman, Earl street, gave a charming and originally arranged shower on Tuesday evening for Miss Mabel Gould, one of next week's brides. The house was fragrant with our Canadian orange blossoms, and in the drawing room white and pink ribbons attached to a wedding bell in the centre, formed a canopy, under which the bride-elect stood, with instructions to follow each ribbon to its end. In doing this, many delightful surprises awaited her and great fun was the result of this clever plan. The table in the dining room, from which the buffet supper was served was all pink and white, with streamers and confetti centered with orange blossoms set in billowy pink tulle. The guests were all old friends of the bride and the affair was altogether delightful.

Miss Ruth Martin, Clergy street, is entertaining at tea this afternoon for Miss Eleanor Minnes, one of next week's brides. Mrs. W. T. Minnes and Mrs. H. E. Richardson will make the tea at the table in the dining room, where golden buttercups and stary daisies are proclaiming that summer has really come several weeks earlier than usual.

Miss Kathleen Saunders, Alice street, was the hostess of a small bridge on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Jessie Smith, who is in town from Ottawa.

Mrs. Hugh Ryan, Sydenham street, entertained at bridge on Monday afternoon, in honor of her sisters, Mrs. Douglas Anglin and Mrs. Everett Birdsall. Four tables were in play.
