WHAT IS AN IRON HORSE? You won't find this word in any dictionary or question book. It is a word often heard by us from customers in describing their BICYCLE.

A BICYCLE is really like a horse—without the expense of feeding and upkeep. Always ready to go wherever and whenever you want to get "there" and back in the shortest time possible.

ROTARIANS ARE TRIMMED AGAIN

Poor old Rotarians. In spite of Herb. Steacy's pleadings, threats, commands and prayers, they will not make just the right moves to give them the edge on the Kiwanians, who defeated them last night 16 to 0, and thus took sweet revenge for the 25 to 7 victory of Rotary in the last game. None of the old-timers were to be seen on the field last night.

Nope, the Kiwanians were out for blood and brought out all their champs and demons for fear the Rotarians might repeat the dose of last week and crowd some more about their victory.

For lack of a twirler, Tom McGinnis not being in the land of the living evidently, Herb. Steacy went in the box himself and showed his fine curves. Trouble was he tired a little too soon and besides that he had to pitch and direct the whole fielding machine at the same time. This is too much for one man and the Kiwanians began to pound him as a result.

Then "Humpty" Stewart tried his hand at twirling but when he threw them slow the Kiwanians hit them and when he put "gyp" in them Sims couldn't catch them, so there you are. If "Humpty" had two or three backstops behind the plate the Kiwanians ball team would be a negative quantity when it comes to figuring in the score line.

Stan. Driver threw for the Kiwanians. He had just enough steam to prevent them from doing serious damage and not too much for "Shorty" Dick to hold. Besides, when a man did get on he was picked off by "Shorty" between bags.

The two features of the game were the home run made by Driver with two on in the second inning and the double play by the same player on Ward and Graham, which ended the evening's festivities. He sure is some man when it comes to baseballs.

Of course, unprejudiced spectators realized that the Kiwanians had the ump. Stan. Trotter, entirely with them. "Humpty" is sure of it because Stan. wouldn't allow him a beautiful running and diving catch which brought a loud cheer from the back rows of the grand stand. Also, everybody could see that he was not giving Herb. Steacy the corners. Too bad, is the verdict of most, because Stan. used to be fair and you couldn't bribe him. Some of the Kiwanians must have a well-stocked cellar story for him because mere money would have no effect.

Rotarians are all right but need a little better organization. For instance, where were those two stars, Tom McGinnis and Hank Richardson, while the game was going on? Herb. looked all over for them without avail. Then they need a new twirler if anybody can be found who will undertake to nab his terrible curves. If he does not strike out a player he will kill him with a bean ball or something and it's all the same so long as he gets rid of them.

Kiwanians need no praises or encouragement. They are the winners.

Little Bits.

The Bowling Club may find some of its members weakened after competing in the Kiwanis-Rotary baseball series, as also may the golf club, but, as Teddy Green says, "It's all in a good cause."

We would not for a minute think of discouraging the ball players but, if Mrs. Man asked some of them to work that hard around the house there would be a family war.

Herb. Steacy says he is sick of playing the whole game himself, every time Rotary and Kiwanis meet.

If the Rotarians only had some person who could catch "Humpty" Stewart they would leave the Kiwanians far behind. Their battery is very weak.

M. S. Grace is one of the few men who can talk fast and play first base at the same time.

The Kiwanians seem to have a weakness for driving the ball down Union street. Must be something wet down that way besides water.

The Howe Island Baseball team is doing some great talking. They ought to be brought up here for a game with some of the Mercantile teams. If they are half as good as the fans say they are they should be worth watching.

The Bankers are all ready to lick anything now. They have bolstered up their lineup and have had some practice, both of which have made a wonderful change in the team.

Also, don't forget that Toronto Leafs have won some more games. Things are looking up for the Canadians.

When that diamond gets fixed up in Victoria Park it will sure be a big help.

Have you seen the Mercantile Cup in Arthur's window? It's just the best cup ever seen around here. Arthur certainly got the best that was going.

The mystery of the hour is "Where is Tom McGinnis?"

Another mystery is whether Noble or Herb. is the better player. At least we'll say Herb. is a better pitcher.

Some fellow they call "Stub" plays for the Kiwanis and walks around the field with the most bored air you ever saw. He batted .666 yesterday, too.

There are several old major leaguers on the pen staff who could play with the Civil Servants on the quiet. Trouble is they belong to the staff that is not let out to play.

YANK PROS. OUT OF LUCK.

Loss in the British Open Championship Preliminaries.

It is seemingly a fact that the American professional golf players are in no better luck than their amateur brethren, in so far as carrying anything in the line of titles out of Great Britain goes this year. In the preliminary matches of the British open golf championship at Geneagles the Britishers won nine matches and the Americans three of the dozen played.

George Duncan, captain of the British team, defeated Jack Hutchison and Abe Mitchell tied with Walter Hagen. Yardon won his game from Tom Kerrigan.

Great Britain also won the four-somes competition run off on Monday morning as part of the day's international competition between Great Britain and the United States.

GOOD MERCANTILE GAME.

Civil Servants and Electricians Fight Hard for Lead.

One of the best Mercantile games played here this year was seen by a healthy crowd at the cricket field last night when Civil Servants defeated Electricians 9 to 3 after a hard battle. Both teams were determined to win and some good playing was the result with both sides hitting heavily at times. Now and then a ball would be slammed to the junior diamond but the fielders always pursued it in time to prevent a four-way circuit.

Hunter was in the box for Civil Servants and played his usual steady game. Derry, brother of "Punch," threw for the Electricians and showed that he has the makings of a pitcher. He twirled good ball but needs a little more experience.

"Del" Cherry did his best to drive his "live wires" along to victory but Joe Daley was figuring at third base for the opposition and kept a watchful eye on "Delmar" all the time. This no doubt accounts for the victory of the Civil Servants. Daley should be barred under the over weight rule.

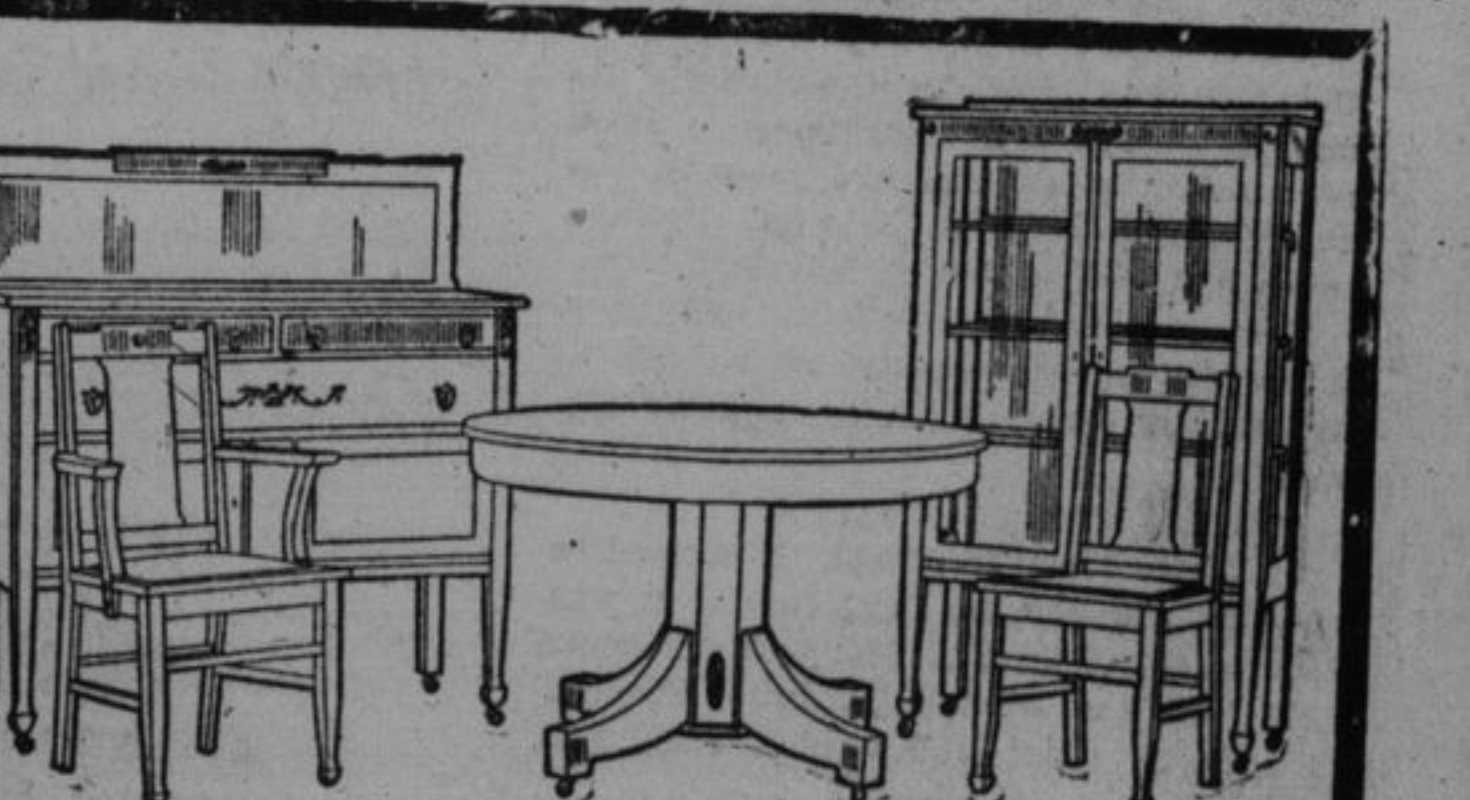

The teams:

Civil Servants—Mallory, c; Hunter, p; Walsh, 1b; Kane, 2b; Nicholson, ss; Daley, 3b; Hubbard, lf; Morris, cf; Angrove, rf.

Electricians—Jackson, c; Derry, p; Busk, 1b; Kelso, 2b; Ledford, ss; Patterson, 3b; Davy, lf; Cherry, cf; Paynter, rf.

Umpire—A. Twigg.
