

WEDDED WEDNESDAY

Marriage of Miss Eleanor Minnes and Capt. James E. Mackay.

"Hillier's" with its spreading trees, its green lawns, where blue flags and glorious roses made gay notes of color, bathed in the soft June sunshine, was on fete this morning, for the marriage of Anna Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Minnes, and Capt. James Edward Mackay, M.C., son of the late Edward Mackay and Mrs. Mackay, Rentfrew. At high noon, the wedding took place on the tennis court, and as the soft music played by Miss Shaw changed into the joyous strains of Wagner's "Bridal March" from Lohengrin, the bride leaning on her father's arm, came down the steps of the broad verandah and through an aisle of peonies, pink and white, with ropes of daisies ending with a bank of ferns and flowers where, under a floral wedding bell, the service took place. She wore her beautiful wedding gown of Kitten ear crepe, embroidered in seal pearls, its peal skirt falling over frills of chantilly lace and the long court train which hung from the slender shoulders, was centered with a panel of the same lovely lace. Her tulle veil was caught to the soft fair hair with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of ophelia roses, showered with lily-of-the-valley. She was preceded by a tiny flower girl, Miss Lorraine Robertson, in white organdie and a lace cap, carrying a basket of sweet peas. The bridesmaids, Miss Yeta Minnes and Miss Maud Chalmers, Sudbury, were frocked alike in pink taffeta, with lace insets and touches of mauve in their girdles and pink taffeta hats. They carried mauve and pink sweet peas. At the end of the aisle, the groom awaited his bride, with Charles Cameron, Belleville, as his groomsmen. Rev. John Mackie, D.D., minister emeritus of St. Andrew's church, and Rev. J. W. Stephen, the present minister, were the officiating clergy. As the bridal party returned to the house, Mendelsohn's wedding March rang out on the still summer air.

The drawing room, where the young husband and wife received the good wishes of the guests with Mr. and Mrs. Minnes, was all rose and white, with peonies and daisies. In the dining room the bride's table in the window was centered with the wedding cake, crowned with pale pink roses and lily-of-the-valley, and set in pink and white tulle. Deep pink roses were in the silver basket in the centre of the dining table, from which the buffet wedding breakfast was served, and more of the lovely flowers of June were in smaller silver baskets.

After the speeches, the bride disappeared and the guests went up to the spacious hall, where on handsome old tables, the beautiful wedding gifts were on view. Then the motor gaily decked, rolled off on its journey eastward, with Captain and Mrs. Mackay, the latter wearing a smart suit of navy blue tulle, grey taffeta hat and grey shoes and gloves.

Capt. Mackay served with distinction during the great war, and besides his military cross, has the Italian cross for valor, won during the trying Italian campaign. Capt. and Mrs. Mackay will make their home in Brockville. More than one hundred guests were present, and among handsome gowns were those of Mrs. W. T. Minnes, grey georgette over grey satin lace and wearing American beauty roses; Mrs. W. G. Minnes, Lindsay; American beauty georgette; Mrs. James Minnes, cream lace over cream satin, black mohair hat; Miss Carawell, Renfrew, canton-crepe suit; black hat with orange plume; Miss Catherine Mackay, Toronto, grey canton-crepe, with Irish lace and touches of blue, black hat; Mrs. Griffin, Brockville, pleishum grey crepe-de-chene; Mrs. John Waterous, Brockville, black satin and sequins; Mrs. Robert Minnes, delft blue muslin; Mrs. J. K. Robertson, mauve organdy; Miss Lorraine Minnes, pink organdy; Miss Jessie Bryson, Ottawa, blue and white voile, white hat; Miss Ruth Campbell, Ottawa, blue voile with white and black hat; Miss Somerville, Ottawa, mauve organdy; Miss Mona Osborne, orchid taffeta; little Miss Margaret Minnes and Dr. Robert Minnes, Ottawa, were among the out-of-town guests. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were silver card cases with a vanity case cleverly combined.

Prevost-Maddigan, A quiet wedding was solemnized at five o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Cathedral, when Oliver Prevost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Prevost, Earl street, and Miss Irene Maddigan, daughter of Mrs. A. Maddigan, Bagot street, were united in marriage by the Rev. Father Keenan. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Prevost left on a boat trip to Montreal and other points, the bride travelling in a costume of navy blue cloth with hat to match. The presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Prevost were very numerous, showing the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends.

Bowling Games, Several interesting games were played at the bowling green on Tuesday evening. Skip W. M. Campbell won from Skip F. Croser by 11 to 9, Skip Sparks won from Skip Manahan in an extra end by 14 to 12 and Skip Graham dashed Skip Newman's hopes to the ground when he defeated him by 15 to 12 or worse.

Theatrical

At The Strand. All you Scotchmen will get an abundance of thrills when you see "Sentimental Tommy" on the screen at the Strand Theatre in an atmosphere so genuinely realistic that it may make you homesick for the land of heather and bagpipes. Gareth Hughes is Tommy and May McAvoy is Grizel.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "Too Wise Wives" has been constructed with the idea that situation and climax must be emphasized, with full value placed upon suspenseful qualities so as to focus attention from the very beginning. The story is a compound of love, ambition and intrigue. It will be the current attraction. Claire Windsor and Louis Calhern enact the leading roles.

At The Allen. In "The Passion Flower" Norma Talmadge will be seen at the Allen theatre again tomorrow in what is declared to be the most interesting starring vehicle that has yet been given her. The story is the work of Jacinto Benavente, who is acclaimed as the greatest living dramatist of Spain today. "The Passion Flower" was tremendously popular in New York last season with Nance O'Neill in the role of "Raimunda", the mother. Norma Talmadge, however, will be seen as "Acacia", the daughter, in the picture version. She is said to have created one of the finest roles of her screen career. "The Passion Flower" is a tale of Spanish peasant life, in which love, hatred, jealousy and tragedy figure. It offers Norma Talmadge her long-awaited first opportunity to play in a Spanish role. Herbert Brenon is the director of this ambitious photodrama, in which Courtenay Foote and Harrison Ford appear as Miss Talmadge's leading men. Others in the cast include Eulalie Jensen, Charles Stevenson, Alice May, Robert Agnew, Natalie Talmadge and Robert Payton Gibb. Many of the exterior scenes for "The Passion Flower" were filmed by Miss Talmadge in Florida.

THE FRENCH ARE AMUSED

Over German Scorn in Ruhr Land—The Shopkeepers Angry.

Dusseldorf, Germany, June 14.—Anti-occupation sentiment is much stronger in Dusseldorf, Ruhrort and Duisburg, the cities of Rhenish Prussia recently occupied by the French, than in Mayence, Coblenz and Cologne, which also have been under foreign occupation for more than two years by the French, Americans and British.

As one crosses from the left bank of the Rhine and enters recently occupied territory the mood of the population becomes more sullen, their behavior more aloof and their hatred much more pronounced.

The reason may be that the French are occupying that part of the right bank of the Rhine that they hold near the Ruhr in real military fashion and the occupation is much more severe than that on the left bank.

The hatred of the population is directed more especially against the French, and children are being brought up in a constant terror and undisguised scorn of the occupying forces which gives but little promise that the real brotherly love between the French and Germans will be achieved with the coming generation.

Occupations bring out the witty sides of the occupied populations and books have been written about the good jokes which the Belgians perpetrated on the Germans while the latter were ruling their country by force of arms.

The Germans are now in the same position toward the French as the Belgians were toward them and they have not failed to take advantage of the situation and a sense of humor has been developed among the Germans as an occupied country which they totally lacked when they were the occupying forces.

The absolute refusal to speak French even by persons well acquainted with the language is one of the most common ways in which Germans show their dislike of the French military men. The correspondent walked into a cigar store, the other day, while a French officer was attempting to make the woman in charge understand the brand of cigarette he wanted.

She seemed absolutely at a loss to understand him when the correspondent translated the officer's request in English. After the officer had departed she told the correspondent in purest French:

"I understood him the first time but I would not give him the satisfaction."

Many shopkeepers have forsaken good sales by the same reluctance to speak French.

Few women in Dusseldorf, Ruhrort or Duisburg will be seen in the company of a uniformed French soldier or officer in the streets. The few who transgress the unwritten law are promptly catalogued at the German city headquarters and are marked for reprisals. In some cases the difficulty is avoided by the occupying army adopting civilian clothes, which seems to be satisfactory all around.

A Long Speech. (Ridgeway Dominion) In reporting a recent speech of the Hon. Manning Doherty a contemporary says: "The Hon. gentleman also spoke on the rural credit scheme for 5 or 20 years." The Hon. gentleman is some talker, if the report is true.

Letters to the Editor

Dr. Edwards' Second Reply. Cataragi, June 14.—(To the Editor): I think Emerson must have had in mind a person like Mr. Bushell when he penned those words: "What you are speaks so loudly I cannot hear what you say."

Mr. Bushell does not seem to regard gross misrepresentation and distortion of facts as abuse. I am inclined to believe that those who have been privileged or obliged to listen to his lurid and malodorous diatribes for the last year or so, especially on Kingston market, will be amused at his exhibition of characteristic bluff and his yell of "Kamerad" on receiving the first gentle tap in response to his unprovoked attack. He sought this press quarrel and so far as I am concerned, I will neither ask for quarter nor give any.

Mr. Bushell was an outspoken opponent of reciprocity in the election of 1911 and I, therefore, assume he voted for me then and therefore endorsed my course in regard to the tariff. He says he voted for me in 1917 though he certainly talked against me. But assuming that he has told the truth and that he did, vote for me in 1917, then I have his endorsement up to that time and my political sins, have occurred since the last election. Every person knows when and why Mr. Bushell ceased to be a vehement Tory. Every person understands why he has become a noxious U.F.O. Every person knows that he changed pastures not because of political convictions but because he thought the herbage was more luxuriant on the other side of the fence. Up to the time he failed to get the position of Jailer he was as great a scoundrel in the Tory party as he is now in the U. F. O.; as keen to get his nose in the tory trough as he is now eager to swallow in anything the U. F. O. has to offer. Now he says the government job was talked over by a few of his friends but no formal application was made. Was the unfortunate oversight on his part or on his?

He says he has never expressed a desire to contest Frontenac for the federal house in the interests of the U.F.O. Then why did he canvass people during the last year? However, he is not neglecting the "formal application" this time but has fortified the street rumor which he himself started by announcing that if elected he will be as ready to play the part of scavenger at Ottawa as he was willing to sacrifice himself for his country by being governor of the country jail.

Mr. Bushell regards my holding of political meetings as an evidence of fear. That is a strange conclusion, especially in view of the fact that I publicly invited both Liberals and United Farmers to attend those meetings or discuss with me the public issues. That invitation was broad enough to include even Mr. Preston if he had chosen to attend. But if the holding of political meetings when no election is on is an evidence of fear, then what must one think of the U.F.O. with their political picnics, card parties and dances all over the province?

In regard to my meeting at Cataragi, Mr. Bushell says: "Had his bill stated that Dr. Edwards would hold a public meeting, I can assure him that we would have been there."

Not only was my bill read at a meeting at which he was chairman, but I at the same time extended a verbal invitation and the next day at a U.F.O. meeting in Kingston, Mr. Sproule read my handbill. The Standard report of that meeting contains these sentences and the Whig report is similar: "Will we attend the meeting," asked Mr. Sproule, "or will we ignore him?" R. J. Bushell advised that Dr. Edwards be left alone. "We are not subject to his beck and call," said Mr. Bushell, and I would advise that we ignore the meeting altogether."

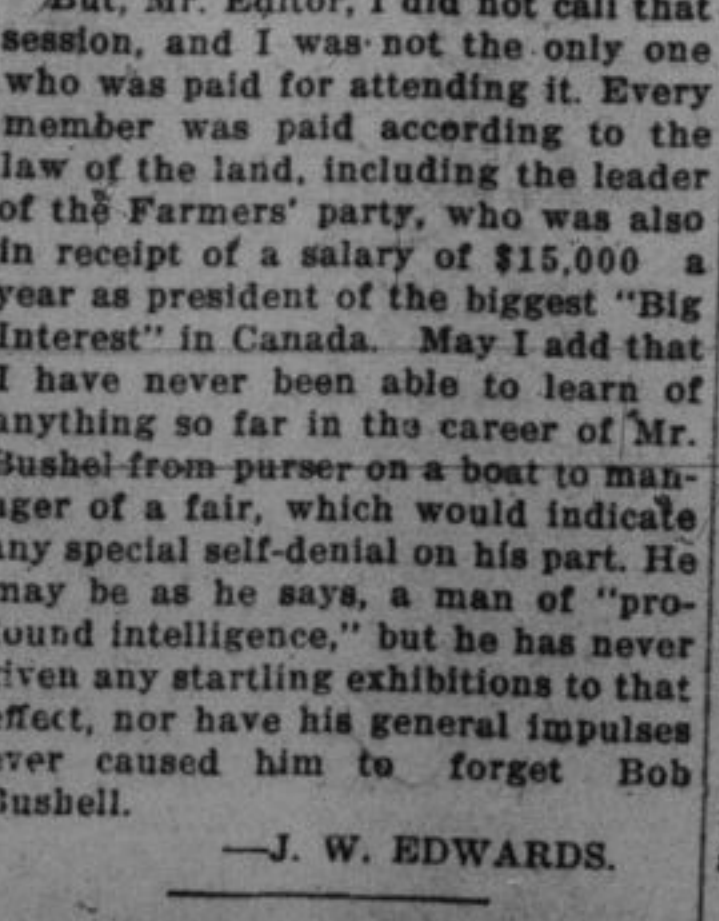

When he charges me with saying that if I had to make a choice I would prefer Germany to the United States he makes a statement which is not only absolutely false but silly.

Again he says, "The doctor states that he did not visit any riding where a U.F.O. candidate was in the field." I don't know whether this is another case of reckless disregard of facts or mere stupidity. Certainly I said nothing of the kind. In his letter of June 6th he asked whether I was supporting the U.F.O. or the present government in the last bye-elections and I suggested that if he would study a geography for a month or so, it might dawn on him that there was no U.F.O. candidate running in either of those elections. Of course the month or so has not elapsed but to help him along I will remind him that the last bye-elections were held in Quebec and New Brunswick.

If Mr. Bushell will read the fifth chapter of Acts he will learn of a certain man, a land-owner (whether bona fide farmer or huckster I do not know) who acquired unenviable fame through audacious trifling with the truth, and who fell dead when convicted. If Mr. Bushell was as sensitive as that man, the fair would have been looking for another manager some time ago.

Mr. Bushell says he is a man of "profound intelligence." One might as well accept his statement, as look for proof of it in anything he writes. If, as he would have your readers believe, the extra session of 1919 was needlessly prolonged to obtain the full indemnity, then that purpose could have been attained in thirty-one days. But the session lasted seventy-one days and enacted very important and necessary legislation. I will refer to only one act, the acquisition of the G.T.R., which the Hon. Mr. King referred to as "the most important measure put through parliament in the history of Canada."

FOUR CRIMINAL CASES QUICKLY DISPOSED OF

In giving the case to the jury, Judge Madden submitted three questions and the jury dealt with these questions as follows:

(1) At the time the information was laid was the defendant actuated in doing so by malice?

Answer.—No. (2) Did the defendant, at the time he laid the information himself believing the plaintiff guilty of assaulting him?

Answer.—Yes. (3) If the plaintiff should be entitled to damages, what sum do you award him?

This question was not answered by the jury.

Given Suspended Sentence Before Judge Madden in the county court Wednesday morning, James D. Godkin pleaded "guilty" to being an accessory after the fact in connection with the fur robbery at the store of George Mills & Company, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence. He was assessed $50 damages. His counsel, T. J. Rigney, reviewed the circumstances in connection with the case, and asked for leniency.

Judge Madden also reviewed the case, and said that in view of the previous good character of the accused, he would allow him to go on suspended sentence.

A Plea of Insanity. The case of Leo Rogers, the young convict, who is charged with assaulting Detective William Duncan, and also with attempting to escape from Portsmouth penitentiary, will come before Judge Madden, in the county court, on Thursday morning.

T. J. Rigney is counsel for the prisoner, and it is understood that a plea of insanity will be put in. Dr. C. K. Clark, Toronto, will be one of the chief witnesses in the case, and it is stated that Dr. Clark has already examined Rogers and that he has pronounced him insane.

CERTIFIED POTATO SEED.

Growing Plants and Tubers Inspected by Division of Botany.

During the season of 1926, 7,613 acres of potatoes were inspected by inspectors of the division of Botany, Experimental Farms Branch. Of this number 2,050 1/2 acres were, on account of the general freedom from disease and excellent condition of the growing crops, classified as Grade No. 1, and, subject to a further inspection of the tubers after harvest, these crops were considered to be worthy of certification for seed purposes. Again, of the total inspected, 1,105 acres were found to be so reasonably free from disease as to warrant their certification as Grade No. 2, subject to tuber inspection. The presence, however, of a considerable amount of rot in the tubers at harvest-time, owing chiefly to the general prevalence of late blight in 1926, appreciably reduced the amount of seed which would otherwise have attained the standard of certification. Notwithstanding this, it has been recently ascertained that in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba there is a total of approximately 120,000 bags of seed of several varieties of potatoes, from fields which passed certified seed this spring, subject to final inspection at shipping points.

Further particulars with regard to the exact location of this seed and the available quantities and varieties in any given district may be obtained from the Markets Division, Seed Branch, Ottawa.

The system and methods adopted in the work of inspection and certification were given in detail in the press some months ago. Growers who are not already familiar with the system may obtain information by writing to the Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The work will be continued this year along the same lines as in previous years, and all prospective growers of seed potatoes who may be interested and desirous of participating in the benefits of the inspection which is carried out free of charge, are invited to make application to the Division of Botany as early in the season as possible.

TORONTO WOMAN FORCED TO QUIT

Mrs. Dalliday Was in Wretched Health Before Taking Tanlac—Back at Work Now.

"When I started on Tanlac I was in wretched health, but now I'm a well and happy woman," said Mrs. C. Dalliday, 57 Hastings Ave.

"For two years or more I was in a general rundown condition. I had no appetite and what I ate disagreed with me causing gas which pressed around my heart so I could hardly get my breath. I was so nervous that the least unusual noise drove me frantic. I hardly ever got a good night's sleep and mornings felt dull and all tired out. Finally I had a nervous breakdown and had to give up work and stay at home. I was so weak that I couldn't even do a little work around the house.

"Other medicines only seemed to make me worse, but Tanlac helped me right from the start and by the time I had finished my first bottle I was so much better I went to work again. I never felt better in my life than I do now. My appetite is splendid, everything I eat agrees with me perfectly, my nerves are steady and I sleep like a child every night and wake up mornings feeling thoroughly rested and refreshed. Tanlac is my 'standby' from now on."

Tanlac is sold in Kingston by A. P. Chown and leading druggists.—Adv.
