CRITICIZES THE WORK OF ROAD COMMISSION

Kingston Township Reeve Opposes Re-appointment of Anthony M. Rankin.

At the Thursday morning session of the County Council, Reeve Clark declared that Kingston township had not been fairly treated in regard to the suburban road work, and objected to the re-appointment of Anthony M. Rankin, M.P.P., as the council's representative on this road commission. He claimed that Mr. Rankin was not in touch with the finances of the township, and was going into too great expenditures on road building. Last year the township of Kingston had to borrow nearly $4,000 to tide over on suburban road work. Reeve Clark claimed that the roads leading from Kingston township into the city received more traffic than those leading from Pittsburg. The money expended on the suburban area, he said, was not divided properly. It should be divided according to the mileage each township has in the suburban area. Reeve Clark thought that J. F. Leatherland, treasurer of Kingston township, should be appointed as Frontenac's representative on the suburban road commission.

Reeve Sibbitt, Pittsburg, did not agree with Reeve Clark. He remarked that for two years no work was done by the suburban commission on Pittsburg roads. "No better road man could be got anywhere than Mr. Rankin. I worked with him and know he is thoroughly fair and accurate with road problems," said Reeve Sibbitt.

Reeve Clark, in reply, said that the Hearst government had been wreckless in its road policy. The present government was following out the same extravagant road policy. It was time a halt was called, said Reeve Clark, who pointed out that his township was now taxed forty-four or forty-five mills on the dollar.

A letter from Auditor Muir was read stating that after the 4th of July county councils could collect eight dollars a day, instead of five dollars, for attendance at council and committee meetings.

A by-law was passed providing for the expenditure of $66,000 on good roads this year. In 1920 about $85,000 was spent.

The assessment total was fixed at $6,901,500, the same as last year, and the equalization of the various townships was also fixed as in 1920.

The clerk reported upon the Mothers' Allowances' Board work. There were twelve Frontenac women on the list to date. Councillor Sproule said that these twelve would cost Frontenac $1,317 for this year. A by-law was passed to authorize the warden and treasurer to borrow from the Bank of Toronto money to meet expenditure on the system of county highways for the current year.

The good roads committee recommended that Road Superintendent R. H. Fair's salary be $1,100 and $600 for car.

The property committee recommended that P. Walsh & Co. be awarded the contract for fuel for the county buildings, their tender being lowest.

The council adjourned at noon until Friday morning. The members were the guests of Warden McGregor on a steamer trip to Cape Vincent, N.Y., on Thursday afternoon.

CHECKING UP FORMS RECEIVED OF CENSUS

It Is Thought a Small Increase in Population Will Be Announced.

The census has been completed in Kingston. Commissioner E. W. Skinner is now checking up the forms before sending them to Bureau of Census and Statistics, Ottawa. No definite statement regarding population is available except by direction of the dominion statistician but it is anticipated that a small increase in population will be noted. Had there been no unemployment, with the subsequent departure of many families from the city, it is believed there would have been a large increase in the number of inhabitants in the city.
