At the Strand. A dozen condemned men enjoye the privilege of seeing the first motion picture ever exhibited in Sing Sing's death house through the kindness of Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, and his director, Tom Forman, who recently presented , projection machine to the prison. In teriors of the prison are shown in Mr. Meighan's new picture, "The City of Silent Men," which will be shown at the Strand Theatre to-day. Mr. Meighan recently staged an escape scene at Sing Sing for his latest Paramount picture, "The City of Silent Men," and he was struck with the utter dreariness the life of the inmates of the deathhouse that he asked Warden Lawes if a motion picture projection machine could be used there. The Warden said the men might see censored pictures occasionally and the projection machine was ordered. It arrived in time to add a little mirth to the last Christmas many of the condemned men enjoyed .- Advt.

At The Griffin. Arline Pretty and Thurston Hall play the leads in the Selznick picture, "The Valley of Doubt," which is the feature attraction at the Griffin theatre today and Saturday. Miss Pretty takes the part of a young American girl who goes to her father's camp in an effort to reform him. Thurston Hall is a young French-Canadian who
