At the Strand. If you were to find a supposed burglar in your house at night, reading a book, would you agree to give him $1,500 to educate him and bind yourself to become his wife at the end of five years? That was the situation in which Lois Wilson, as the girl heroine of "What Every Woman Knows," the new William DeMille Paramount picture which is displayed at the Strand theatre to-day found herself.

At the Allen. The old-fashioned idea of matinee copies without regard to what they may think about it is not only out of date, but it is a great injustice to all concerned," said Miss Talmadge, commenting on the lesson taught by her picture. "In the past, these marriages have often been arranged by elders with the best intentions, but, regardless of how good their intentions, they are committing a grave wrong unless real love is shown on both sides. This sort of match-making sounds the death knell to romance. And is there anything dearer to the heart of any normal girl than romance?"

Miss Talmadge concluded by saying that in making her latest production she not only strove to provide good entertainment for the public but to give some real "lessons in love." At Allen theatre to-day and to-morrow. In addition to Kenneth Harlan, other prominent members of the supporting cast are George Fawcett, Florence Short, Flora Finch, James Harrison, Frank Webster and Louise Lee.—Adv.

TO USE SAME STAFFS AT THE OTHER CAMPS

Lieut.-Cols. Gillespie and Hodgins to Command at Ottawa and Peterboro.

Lt.-Col. G. H. Gillespie, I.C.S., M. D. No. 3, has issued standing orders for the two cadet corps to be opened at Rockcliffe and Peterboro on July 11th. In order to observe the demands of strict economy the government imposes in connection with the whole matter of military expenditures, the four local camps are formed, for in this way the heavy expenditures involved in transportation is reduced to the minimum. Lt.-Col. Gillespie has managed, too, by the arrangement of alternate camps to utilize practically the same staffs that will be in charge of the Kingston and Belleville camps, and the organization is therefore about the same. The personnel is as follows:

Peterboro: Camp commandant, Lt. Col. G. H. Gillespie, A.A.A. and Q. M. G., Captain E. C. Jamieson; musical instructor, Captain Neale; medical officer, Lt.-Col. A. W. Macpherson; camp sergt. major, Sgt. Maj. L. Dryden, R.C.R.; instructors, Sgt. Maj. L. Dryden, Sgt. T. Thomas and Harwood. Q. M. sergeant and orderly room clerk are to be detailed.

Rockcliffe camp—Camp commandant, Lt.-Col. F. O. Hodgins, D.S.O.; A. A. and Q. M. G., Maj. R. O. Wheatley, M.C., 21st Battalion, Ottawa; musketry instructor, Capt. E. W. Skinner, P.W.O. Regt.; medical officer, Major G. P. Howlett; camp sergt.-major, Sgt. Major C. V. Patterson (W. O.) who with Sgt.-Major T. McDonald, will also act as instructors. The camps will close July 16th.

TO TRY AND MAKE WARS IMPOSSIBLE

London, June 28.—The Australian Labor Congress has resolved to get into communication with labor organizations throughout the world, and especially with those of countries bordering on the Pacific with a view to developing a plan of working-class action designed to make wars impossible, according to cables received here.

OBITUARY

H. A. Connolly, M.A., M.D.C.M. Harry A. Connolly was born in the Methodist parsonage in Sherbrooke, Que., in 1870, and was the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Connolly. His public school education was received at Newburgh, Ont., while his high school education was obtained at the "old Grammar School," this city, under the late Principal Wood. He entered Queen's University at the early age of sixteen years, securing his B.A. at the age of twenty-one, and one year later secured his M.A. degree and was also gold medalist of that year.

After teaching high school for several years in Cookshire, Que., he decided to enter the medical profession and accordingly entered Queen's medical college in 1903, obtaining his M.D.C.M., in 1908. After a year of hospital work in Montreal the deceased went to Australia to take charge of the hospital and practice of the late Dr. Little, eventually taking over the same which he carried on successfully for the past twelve years.

Owing to ill-health Dr. Connolly decided to dispose of his interests there and return to the land of his birth which he loved with all the passion of his being. After a long and tedious journey he arrived in Ottawa, Illinois, about the fifth of June, and seemed to gain in strength daily, under the care of his brother-in-law, Dr. J. C. Catlin. Word had just been received that he expected to arrive here on July 8th, for a visit with his relatives, when suddenly on Saturday evening, June 25th, the summons came and Dr. Connolly slipped away to his long home.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, formerly Miss Edna Bigham, Cata-raqui, and two small children; one sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Ewing, Pentictou, B.C.; and five brothers, Hobart E. Kamloops, B.C.; Dr. Arthur K. Salmon Arm, B.C.; Dr. E. Worthington, Vancouver, B.C.; Dr. Norman W. Eskine, Alta.; and William E., this city. He was a nephew of H. E. Flynn, 7 Mack street, and L. A. Flynn, Durham street. Throughout his whole life he was deeply interested in the work of the Methodist church. Dr. Connolly's remains are expected to arrive in this city by C.P.R. at 3.30 o'clock on Wednesday, and will be taken to the home of H. E. Flynn, 7 Mack street, where a brief service will be conducted. The remains will be laid to rest in Catarqui cemetery.

HIS LEG FRACTURED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Reginald McAllister, Aged Eighteen, a Driver, Was the Victim.

Reginald McAllister, an eighteen-year-old boy, employed as a driver for Robinson's grocery, had his leg broken as the result of an accident which occurred at the foot of Clarence street, Tuesday, about 1.30 p.m. An auto which was loading biscuits at Toye's wholesale on Clarence street, backed down the hill, frightening the horse driven by McAllister, who was thrown under the wagon, which was over turned. The horse then ran away along the tracks to Brock, where it was stopped. R. J. Reid's ambulance removed the unfortunate young man to the General hospital where Dr. P. H. Huyck attended his injuries. The injured boy is a son of A. McAllister, butcher, Concession street.

A NUN IS STRUCK BY LOCOMOTIVE CYLINDER

At Kingston Junction, But Escaped With Some Bruises on Arm.

While standing on the platform at Kingston Junction on Saturday afternoon awaiting the arrival of Grand Trunk train No. 14, the Chicago-Montreal flyer, Rev. Sister Mary John the Baptist, of St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Brockville, was struck by the cylinder of engine No. 238 hauling that train, but escaped with bruises on the left arm between the elbow and shoulder. As the train approached the station around the curve from the west, two young girls were standing on the track, having their pictures taken by a young man. Although Engineer William Adamson, Belleville, sounded the alarm whistle they remained there until the last second and it is thought that Sister Mary John the Baptist's attention was diverted by their foolishness and that she did not realize the train was so close. Accompanying her was Rev. Mother Vincent, of St. Vincent de Paul Hospital.

The Police Court Proceeding.

As an aftermath of the arrest of Maxam Shappee, on a charge of being intoxicated, came the charge against Walter Corkey and Edward O'Neill, of having had liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. Shappee was before Magistrate Farrell on Monday morning and remanded. The charges against Corkey and O'Neill came up on Tuesday morning and an hour was taken up in the hearing of the evidence.

Shappee swore that he was in an automobile with Corkey and O'Neill and that he put up the money for the purchase of two bottles of liquor. The sum of $8 was paid for one bottle, and $7 for the other. The liquor was secured in Kingston, and was consumed in the car. Corkey and O'Neill denied the story about the liquor, and claimed that they were giving Shappee a "lift" in their car when he was taken ill. Corkey and O'Neill did not give an account satisfactory to the magistrate regarding their movements on the night in question, and the court disposed of the case by imposing a fine of $100 and costs or three months on each.

Oddfellows' Moonlight Excursion.

The Oddfellows' moonlight excursion, held last evening, was one of the best attended this year. The steamer St. Lawrence carried over five hundred people for a sail among the islands. An enjoyable hour was spent in Gananoque, and the time on board was spent in dancing. McAuley's orchestra furnished excellent music.

Mill Is Burned.

The lumber mill, cheese box factory and horse barn of E. H. Bolton at Portland were burned Saturday. By strenuous efforts the office building and surrounding houses were saved. A considerable stock of cheese boxes, headings and lumber were also burned, with insurance only on the barn.

VOLCANO ERUPTION MAKES PEOPLE FLEE

SPORTING NEWS

Hebrews Enter Protest. The management of the Young Hebrews' senior baseball team, which played Sydenham Street Methodist baseball team last week, have entered a protest on the final decision of the umpire, which gave the Methodist team the game by a score of 13 to 12. The Hebrews contend that the ball was blocked and the score should have been a tie. The management of the Sydenham street boys have notified the Young Hebrews that in view of the fact that the decision was very close they are quite agreeable to re-play the game. It is likely that the game will be played some day this week.

Girls' Baseball Game.

The management of the Sydenham and Princess Street Methodist girls' baseball teams have decided to play on Wednesday evening at Victoria Park. The league was tied, and it was found necessary for the three leading teams to play off to declare a winner.

Unsolved Mystery

I came upon him first as he was struggling through a pathless jungle. From head to foot he was black as midnight. His face was like nothing human, and his fiendish appearance was enhanced by two long horns projecting from his head. He carried in his jaws—not in his arms, for reasons which will appear in a moment—the corpse of his twin brother, and, in spite of his fearful burden, such was his tremendous strength that he held his head erect and moved on at a good round pace, not once stopping for breath.

He seemed not to observe me, and I let him pass and followed his progress, keeping a respectable distance between us. He made his way through the tangle of vegetation with incredible swiftness, now pushing his ghastly load through a narrow gap, now dragging it after him under some overhanging stem; twisting and turning as if waltzing with it, but ever scrambling on, with an unswerving accuracy and an appalling fierceness of energy which no European could have sustained, in a westerly direction.

I knew little about the customs of his tribe, so could not tell whether they permitted cannibalism, or whether this was merely some strange funeral rite. The body bore no visible marks of violence, but otherwise the affair looked black enough.

Just then another wanderer was seen approaching through the undergrowth. I waited eagerly to see how they would behave on coming together. But at the spot where they should have met lay a large dandelion leaf. The one I had been following mounted upon this and ran along its upper surface, while the other ant passed beneath it, and away they ran in opposite directions through the grass and weeds of the lawn.

Shortly afterwards the first ant did meet another, but as their antennae touched the newcomer scuttled off in a great hurry without stopping to ask questions. The other fellow kept on going straight for the edge of the lawn, where he disappeared in a forest of uncut grass. But nearby was a large ant-hill, which has stood there since time immemorial, and I guessed this might be his destination. In despair of solving the mystery without help, I determined to visit the Public Library and read up on ants.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Paul's Anglican church, Roslin, when Miss Helen B. Carney, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carney, Roslin, became the bride of Wilfred L. Clapp, Corbyville.

A lemon extract tippler was controlled by the police at noon on Tuesday and was raising the roof of the station with his songs during the afternoon.

On Sunday at Brockville, Mrs. A. J. Husband passed away following a lingering illness. Her husband is principal of the Brockville Collegiate Institute.

Advertising is News Without advertisements, this paper would not be as interesting to you, because the information about goods for sale in the stores is news—just that. Many people read newspapers as much for their advertising columns as they do for other news. This is particularly true at this time of the year. Stores are now advertising Spring Wearing Apparel and a host of things that are bought for household use incident to spring cleaning. Think of the money that will be spent by women for spring clothing. The new frocks, hats, shoes, lingerie, corsets, gloves, sweaters, neckwear, light wraps and blouses that will be bought. The same is true of men's buying. Think of the suits, light top coats, hats, shirts, collars, ties, gloves, socks, shoes—the sporting goods and the incidental wearing apparel bought for golf, tennis, and so on. Think of the new things that will be bought for spring cleaning and home convenience at this time. The vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers, brooms, gas and electric heaters, ranges, washing machines, paints, varnishes, floor wax, cleansing fluids, curtains, upholstery, garden and porch furniture, lawn mowers, garden tools, etc. Think of the lighter foods coming into use. Cereals, fruits, salads. All these new demands are incident to the changing season, and they all are Trade Stimulating. People feel livelier at this time and consequently loosen up their purse strings. The opportunity for local merchants to get over effective Local Advertising News at this time is so evident that it needs no emphasis. Issued by Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Head Office, Toronto.
