

BRITISH PRESS URGING TRIPLE PACIFIC ENTENTE

Tripartite Treaty With Great Britain, United States And Japan is Advocated--Japan Anxious Not to Hurt Feelings of United States.

London, July 2.—Reports that the Imperial Conference is considering a tri-partite agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan relative to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty are given prominence by the Morning Post and other newspapers of this city.

As a member of the League of Nations, Japan was firmly convinced that no alliance should be formed in a spirit differing from that expressed in the covenant of the League.

Discussions between representatives of the three nations as well as those of the British dominions, are fore-shadowed.

London, July 2.—The Japanese government, welcoming the co-operation of America in a solution of the disarmament problem, has no desire to enter into any alliance with Great Britain in the terms of which would impair friendly Japanese and American relations.

Baron Hayashi, Ambassador to Great Britain, upon a request for a frank declaration of the Japanese attitude, gave out the following significant declaration of principles to the United News.

Japan would welcome American co-operation in the solution of the disarmament problem or any other problems arising, which could certainly be settled if approached in the right spirit.

A certain amount of distrust with regard to Japanese immigration has been exhibited in some quarters, but there again it was possible to find a solution agreeable to all concerned.

Japan was sincere in her disavowal of militaristic or combative ambitions. Her sole desire was peaceful economic progress and this could only be achieved so long as her old friendship and trading connection with her great neighbor, the United States remained unimpaired.

New York, July 2.—Canadian soldier patients who have been under treatment in military hospitals in the United States are gradually being taken home to hospitals in their own country, and before long all of these disabled veterans will have been repatriated.

to get back among their own people. One of the complaints made by the soldiers-patients was that they never had any visitors. This trouble was soon remedied when it was brought to the attention of the Canadian Society of New York, and the Canadian Club of New York.

The arrangement under which former members of the Canadian forces were cared for in military hospitals in the United States, was a reciprocal arrangement between the Ottawa and Washington governments, arrived at for the convenience of the authorities in both countries.

English Channel Tunnel Depends Upon Railway

London, July 2.—The proposed new tunnel under the Thames between Gravesend and Tilbury will depend for its usefulness on a new line of railway providing a direct link between Dover and the Kent coast and the towns in the Midlands and the North of England.

While there have been no complaints by Canadian veterans of their treatment in U.S. hospitals, all manifested a keen desire to get back "home."

The Army And Navy Annuals.

The front page of the cover of the first Annual bears the following title: "The First Annual of the Kingston Unit, Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, incorporated by Act of Dominion Parliament. Honorary Patrons, Their Majesties the King and Queen." Below is the year, 1919, and the seal of The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada.

If the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans has any regard whatever for its own reputation, it must give an answer to our questions, and not permit the commandant to dodge the issue as he did at the meeting on Monday, June 27th.

The Army and Navy Veterans are a public body appealing to the public for charity and support. No public body has a right to withhold information such as we ask for.

On page 3 of the 1920 Annual, we have a list of the officers of the Kingston Unit; on page 5, a directory of the meeting of the Kingston Unit, and on page 7 an introduction headed "Our Second Annual." The opening paragraph of this introduction is as follows:

"We take pardonable pride in presenting to our Unit and its friends this our Second Annual. The first met with general approval and our advertisers were so pleased with its artistic appearance that we had no difficulty whatever in securing a continuation of their patronage, and their names again appear in the pages of the Annual, which we send out on its mission of publicity and information for the benefit of the Kingston Unit of The Army and Navy Veterans in Canada. It is our intention to make improvements each year until we have made our Annual the purveyor of information of value to every soldier and sailor in the Dominion of Canada, and an equally valuable means of publicity to all who favor us with their advertising."

"Please insert..... advertisement to occupy..... page in Army and Navy Veterans Annual, for which we have this day given our cheque for the sum of..... dollars. The contract is not subject to cancellation.

"Signature....." "Address....."

"Messrs. X. Y. Z., To Army and Navy Veterans Annual, Dr. To adv. in Annual:..... Some days have now passed without a reply to our questions, which were as follows:

"The accounts rendered to advertisers are on printed forms, and read as follows: "Kingston, Ont. "Messrs. X. Y. Z., To Army and Navy Veterans Annual, Dr. To adv. in Annual:....."

(1) What is the object of the publications? (2) On whose behalf are the Annuals being published? (3) To whom does the financial gain go from the said publications? (4) What authority was given by the Kingston Unit to authorize any person to use their name in the publication of these annuals? To these questions we would add another:

(5) What is the circulation of these annuals?

That the Army and Navy Veterans should continue him at the head of their local unit has been a mystery to anyone who does not understand the characteristics of the man, but that was their own affair, and if they chose to continue him, the public could only interfere by withdrawing their support. But the publication of these Annuals is a public affair, and the Army and Navy Veterans must clear the matter up.

BETTING FAVORS DEMPEY BUT ISSUE IS IN DOUBT

Carpentier's Backers Demand Heavy Odds—Preachers And Women in Abundance Attend Fight—Will Carpentier Last Five Rounds?

New York, July 2.—All who have visited the two training camps realize that Dempsey and Carpentier themselves do not know what the result may be. Despite the shouts of confidence from both camps, both principals are puzzled in the presence of the unknown.

In case the six preliminary bouts should occupy less time than anticipated, an effort will be made to bring Dempsey and Carpentier into the ring immediately after the semi-final in order that there may be no tire-some wait for the spectators.

Betting on the outcome of the fight in the financial district here was very light yesterday. For some reason, presumably for the purpose of shortening the odds on Dempsey, followers of the American withdrew their support almost entirely.

It is expected that there will be a good-sized crowd of patrons for the $5 seats on hand when the gates open, and for these occupants of the unreserved section the wait will be unusually long unless there is some early activity in the ring.

One of the wagers reported was on the proposition that Carpentier would not respond to the call of the sixth round. Money, which was said to come from the Dempsey faction, was freely offered on this phase of the fight and was accepted in moderate amounts by Carpentier's followers.

Preachers will be there abundance, including the famous Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, university professors, high brow philosophers, artists, sculptors, people who never dreamed of attending a prize fight before in their lives and who may never go again.
