Mary Robert Rinehart's "Dangerous Days." Outgrown—outloved—she saw her place taken by another; her husband's affection gradually transferred to the woman younger, more beautiful, more vivacious. She faced the problem which confronts every married woman when the spell of new love has been dissolved by familiarity. How could she save herself? With swift, sure, pitiless strokes, Mary Robert Rinehart has painted a tragedy of faded love in "Dangerous Days," presented by Samuel Goldwyn and Rex Beach. The feature attraction at the Allen Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.—Advt.

WHAT CARES HE FOR A MERE MILLION? Charles Garland, Harvard graduate, doesn't give a "tinker's hoot" for money. What good is money? he asks. And because he doesn't know the answer, he has just refused an immense fortune left him by an uncle in England. Nothing strange about this? Well, the strange part is that this is the second time Garland has turned down an inheritance running into the millions. Maybe he is afraid of the income tax figures. Here is the man who refuses to be a millionaire at work on his farm at Buzzards Bay.

FINED FIFTY DOLLARS FOR TAKING MAN'S CAR. Police Arrest Two Fellows and Magistrate Deals Severely With Them. In the police court on Monday morning, Magistrate Farrell made it plain that lawlessness would not be tolerated. Were it not for certain extenuating circumstances, it is certain that William Coates and Melville Mayell, charged with the theft of a car, would have received a much stiffer sentence than $50 and costs ($5) or three months in jail. The magistrate insisted that joy-riding in stolen cars must stop, and gave out a warning that a severe penalty awaits those who are engaged in petty thieving of any kind. At half past one o'clock on Sunday morning Acting Police Sergeant John Naylon received a telephone call from Horace Wilson, 14 Redan street, that his car had been stolen. Wilson had been asleep but was awakened by the sound of the car being shoved off its resting place in front of his house down a small hill. The police patrol wagon was dispatched to Frontenac Park, where Special Constables Albert Gair and Frank McAllister were patrolling their beats. At 4.30 a.m. Constable Garland saw a car coming into the park and halted it. Two men were inside and one of them called out, "It's all right, you've got us."

The men were taken to the police station and gave their names as William Coates and Melville Mayell. On Monday morning they appeared in police court. Mr. Coates said that Mr. Wilson, who is a neighbor, had given him permission to drive his car "any old time," but the magistrate did not think that Sunday morning was a proper time, and that neither Coates nor Mayell had a right to drive the car. Mr. Wilson admitted that there had been an understanding that Coates could drive the car last Friday night. However, he did not know who had taken the car on Sunday night and as the case was in the hands of the crown, he was powerless to stop proceedings. The magistrate said that under the circumstances he would give a smaller fine than might be imposed, but that the joy-riding in cars for the use of which no permission had been given must stop. A fine of $50 and costs or three months in jail was imposed forthwith. David Sullivan, remanded on a charge of intoxication, was fined $20 and costs or one month in jail. Harold Sager, a youth appearing on two charges, one of housebreaking and theft and the other of theft, was sentenced to not less than three months and not more than two years in the reformatory. His release will depend upon his conduct.

U.S. PRESIDENT ASKS CONFERENCE. With Regard to Armament Limitation to Be Held in Washington. London, July 11.—Announcement that President Harding had asked Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to confer at Washington on the limitation of armaments was expected from Prime Minister Lloyd George when the house of commons opened its session to-day. Newspapers at London printed reports of the president's proposal this morning, and gave the news a place of utmost importance in their columns. What editorial comment there was, was most appreciative of Mr. Harding's action. Lloyd George's Announcement. London, July 11.—President Harding's note regarding a conference on limitation of armaments was received by the United States embassy here yesterday and forwarded to Ambassador Harvey, who was in the country. The ambassador went to Chertiers Court and saw Premier Lloyd George there. This morning the subject is understood to have been discussed by the British cabinet here. President Harding's message looking to the calling of an international conference on limitation of armaments, has been received with the utmost pleasure by Great Britain, Lloyd George declared in the house of commons to-day. London Papers Appreciative. Washington, July 11.—The course of the United States was definitely set to-day toward two goals of international importance, the limitation of armament and the solution of problems involving the Pacific and the far east. President Harding, it was revealed in a state department announcement published to-day, approached with informal, but definite inquiries, the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to ascertain whether it would be agreeable to those nations to participate in the conference to be held in Washington at an agreed date for the discussion of armament limitation.

DOUGLAS NICKLE IN CRASH WHICH CAUSED A DEATH. Young Kingston Lawyer in Auto at Toronto Which Struck Dairy Wagon. Toronto, July 11.—At 3.30 Sunday morning a high-powered Vauxhall car, travelling at a rate of speed estimated by an observer as from fifty to sixty miles an hour, crashed into a milk wagon, owned by the Ravenwood Dairy, driven by Norman Oliphant, hurling the unfortunate man to his death and smashing the wagon to splinters. Three of the occupants of the automobile are in the hospital, with more or less serious injuries. One of them, Harold Drope, 16 Hoshkin avenue, a former Varsity football player, has a bad gash over the forehead, although the hospital authorities stated last night that his skull was not fractured. The other two men have severe cuts over the face and other minor injuries. One of them, Douglas Nickle, 118 St. George street, will be a material witness. W. F. Nickle, K.C., was informed of the accident on Sunday. His son, Douglas, received minor injuries to his face. The young men were returning to their homes after attending an event at the home of Judge Denton.

EIGHT DAYS MORE OF HEAT, SAYS INDIAN. St. Thomas, July 11.—An old Indian, steeped in the weather lore of his tribe, who visited this city yesterday, declared that the present heat wave will last until July 19th or 20th, when the moon is due for its most important change. The old prognosticator based his prediction on precedent. The new moon, which was ushered in on July 5th, should have brought a change, the Indian stated but it didn't, so he sees little relief for suffering Ontario until the full moon arrives. The first quarter is billed for the evening of July 11th, but the bearer of ominous tidings didn't even mention it.

ASKS FOR $150 BUT ONLY RECEIVES $70. J. I. Cornwall Sues "Cap" Thomson, of Alexandria Bay, N.Y. What is deemed a verdict for the defendant was returned by a jury at Alexandria Bay, N.Y., after short deliberation in the case of John I. Cornwall vs Clarence S. Thomson, familiarly known as "Cap" Thomson, an action to recover $150 as payment for the privileges of using the Cornwall docks for docking and for the purpose of soliciting business. A verdict of $73 was returned, the $3 being in payment of an undisputed matter outside of the main issue. Attorney Dejos M. Cosgrove of Watertown and Attorney John P. Delaney of Alexandria Bay represented the plaintiff, while Attorney J. F. LaRue of Watertown appeared for the defendant. It was brought out that the defendant had used the docks for several years, he operating motor boats for passenger service on the St. Lawrence. No agreement contract had ever been made between the parties concerned but in 1918 the defendant paid $50, he then having a regular space on the docks allotted to him. Since 1918 he has had no regular space, simply landing his passengers at the dock and soliciting business on the Cornwall property. The plaintiff, who is a member of the firm of Cornwall Brothers, attempted to charge the defendant $150 annually and this the defendant refused to pay, although it was brought out at the trial that he was willing to make a reasonable settlement. The plaintiff originally brought action to recover $75 annually for two years, or $150 in all. Many witnesses were sworn yesterday, among them being W. W. Avery, customs officer, and Frank Raymond, proprietor of the Marsden House. During the trial some of the litigated questions between Vigers and the Thousand Island Steamboat company relating to the law governing the control of the Cornwall dock were brought up. Evidence was introduced by the defense that the charge made by the plaintiff was too much.

ALL THAT REMAINS OF THE ONCE-FAMOUS KNAPP ROLLER BOAT AS IT NOW LIES IN TORONTO BAY. In their car the latter part of the week, Miss Louch is returning to her duties as nurse-in-training there. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cook, Garden street.

Letters to the Editor. He Makes Denial. Kingston, July 9.—(To the Editor: I would like it to be made known that rumors which appear to be current around the city that I have been connected with the recent burglaries and hold-ups are without foundation. I was not arrested, and the police have not recovered money from me. I resent this effort to cast reflections on my character and good name. I think that my record has been satisfactory both in the army and civilian life. I served overseas for four years, being only fifteen years of age when I first went in the line. Yours very truly, —W. H. PEPIATT, 98 Earl street.

A Tribute To Canada. New York, July 8.—(To the Editor: Living across the border all my life, I like many others actively engaged in business there, hitherto have failed to pay much attention to the claims put forth in behalf of Canada as a wonderful country. A five weeks' trip from ocean to ocean over the Canadian Pacific railway has absolutely convinced me that great future ahead of Canada that is claimed for her by your political leaders and captains of industry, will probably arrive much earlier than is looked for by the most enthusiastic booster. Observations made during my trip have indeed been a revelation to me, as it must also have been to many others. Aside from the marvelous scenery, your vast domain has potential prospects in a commercial sense that cannot fail to materialize. Whether one considers the outlook from the standpoint of mining, agriculture, lumbering, or fisheries, or otherwise, splendid prospect moves into view. And Canada is surely entitled to have these predictions realized. Any other outcome would be unfair to her patriotic sons, who are forever doing something to promote the general welfare. Then, again, Canada's hospitality is really the last word in that direction. As one who recently was a "stranger within your gates," I know whereof I speak, and am only too glad to lay this little tribute on the altar of Canadian progress. Very truly yours, —J. FRANK HOWELL.

Had A Really Good Outing. Kingston, July 9.—(To the Editor: The Kingston Automobile Club would like to acknowledge through your paper the receipt of the following appreciation and to say that the ladies, and members, who attended the picnic also enjoyed it very much and considered it a great pleasure to entertain so many bright and interesting girls and boys. Letter follows. Yours truly, —T. M. ASSELSTINE, President, K.A.C.

Dear Mr. Asselstine: We want to thank you for the picnic you gave us. Please tell the Automobile Club that everybody enjoyed everything very much. About twenty of us had our balloons the next morning. We liked the auto ride the best, although some liked the swimming the best, and some liked the balloons best, but we all had a very nice time and wish to say "Thank you" fifty-six times. (signed) "By All The Girls and Boys."

"Compassion on the Multitude." Dean Starr in St. George's cathedral Sunday morning, in speaking of the gospel of the day, showing that the Lord always had compassion on the multitude, looking after the comfort of their bodies as well as their souls, pointed out the wisdom in running the street cars and opening the bathing houses on Sundays under the existing circumstances, and doing everything that sanely helps the welfare and care of men's bodies.

Portsmouth Loses Case. In the case of Sears vs. the municipality of Portsmouth, Judge Madden finds for the plaintiff for $50 and costs because the defendant negligently executed certain work that surface water flooded plaintiff's lands.

Both William Coates and Melville Mayell paid the fines of $50 and costs imposed by Magistrate Farrell on Monday morning. Over 7,500 passengers were carried on the street cars on Sunday to Lake Ontario Park.

Consider This, Canadian Manufacturers. You can buy more advertising for less money in Daily Newspapers than you can buy in any other medium that enters the home. And, after all is said and done, the place where most of you want your advertising to have its greatest effect is in the home. Isn't that so? Remember, then, that the daily newspaper is the FUNDAMENTAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM. That is why so many manufacturers are cutting out the "frills of advertising" and confining their advertising efforts to daily newspapers.
