

CHOICE WESTERN MEATS and COOKED MEATS

McGEEIN'S

Phone 1182

282 Princess Street

FOR MOVING OF Freight, Furniture, Safes, Pianos and Cartage of every description—

Kingston Transfer Co.

Phone 377. 153 Wellington Street.

DAVID SCOTT
Plumber

Plumbing and Gas Work a specialty. All work guaranteed. Address 145 Frontenac Street. Phone 1277.

DR. A. W. WINNETT
DENTAL SURGEON.

Corner of Johnson and Wellington Streets. Phone 363

Dr. Waugh
Dentist

106 Wellington St. Phone 256.

Angrove's Repairs

Saws, Talking Machines, Bicycles, Baby Carriages, Lawn Mowers, etc. We do repair work right and guarantee satisfaction.

197 WELLINGTON STREET

WATTS
People's Florist

177 Wellington Street.

Fresh flowers and plants daily. Funeral designs, and wedding bouquets to order. Phone 1763. Res., 1137.

At your Service

Sold by

W. R. McRae & Co.
GOLDEN LION BLOCK.

COAL

Choicest quality of Scranton Coal. No other kind sold by us.

BOOTH & CO.
Grove Inn Yard. Phone 183

REDUCED PRICES

IN MONUMENTS AND CEMENTERY LETTERING

J. E. Mullen
161 FRONTENAC STREET
Phone 1417.

DID YOU EVER TRY

Wagoner's Ginger, Wagoner's Pileapple, Wagoner's Strawberry, Wagoner's Bramble Jelly.

We also have a full line of other reliable makes of Marmalades, Jam and Jellies for sale.

Bon Marche Grocery
Cor. King and Egl. Streets
License No. 3-27149
Phone 1844.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

W. H. GODWIN & SON

Real Estate and Insurance
89 Brock Street. Phone 424.

Partridge Wire Works
NICKEL PLATING AND BRASS FINISHING

Now prepared to do this work. Manufacturing Wire Fencing, Flower Hoop, Guards, etc.

62 KING ST. W. — PHONE 350

BUILDING?

REPAIRS OR ALTERATIONS? Estimates given by

O. Aykroyd & Son
21 Main Street. Phone 1670.

PRESTON PORTABLE GARAGES
In wood or steel—to rent or for sale.

F. B. McNamee
Phone 2372w. 118 Colborne Street

MILLER'S WORM POWDERS

HAVE A WARM PLACE IN THE HEARTS OF MOTHERS FOR THEY HAVE PROVED THAT THEY ARE ONE OF THE MOST EFFICIENT AND BENEFICIAL REMEDIES THAT CAN BE GIVEN TO A CHILD. THEY ARE SWEET AND EASILY TAKEN AND QUICKLY ERADICATE THESE WRETCHED PARASITES FROM THE SYSTEM.

CONTAIN NO NARCOTICS

Lake Ontario Trout and Whitefish, Fresh Sea Salmon, Haddock, Halibut and Cod.

BOOTH FISHERIES
Canadian Co.

Phone 520. 63 Brock St. No. 9-2240.

Too Fat?

Do not try to become slender by drastic doses of cathartics or pills. Reduce weight and waste time; also lose your complexion by these unreliable laxatives. The show-up in this picture gives you an idea how she looked and felt. By taking Korein and following her directions of Korein system she reduced from clumsy features to graceful proportions. Now she is agile, attractive, mentally alert and in better health. Why not try? Reliable anti-fat self-treatment.

Let Korein Make You Slender
Many, both sexes, report they have reduced 10 to 80 pounds. No starving; no exhausting exercises. Become sensitively slender and remain so. Safe, pleasant method, endorsed by physicians. Legions of testimonials. $100 and $200.00 or money refunded. Buy Korein (pronounced KOREIN) at busy drugists. Or write for free booklet to Korein Company, 277-A, Toronto, Ont.

Dr. H. A. Stewart
Dental Surgeon

Wishes to announce that he has resumed his practice, cor. Wellington and Princess Streets. Phone 2092.

Dr. H. A. Stewart
Dr. J. L. Stewart

Keep The Blood Cool

BY TAKING NYAL'S FRUIT SALINE for a few mornings during the hot weather. It will relieve skin eruptions, due to the intense heat. Nyal's is a pleasant saline laxative.

See window display.

M. R. McColl
Prescription Druggist - Phone 82
(Formerly Prouse's Drug Store)

Luxuriant Hair Promoted By Cuticura

Cuticura kills dandruff, stops itching, the cause of dry, thin and falling hair. Treatment: Gently rub Cuticura Ointment with the end of the finger, on spots of dandruff and itching. Follow next morning with a hot shampoo of Cuticura Soap. Repeat in two weeks. Nothing better than these fragrant, super-creamy essences for all skin and scalp troubles.

Sole U.S. Distributors: Cuticura Sales Co., 140 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold throughout the Dominion. Canadian Depot: Lorne, Limited, 344 St. Paul St., W. Montreal. Soap—Cuticura Soap shaves without soap.

What has become of the o. f. woman who used to crawl under a feather bed during a thunder storm? Asia has nearly one-third of the world's land area and more than one-half of the globe's population.

Kingston and Vicinity

To Speak at Picton.
Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King is to speak in Picton on August 1st.

Some Old Town.
Kingston is 248 years old. The ancient city is up-to-date in essentials, and looks for a future worthy of its past.—Toronto Globe.

St. John's Sunday School Picnic.
St. John's, Portsmouth, Sunday school picnic to-morrow (Friday), Brophy's Point, Wolfe Islander leaves Brock street 1.30 p.m., Portsmouth pier 2 p.m.

For the Hot Weather.
We have in stock a few brown and grey lightweight summer suits for youths, sizes 34, 35 and 36, regular price $18, which we will sell for $13. Prevost, Brock street.

Corinthia in Commission.
Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Conde, New York, have opened their cottage on Enchanted Island, Alexandria Bay, and will remain at this resort during the summer. Their yacht Corinthia has been placed in commission.

Want A Swimming Instructor.
The playgrounds committee has asked Renfrew council to employ an expert for the season to teach the boys how to swim. It is probable the appointment will be made at the next meeting of council.

No Hospital This Year For Perth.
At a meeting of the hospital organization in Perth recently. It was decided that the building proposition be not carried on this year, but that the building committee be authorized to again call for tenders in the spring of 1922. The tenders received were all in excess of the committee's estimate.

Irish Parliament Medal.
Robert Galbraith, of the Whig job room, has received from Belfast one of the medals struck to commemorate the opening of the Northern Irish parliament in the Belfast city hall on the 22nd of June.

Will Practice at Douglas.
Dr. W. G. Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robertson, Carleton Place who returned a short time ago from England, where he had been taking a post-graduate course in a London hospital, is starting to practice at Douglas.

Old Home Week.
July 23rd to 29th will be a big week in Clayton, a community Chautauqua and old-home week being scheduled. Invitations have been sent out to all former residents to be here for old home week and a large crowd of former Claytonians is expected.

Engagement Announcement.
Dr. and Mrs. Allan B. Parlow, Ottawa, announce the engagement of their daughter, Deatrix Irene, to Orton H. Lannin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Lannin, Rochester, N.Y. The marriage will take place early in September. The bride-elect is a niece of Mrs. James Shaw, Wellington street.

To Teach in Galt.
W. T. Medcof, Hartington, was a visitor in the city Wednesday. Mr. Medcof is a recent graduate of Queen's and attended the faculty of education at Toronto last winter. He has accepted a position at the Collegiate Institute at Galt, where he is

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Better Prices for Farmers.
The farmers who have been complaining about the prices of butter and cheese are finding their compensation in the advance of the price of hay ten dollars within one week. While the hay crop is light, many farmers report a good crop in certain localities, and these are the ones who are reaping the benefit of the high prices. The falling off in the milk supply through the drought had sent the price of cheese up from thirteen to twenty-three cents within a period of three weeks, and while that will not be perhaps as heavy an output as last year and the price is lower, still the farmer will be thankful to see the price of his cheese advanced. The law of compensation operates to the farmer's advantage and this is also shown in the prices of butter and eggs.

Ladies Nearly Drowned.
An accident which might have resulted in a tragic ending, occurred at Tweed, when Mrs. Lyman Godfrey, Point Anne, visiting there, was almost drowned while in bathing. In company with Miss Aletha and Goldie Godfrey were bathing in the river in front of the house. Mrs. Godfrey lost her footing by stepping into a hole. In falling she grasped Miss Goldie and in her frantic efforts to save herself pulled her down also. Attracted by the screams of the other girls, some men rushed to the scene of the accident, just as Mr. Godfrey and Lyman reached home. They immediately plunged in the water and after a time succeeded in bringing both to shore. As we go to press we learn that Mrs. Godfrey and Miss Goldie have quite recovered from the shock.

Divorce In Old Age.
By CHARLES GRANT MILLER
(Copyright, 1921. All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate.)

When the golden children of a Texas couple had assembled to celebrate the golden wedding of their parents the father announced that he had selected the occasion as a fitting time to enter suit for divorce. Perhaps it was as fitting time as any. Yet it is hard for the ordinary mind to realize that a couple who have lived together for fifty years might not, if they made decent effort, live on together for the little time that remains to them.

After fifty years a man and wife ought to be accustomed to each other's shortcomings and angularities. The faults, the shadows, must inspirations the sympathetic companion becomes the dearest thing this side of heaven.

If this old man in Texas had attempted to sacrifice his money instead of his wife a guardian would have been promptly appointed. But money is one of the things we hold sacred in law. Marriage is different.

A judge would do well to think twice and read carefully between the lines of the law before tearing apart two lives that have grown together and leaving them to wither and shrivel up in separation and when a vine is torn loose from the thing to which it has grown.

Incompatibility of temper is a genuine source of marital misery, but it is impossible to conceive of incompatibility developing after fifty years of married life. At that late day the trouble is more likely due to the rustle of senility.

And in such a case divorce is a dissolution that is next to death. To effect the separation all the tendrils of each heart are sundered, as have become as much a part of their life as have the sweet virtues, the sunshine.

They have become molded to each other's ways, and if they cannot get along together contentedly in those ways they cannot get along contentedly at all.

ed were all in excess of the committee's estimate.

joining the department of English and History.

The late Mrs. Alice V. Steele, Mrs. Alice V. Steele, widow of Arthur J. Steele, died early on Tuesday morning at the family residence, Watertown, N.Y., following a long illness, due to heart trouble and complications, aged fifty-four years. Deceased was born in Kingston. A daughter, Mrs. H. Nicholson, resides here.

To Observe Birthday. On July 16th the centenary of the birth of Mary Baker Eddy is to be fittingly celebrated at her birthplace in Bow, a little town near Concord, N.H. Christian Scientists from all parts of the world are expected to attend, making a pilgrimage to her grave. In connection with these ceremonies special services will be conducted in Christian Science churches in honor of the founder of that faith. It was on February 1st, 1828, as the result of a fall, that Mrs. Eddy first experienced her spiritual healing. Her first church was established in Boston, April 19th, 1879. She died December 4th, 1910, at the age of 89.

Up to the Undertaker. Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

ed were all in excess of the committee's estimate.

joining the department of English and History.

The late Mrs. Alice V. Steele, Mrs. Alice V. Steele, widow of Arthur J. Steele, died early on Tuesday morning at the family residence, Watertown, N.Y., following a long illness, due to heart trouble and complications, aged fifty-four years. Deceased was born in Kingston. A daughter, Mrs. H. Nicholson, resides here.

To Observe Birthday. On July 16th the centenary of the birth of Mary Baker Eddy is to be fittingly celebrated at her birthplace in Bow, a little town near Concord, N.H. Christian Scientists from all parts of the world are expected to attend, making a pilgrimage to her grave. In connection with these ceremonies special services will be conducted in Christian Science churches in honor of the founder of that faith. It was on February 1st, 1828, as the result of a fall, that Mrs. Eddy first experienced her spiritual healing. Her first church was established in Boston, April 19th, 1879. She died December 4th, 1910, at the age of 89.

Up to the Undertaker. Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"

Supreme Court Justice Kapper was a friend of the late Senator McCarron, former Brooklyn Democratic boss, and told the following story at a recent Democratic dinner at the Hotel Bossert: "I was at breakfast with the late Senator McCarron at the Clarendon hotel," said Justice Kapper, "when a man excitedly rushed in and said that Judge Dowling had just died. 'Yes, I heard the news a half-hour ago,' replied the Senator. Shifting uneasily from one foot to the other, the man finally blurted out, 'I think I would like to take his place.' 'I have no objections,' said the Senator, 'if the undertaker has none.'"