Responsibility

There are several reasons why our sight service bears a good reputation. One of them is that we don't depend on others for any part of it. Our work is not planned by others; we do it ourselves. From the examination to finished glasses it is KEELEY Service.

WILL NOT TAKE ANY PART

In Military or Veteran Events in Which J. G. Evans Is Regarded as Influencing.

When the men returned from overseas J. G. Evans was securely entrenched in his position as "Commandant" of the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association. He attempted to influence the conduct of affairs in local military units, and sought a commission in a unit which has been organized since the armistice. From the outset there was opposition, and though for a time he appeared to be making a little headway, his aspirations received a severe jolt when an officer of high standing absolutely refused to have anything to do with the unit if J. G. Evans was tolerated.

The Whig was informed of this incident at the time, also the excuse which the "commandant" made to his veterans for failing to "consolidate" this position.

On a number of occasions representatives of this paper have reported that the P.W.O.R. did not participate in several military and veterans' events. The reason in all cases was the same: that the officers of the local unit would not take part in any affair in which J. G. Evans was an influence. We also know that they are not opposed to any member of the local unit of the Army and Navy with the one exception—the present commanding officer of the P.W.O.R., whom we are satisfied is not a veteran of any campaign. The present commanding officer of the P.W.O.R., we are told, has the Evans' axe hanging over his head. We believe that the "Commandant" has a successor selected. Just what is the state of the C.O.'s mind regarding the danger we are not aware, but we do know that his officers stand together with reference to the dictation, on even suggestions, of this individual.

In the spring of this year J. G. Evans invited General St. David Watson, of Quebec, to the city to participate in the celebration of the battle of Langensarck. General Watson's first command in the war was the Second Infantry Battalion. The Second Battalion Club of Kingston declined to take any part in the event, for one and only one reason: that they were under the impression that the "commandant" was responsible for the celebration.

OSTRICH FEATHERS ARE USED

Fluffy Sprays Provide Decorations and Novelties Designed Especially for Evening Wear.

Interesting dress accessories are being made this season of ostrich feathers, curled or uncurled, and in any color preferred. All of these dainty novelties are for evening wear. The sketch offers a number of suggestions that may be varied to suit the individual.

No. 1 features a pretty wristlet made of long, slightly curled ostrich "fees" combined with narrow black velvet ribbon. The arm decorations shown in sketch No. 2 may be worn above the elbow, as illustrated, or at the wrist or half way between wrist and elbow. No. 3 offers a suggestion for a little ostrich-covered party bag. No. 4 shows a two-tier wristlet of ostrich flues and ribbon. No. 5 indicates how effective an armband or wristlet of ostrich may be when finished with a tassel of ribbon and ostrich, and No. 6 shows a small dainty bag fashioned over a silk foundation and with a little mirror as the bottom. Long ribbon handles swing this bag from the wrist. It is meant only to hold a powder puff or other very diminutive toilet articles.—Baltimore American.

CREPE DE CHINE ADDS CHARM

A large chapeau of navy hemp is faced with crepe de chine of the same shade which also adds softness to this straw hat.

BUY FRUIT STORE.

From Long & Williams, Alexandria Bay.

The Long & Williams fruit and confectionery in Front street, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., is to be sold to Charles D. Van Camp and Nicholas J. Jelkes, Watertown, it became known. The deal will be closed this week, it is expected, and the purchasers will come into the possession of one of the most popular fruit stores along the St. Lawrence river.

While Mr. Van Camp and Mr. Jelkes will purchase the stand this season they will not operate it themselves until next season, it was said. The store was established in Alexandria Bay about thirty years ago by B. B. Long and C. G. Williams and has been operated every year since during the summer season at the river.

Hardware Store Entered.

The chief of police has been requested by Chief G. A. Phillips, Smith's Falls, to have the police keep watch for some jack knives, safety razors and flashlights, stolen recently from the hardware store of Robert Hawkins in that place. The description of a bicycle stolen in Smith's Falls on Sunday was also furnished the local department.

Bar Your Windows Build Good Vaults

Of late numerous night raids have resulted in serious loss to citizens. Every house should be equipped with window bars, especially cellar and ground floor windows. Then, with a vault for valuables, security is assured.

We are installing many of these, and would be pleased to advise.
