Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask., writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

There was a great hair pulling match between two young girls while bathing at Macdonald Park the other afternoon. One lassie grabbed the other and pulled out quite a bunch of her hair. HONESTY IS THE NORMAL CONDITION

By CHARLES GRANT MILLER

(Copyright, 1921. All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate.)

That there are wrongs, in large enterprises and in small, there can be no question.

Some people pretend to believe that this country is going straight to the demeriton bowdows because monstrous dishonesty prevails in all business.

Poppycock.

We hear more about delinquencies of all sorts than we did when the facilities for gathering news were meager.

But the optimist says that justice, honor and honesty are the normal conditions and that they rule as a matter of course in social and business relations.

Millions of instances in which they are in evidence never appear under starting headlines of the newspaper. They are by far too ordinary to constitute news.

An honest man creates no sensation as he passes along the street attending quietly to his business. But the thief in custody attracts a crowd.

This is simply because honesty is common and dishonesty uncommon.

The great tendency of our American society, whether political or industrial, is toward the general welfare and the common good.

The whole business structure rests and has always rested on the conviction that men will fulfill their obligations and deal fairly.

This conviction is the foundation of credit.

Ninety-five per cent. of the total business transactions of this country are carried on not in cash but in credit based on this conviction. Nowing how general it is and how firm.

Confidence, not suspicion, is and must ever be the prevailing tone of the business world.

The common belief that the vast majority of men are honest is more pronounced to-day than it ever was before.

It bears silent but convincing testimony to the fact that humanity is going forward, not backward.

offering eleven to twelve cents a pound and the prices may be even lower. The cause of the improvement is said to be the plentiful crop of white clover.

New Station at Lya.
Ground was broken for the erection of the new Grand Trunk station at Lya, a frame structure to be located within the angle formed by the Grand Trunk and Canadian National. The station will be similar in design to that being built at Marysville and will have accommodation on the upper floor for the agent and his family.

Mrs. Charles Mortimer Passed Away.
On Sunday evening last the death occurred at the Buffalo General Hospital of a well known and highly esteemed resident of Buffalo, and a native of Brockville, in the person of Mrs. Charles Mortimer, who before her marriage twenty-two years ago to Mr. Mortimer was Miss Lottie Towey, daughter of the late William Towey. The late Mrs. Mortimer was born in Brockville forty-one years ago.

But now, alas, amid the changing times
She looks for hubby in apothecary shops.

come tax, and he thought this would be still greater another year when the people got to know the laws. On motion of Messrs. Hammond and Moore the printing committee was instructed to have 300 copies printed of the assessment roll for 1921.

The Late Isaac Baird Tripp.
On June 23rd there passed away at his home near Coneseon, Isaac Baird Tripp, aged sixty-four years. Mr. Tripp had been in ill health for over a year, but was only confined to his bed five days. The deceased was born at Fish Lake, and was highly esteemed. He was the eldest son of David and Phoebe Tripp. He was left to mourn his loss, a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Gossin, Frankford, and two sons, Sherman, Coneseon, and Roy at home. The funeral was held on Saturday at Albany, under the Orange Order.

Saw Body on Water.
As Capt. Thibault was returning to Clayton, N.Y., from Gananoque with a party in his boat he discovered the body of a man floating in the Canadian channel between Burnt Island and Grindstone Island. The body was clothed in an overcoat, which would indicate that the drowning might have occurred many months ago. Mr. Thibault did not pick up the body, but upon reaching Clayton, N.Y., he notified the Canadian authorities. A search was made for the body during the evening by parties from Gananoque.

Died at Smith's Falls.
The death occurred a few days ago of Richard Kerfoot, Smith's Falls. He was born in Bathurst townships, spending most of his manhood days in the township of Montague, and living a retired life in Smith's Falls for twelve years, passing away at the age of eighty-three years. He died from the wearing out of the system, not through any particular ailment. He not only lived a long life, but a busy and useful one; was well known and had a wide circle of friends. A lifelong Methodist, he was a member of the official board of the church for half a century. He is survived by his wife and four sons: John J., William H., Ernest M., and Dr. H. W., all in Smith's Falls.

Swimmers Bring Up Whiskey.
Sunken treasure, considered by many as valuable as that of the golden hue, was brought to the surface by bathers near Clayton lately. A woman bather was the first to make the discovery. Stepping on a smooth object she dived and brought up a bottle of whiskey. Twenty seconds later exactly 22 pairs of feet were counted protruding from the water. Some of the bathers remained down long enough to send bubbles to the surface, and later had a hard time swimming to shore with a "crook" in each hand. It is thought that the "gold mine" may have been a cache of some one who wanted to hide the supply from the police. Diving has since become a popular fad at Clayton.

River Social Life Increasing.
Social activities at Alexandria Bay, N.Y., have been increasing daily since the Fourth of July. The dinner dance on Saturday evening at the Thousand Islands Yacht Club was largely attended by the summer residents. There were numerous dinner parties preceding the dance. Dancing at the Thousand Islands has never waned, and is as popular as ever it was in the hey-day of the Castles, Joan Sawyer and Florence Walton. True, the steps have changed since those dancemad days, and one toddles now where one-stepping, fox-trotting, and tangoing were the latest word in the art at Castle House in the Castle Days. The dance music at the Yacht Club is unusually fine.

Mr. Charles Becker, town crier of Dover for half a century, and claimed as the oldest crier in harness, died from heart failure, aged 87.

Barged colliery, South Wales, holds the world's record for coal raising, 4,020 tons having been wound to the surface in one shaft of ten hours.

In the olden times rhinoceros horns were employed for drinking cups by royal personages, the notion being that poison put into them would show itself by bubbling.
