THE AQUATIC SPORTS

As They Were Seen by Big Throng at the Yacht Club Wednesday.

The aquatic sports of the Kingston Yacht Club were held on Wednesday afternoon and in the twelve events that made up the programme, there were wonderful exhibitions of athletic ability, endurance and physical development. Young ladies, perfect specimens of Canadian young womanhood, competed with young men, and were alike skilled as canoeists and swimmers. Competition was keen throughout and the entertainment was one of rare enjoyment to the hundreds of spectators who crowded the wharf and balconies of the yacht club building.

The occasion was, indeed, one of Kingston's social events and attracted persons of all ages. Among the out-of-town guests of the Club were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Oler, Winnipeg; Mrs. Jack Primrose, New York; Mrs. Fisher, Pittsburgh; Prof. Miller, Queen's University, other members of the faculties, and prominent citizens.

Tea was served by the ladies during the afternoon, and after a dance, held in the evening, the prizes awarded to the successful contestants were presented by Mrs. William Casey, wife of the vice-commodore, whose charming manner captivated all present.

The five minute gun was fired at 2.25 p.m., for the opening event, a dinghy race, in which splendid seamanship was shown by the crews of three boats. There was a lively breeze from the north east and just enough sea to make the race interesting. The course was marked out by flags placed on buoys. Whether it was superior skill in jockeying for the start, a better boat or superior handling, fortune favored Henry and Sherman Hill and they won first place at the finish with McKay and Gildersleeve second and Miller and Jemmett third. Special mention must be made of the canoe races by the men, and also by the young ladies, all of whom showed marvelous skill.

In the diving and swimming competitions the greatest admiration of the spectators was excited, for all of these taking part were highly trained and their proficiency was shown in wonderful dexterity and endurance. In the freak diving seven young men and one young lady, Miss L. Taylor, the accomplished daughter of Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's University, were obliged to dive four times each to determine the winner and the judges were unanimous in awarding first place to Miss Taylor. H. Fair and J. Emery were then obliged to dive twice more for second place, including the high dive. The tail end canoe race and the tilting tournament were, perhaps, the most amusing events of the day and the spectators broke into applause repeatedly. This was the closing event and while it might seem rather a severe sport for young ladies, they were not to be debarred but put on a very fine contest.

The officials in charge were: Judges, William Harty, Jr., A. W. Winnett, John McKay; timekeeper, George Smith; starter, J. Broom; regatta committee: chairman and director of sports, F. H. Ryan; S. C. Calvin, W. C. Kent, H. Hora, W. Steacy, J. C. Ponsford, C. Kirkpatrick. Commodore, J. A. Dalton; rear-commodore, D. Allan Black.

The contests were open to members of any yacht club. Two prizes were given where three or more competed. The results were as follows: Dinghy race—S. and H. Hill, McKay and Gildersleeve, Miller and Jemmett.

Men's canoe race, doubles—H. Hill and Jemmett; Wilkinson and Dolan, Ogilvie and Murray.

Ladies' canoe race, doubles—Misses Isabel and Grace Mooers, McKelvey and Emery, Spencer and Goodwin.

Men's diving—Torrence, Emery, McMaster.

Men's swimming—McIntosh, Wilkinson, J. Hill. There were twelve participants in this race.

Ladies' diving—Misses L. Taylor, Ogilvie, Mooers.

Ladies' swimming—Miss N. Birmingham, L. Taylor, Miss Ogilvie. There were thirteen contestants in this ladies' event.

Men's canoe race, single—H. Barum, Jemmett, H. Fair.

Ladies' canoe race, single—Miss G. Mooers, I. Mooers, N. Birmingham.

Tail end race—Jemmett, J. Emery, Miss L. Taylor. There were thirteen canoes in this race.

Men's freak diving—Miss L. Taylor, J. Emery, H. Fair. The other contestants were J. M. Hill, Bruce Taylor H. Robertson, Ogilvie, McIntosh.

In the tilting tournament, Ogilvie and Murray were defeated by Wilkinson and Dolan, McKelvey and Bedell by Robertson and McLeod, Jemmett and Hill by Steacy and Minnes, J. M. Hill and McIntosh by Emery and McDonald who in the finals were defeated by Steacy and Minnes. The latter team also defeated Taylor and Fair, but were in turn beaten by McLeod and Robertson, who also won from Wilkinson and Dolan. Misses Isabel and Grace Mooers were defeated by Miss L. and B. Taylor and Misses Spencer and Goodwin won from Misses N. Birmingham and I. Mooers.

A DELIGHTFUL PICNIC

Was That of the Salvation Army at Brophy's Point on Wednesday.

Another delightful picnic was that of the Salvation Army, held at Brophy's Point yesterday, when four hundred people journeyed to the point on the steamer Wolfe Islander. The boat carried about one hundred and fifty people down in the morning and a capacity load in the afternoon. Many games of baseball were played and the children, as well as the older ones, enjoyed themselves to the limit. At noon a basket picnic was held but at supper all the scholars of the Sunday school sat down together in a circle. The committee looking after the supper was Mother Saunders, convenor; Mrs. W. J. Baker, Mrs. C. Smith and Mrs. R. Pindred. Before leaving for home a sing-song was held in the pavilion, and a picture of the happy crowd taken.

The sports were ably conducted by C. Stoneham, Mrs. G. McConnell, and Miss A. Wheelock. A feature of these was the tug-o-war between twenty ladies and seven men. The two teams have not agreed who were the winners, both sides claiming the victory. The winners of the races were presented with prizes by Adjutant G. T. Goodhue, and were:
