DR. R. BRUCE TAYLOR RETURNS FROM ENGLAND

He Secured Dr. Stanley Smith as Assistant Professor of Biology.

Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's university, arrived in the city Sunday afternoon, after spending several months in England, during which time he attended the conference of the universities of the empire held at Oxford. While in the old country he secured the services of Dr. J. Secombe, for the department of English, and Dr. Stanley Smith for the department of geology and mineralogy.

Dr. Taylor crossed the ocean on the Minnedosa and was delayed half a day when the steamer went aground between Quebec and Montreal. At the conference held at Oxford from the third to the seventeenth of July, forty-eight universities were represented by over two hundred and fifty presidents, principals and professors.
