At the Allen. "Out of the Storm," latest Eminent Authors production by Gertrude Atherton, is a story of romance and will hold its audiences from the first reel to the last. It is a tale of two countries, America and England. Marjaret Hill, sympathetically portrayed by Barbara Castleton, is a singer in a disreputable resort. Her voice appeals to Albert Levering (Sydney Atanworth) and he offers to have it cultivated. She goes to America and after a long and hard struggle gains renown and is sent on an operatic tour through England. There she meets her lover, a young English nobleman, and marries him, but Levering is released from prison and returns to claim his protegee. Her choice may be seen in "Out of the Storm," at the Allen theatre today.

At the Griffin. Bryant Washburn scored another bull's eye in his delightful new Paramount comedy, "An Amateur Devil" presented before an enthusiastic audience at the Griffin theatre yesterday.

Mr. Washburn has the role of Carver Endicott, a young wealthy society man whose peevish wooing is resisted by his sweetheart. To wake him up she terminates their engagement and pretends she is going to marry his father, a gay widower. Then Carver decides to disgrace his father by going to work on a farm and then in an hotel kitchen. The newspapers praise him for his self-sacrificing principles and finding he cannot disgrace his fashionable name by working he decides to get entangled with a notorious actress. Even this doesn't work as the sequel proves and finally he makes up with sweetheart who, it is evident, has no further complaint to make of his "kissless kisses."

LIFE AT CAMP VARTY.

The Events at This Well-Known Resort. Fishing and stylish bathing suits are the order of the day. Rev. Mr. Cook has departed for home after spending a couple of weeks at the camp. Harold Warner has made several flying trips to visit friends from Newburgh, who are spending their holidays here. One of the Yarker ball players met with an accident and was forced by circumstances to borrow, without leave, the ex-campers' shoes. The tides arose on all shores, when one of the lady campers fell in the drink. The following are a few of the visitors at the camp: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook and son, Johnnie, Miss Welbanks, Mrs. Willigan, Mrs. John Gehan and daughter, Gladys, Mrs. Chown and children, New York, are visiting their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Naylor. Percy Galbraith, manager of the camp, spends many enjoyable evenings among the lady campers. Master Winston Holland spent Thursday afternoon the guest of Miss Winter. Gerald Dunn is now filling Mr. Cook's shoes. E. R. Holland and K. MacIntyre, of the Merchants' Bank staff, Yarker, are now permanent campers here. Harry Stewart, Yarker, had the misfortune of having several punctures last evening. A number from here attended the picnic at Embury's Grove, Wednesday afternoon, and report having been given a good time. The weather has been very favorable all summer at the camp, and as yet no one has made any complaints. Clarence Ewart and family, with Mrs. Doan, are here. F. M. Baldwin and wife, Buffalo, N.Y., have a cottage. Yarker and Enterprise will play a game of baseball here this week.

Football Language. However the ordinary journalist may have to curb his pen, the descriptive reporter of football can still give rein to his fancy and his rhetoric with little fear of the sub-editorial blue pencil. To him a match is usually a "tourney" and the ball lends itself to such varied description as "the leather," "the oval," "the globe," or even the "bounding sphere." If the players hail from Sheffield they are "knifegrinders"; from Northampton, "cobblers"; from Luton, "strawhatters"; from Reading, "bisulterers"; from Devonshire, "cider drinkers," and from West Ham, "hammers." The swift runner is "winkiefooted," or has "brilliant hoofs." If a player is skillful in head play, he "uses the cranium with brilliant effect," or does "good brain-box work." If the ball hits a man on the nose he "receives a smacker" from the spheroid on his proboscis.

Football team was strengthened for the game by two of the Ottawa Vets' team. Carey of the R.C.H.A. team had his shoulder wrenched and had to have medical attention, but returned later. Bramhall, McIntosh, Carey, Norwood and Grubb starred for the visiting team. "Pat" Carey and "Tiny" Norwood have been playing for the R.C.H.A. for the last nine years. The R.C.H.A. team were—Bramhall, goal; McIntosh and Pugh, backs; Lorimer, Carey and Cook, half backs; Jenkins and Grubb, right wing; Norwood, centre; Hayes and Graham, left wing; Priest, spare.

RACES BEGIN WEDNESDAY

The Whirl of Hamilton Believed to Have Put Into Oicott.

There was an air of anticipation at the yacht club house on Tuesday and evidence was not lacking that the visiting sailors are going to do their utmost to make the races, which begin on Wednesday morning, keen and snappy. Final touches to the yachts were being made, sails were being strengthened and generally the craft were being made shipshape. Telegrams giving the whereabouts of a number of boats were received during the morning. The yacht Seneca was forced to put into Cobourg as the head sail rigging was broken, but she was able to proceed to Kingston on Tuesday morning. No definite word has been received from the Whirl of Hamilton, but it is believed that she put into Oicott, eighteen miles from Niagara. A boat was sighted by Skipper S. D. Lausung of the yacht Alice putting into Oicott, and from the description it is thought that it was the Whirl. The Ontario broke a gaff and is at Oswego. The Hayden and Crescent arrived from Watertown Tuesday morning as well as the Helen, a local yacht, which has been on a cruise. A meeting of the entertainment committee was held on Monday evening and it was decided to hold the regatta dances at the local club rather than in Ontario or Grant hall. C. H. J. Shider, Toronto Telegram, and Ernest McRae, Toronto Globe, are covering the races for their papers, and Lou Marsh, Toronto Star, is also expected to come down for the Toronto Star. M. Graham, the genial manager of the Bell Telephone Company, has had a public telephone installed at the yacht club house for the races. A wire was received late on Tuesday afternoon that the Whirl, R.H. Y.C., reported missing, had put in at Oicott. The Ontario and Ironguns have cleared from Oswego for Kingston.

Reach Oswego. An Oswego, N. Y., despatch says: After being buffeted about by the wind and waves for over thirty-six hours, the yacht Ontario, of the Crescent Yacht Club, Watertown, with H. S. Branche, H. M. Hubbard, W. S. Kernsbach and J. R. Sexsmith on board, arrived in port about nine o'clock Monday morning with several broken shrouds and a broken gaff. The young men expressed their relief upon making this port and getting their first meal in a day and a half. The members of the crew report:

passing considerable wreckage in the lake during Sunday. It included an icebox, lumber, etc. They were unable to notice any marks that would in any way identify it as belonging to any vessel.

The boat entered in the Hamilton to Kingston race for the Freeman cup with 23 other boats on Saturday evening. They cleared Hamilton at 4:45 and were with the other boats up until about ten o'clock that evening, when darkness shut them from view. When they were about five hours out a severe thunder and lightning storm hit them and they were forced to run before the heavy wind. All sail was stowed away with the exception of a jib, under which they sailed until this port was reached. The boat was headed into the middle of the lake and was pounded about all day yesterday by the waves, which arose to between 15 and 20 feet in height. At about five o'clock Monday morning she sighted the lighthouse of this port and after some difficulty was able to make the harbor. She had about two feet of water in her when she reached here.

HARDING FORESEES A NEW ERA OF PEACE

Expresses Hope For the Success of the Disarmament Conference.

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 2.—Plymouth rock, for three centuries a landmark of American freedom, was rededicated by President Harding yesterday as a symbol of "real human brotherhood," for all the world. Speaking at the tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, the president declared his fervent hope that the principles of toleration and liberty for which the fathers crossed the Atlantic might soon awaken a new world era in which peace and understanding would be assured among the nations. He referred in particular to this nation's effort toward disarmament, asserting his faith that the movement would succeed.

Child Had Second Stomach in Breast

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Two heads may be better than one, but a pair of stomachs is too much so. When Dorothea, aged eight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of Bristol, Wis., complained for a year of stomach aches in her breast, Dr. W. W. Warriner of Antioch, Ill., investigated and discovered the second digestive apparatus right where the child claimed the pains originated. Following an operation, Dorothea is getting along nicely at her home in Bristol.
