Wave of Superstition Sweeps Over the Entire Russian Nation.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Remarkable stories are told by refugees of the wave of superstition that is sweeping over Russia as a result of the almost innumerable deaths from famine and disease. At night women dig trenches around the towns, ostensibly to defend themselves against migratory bands of plunderers, but in reality to keep off the evil spirits of cholera.

The scenes are weird beyond description. Bonfires are lighted, around which women dance naked, while melting holy songs. They believe that the malignant devils of disease will be exercised in this way.

The Soviet Medical Commissions pass through the towns without being permitted to realize the full extent of the disease, because people suspect the Soviets of having issued a decree that all those in the sick barracks shall be tortured to death. The doctors on these commissions, who have been able to catch even a glimpse of the real suffering are collapsing under the strain of the terrible sights presented to them.

Sheer horror is overcoming their desire to serve humanity. Efforts are being made to cope with the situation and to prevent the further spread of cholera by wholesale emigration by raising the fares on railroads to Moscow and Petrograd. It now costs 140,000 roubles to travel by rail from Kieff to Moscow, and 600,000 from Kieff to Petrograd.

Despite this drastic action, there are scenes of riot at every railroad station. Scores are crushed to death every day in their desperate efforts to board trains and get away. When a train pulls from a station famishing people stagger after it, crying: "In the name of God give us bread for we are dying."

Official Reports Suppressed. Official reports concerning the number of cases of cholera and the areas affected are suppressed, but refugees estimate that more than 80 per cent. of the population is suffering from disease or famine. It is stated that Lenin is planning to make a trip abroad soon that he may plead in person for more relief missions. Lenin has given over the supreme power to Trotsky because of his failure to form a coalition government. Trotsky believes firmly that the only way to check and overcome the present catastrophe is to obtain relief, not by conquest.

Capt. Wegner, who took the first famine relief steamer from Stettin to Petrograd got the impression of decay everywhere in the former Russian capital. He found wooden parts had been torn from the buildings and wooden paving blocks removed from the streets to be used as fuel. Many front doors have been nailed up even on the shops, and one must enter from the rear when any business is to be transacted. Trips on trolley cars are free, the Captain found, but there is an overwhelming rush for them at every stop. There are only a few carriages and taxis, and a short ride on one of them costs anything from 80,000 roubles up.

Prices in Petrograd. Coffee in Petrograd is 25,000 roubles a pound. A pound of butter costs 4,000 roubles, a bottle of lemonade 3,000, and a kilogram of cocoa is 40,000 roubles. The relief vessel besides carrying food for the starving population took a cargo of rails and

Cramps! Cramps! Cramps! How to Stop Them Quick

When you have cramps, it is a mighty quick relief that you want. Good old "Nerviline" is sure as death to relieve cramps in a hurry. Just a few drops in sweetened water, and the pain is gone. Buy a bottle of trusty old Nerviline to-day and keep it handy. Nerviline is a common household necessity, and is so useful in case of sudden illness at night, or when cramps, nausea, diarrhoea, vomiting or the like occur. Sold everywhere in large 35 cents bottles.

agricultural machinery. Capt. Wegner reports that in Petrograd he found Capt. Koenig, former commander of the U-boat Deutschland, which visited the United States in 1916, in charge of the Petrograd office of the North German Lloyd.

CARUSO'S SUCCESSOR DIFFICULT TO FIND

Critics Argue No Living Tenor Can Fill Place of Opera King.

New York, Aug. 3.—There was no one in New York who could say what singer would succeed the late Enrico Caruso next fall as leading tenor of the Metropolitan opera company. Caruso's death in Naples was considered by critics to have left vacant a place in opera that no living tenor can fill. For Caruso was king of the opera house, his dominance above all the other artists being universally recognized.

Gullo Gatti-Cazzasa, general manager of the Metropolitan opera company, who selects the artists and the operas in which they are to be heard, is in Europe. So is Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors, and Henry R. Winthrop, vice-president. Many other men who have a voice in the conduct of the Metropolitan also were out of the city.

Caruso's earnings, like his fame, surpassed those of other singers. His annual income ranged around $500,000; it was said today.

SEEKS DECISION ON TAX

Orders Some Scotch for the Dominion to Seize.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 4.—A legal battle to test the right of the Dominion government to tax liquor coming into this province is expected to result from the probable seizure by federal authorities of a shipment of Scotch whiskey now on its way from England. The case may go all the way to the privy council, according to a statement to-day of Attorney-General J. W. Deb. Farris. The attorney-general stated that he would contend that under the British North America act, liquor importations of the provincial government are exempt from federal taxation, as the act stipulates that "property" of the province is not liable to taxation. The liquor was specially ordered from Scotland to provide the foundation for the case.

Pickpocket to Penitentiary

Windsor, Aug. 4.—In effort to check pocket picking prevalent here since the opening of the race meet, Magistrate Gundy sentenced Robert Norwood, Detroit, convicted pickpocket, to two and a half years in Portmouth penitentiary. He intimated that others convicted of the same offence would be dealt with similarly. Local and provincial detectives already have made numerous arrests of suspects. Other arrests are expected to follow an intensive combing of crowds at the tracks.

Hair Ribbon Saves Girl

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 4.—A bright-colored hair ribbon saved the life of little five-year-old Margaret Patterson, of Bend, Ill., here and aided nine-year-old Jimmy Easton to become a hero. The girl was wading in Pike creek, and went over her head. The lad saw her go down for the third time and could see only a little piece of blue ribbon in the circling waters. He grabbed this and then later the girl's hair and pulled her out of the water.

New Tariff Opposed by Cuba

Havana, Aug. 4.—Cuba will send a special delegation to Washington to appear before the senate finance committee in opposition to the sugar and tobacco provisions of the Fordney tariff law, according to an official statement issued at the national palace.

Governor Breaks With Soviet

London, Aug. 4.—Confirmation of recent reports that G. S. Zinovieff, governor of Petrograd, had severed relations with the soviet government was given in the House of Commons by Major Sir Philip Lloyd-Grasmere, parliamentary secretary of the board of trade.

RETRIEVED UNION JACK

Canadian Soldier Dives to Ocean Floor to Recover British Flag.

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 4.—A. E. Cole, Port Arthur barrister, is in receipt of a handsome silk Union Jack, sent by his son, Alf, Canadian war veteran, from Atlantic City, N. J., with a statement that he recovered the ensign from the bottom of the Atlantic ocean after having seen it thrown there by a gang of young men. Young Cole is a cashier in a restaurant at Atlantic City, and it was while walking along the board walk at night that he saw the men wrap the flag around a large stone and throw it into the sea. He procured a bathing suit and recovered it by diving. It was valued by the United States authorities for export at forty dollars.

Drops Proposal for Parley

London, Aug. 4.—Great Britain has dropped the proposal to hold a preliminary conference on Pacific questions and has agreed to participate in the Washington conference as originally suggested by President Harding, according to official circles here. This decision was reached after an exchange of conversations between London and Washington. Great Britain has also agreed to the original date suggested, November 11th, the anniversary of armistice day, if President Harding still considers that the most suitable time.
