As Strong As Ever. London, Aug. 16 .- Lloyd George, to-day, concerning the last meeting of the allied supreme council, declared that in many respects it was the most important since the declaration of peace. Questions were before it, he said, which menaced the solidarity of the Entente. The unity of the Allies, Lloyd George asserted, was a guarantee for the peace of Europe. and it was a matter of great gratification that at the end of the meeting a resolution was passed not merely that the alliance be continued, but declaring that the spirit of the alliance was as strong as ever.

North Woods Novelist Scores Again

A noted artist's portrait of James Oliver Curwood

HE FLAMING FOREST," a thrilling new novel of the north woods by James Oliver Curwood, has just been published by the Cospomolitan Book Corporation, and the advance sale alone on the new book is reported to have been se great that practically the entire vast edition of more than 100,000 copies was absorbed ahead of publication. And 100,000 copies of this novel, placed end to end, would reach about twelve miles!

The gigantic sale of Curwood's novels during recent years has placed him near, if not at, the head of the list of the most popular American authors. "The Flaming Forest" is the third story of his trio of tales of the "Three-River Country," a region of North western Canada in which the waters flow toward the Arctic and with the life and people of which Curwood himself has long been familiar. The earlier novels of the trio were "The River's End," of which 100,000 copies were sold and of which a popular moving picture was made, and "The Valley of Silent Men," the sale of which has gone beyond 135,000.

Mr. Curwood's, home is in Owosso, Michigan, and like so many other successful novelists, he began his career as a reporter on a newspaper in his home state. Into the intense plot of his new book he has woven much of the mystery and glamour that has in past years lured him northward for numerous extended camping and hunting expeditions in what he terms "God's country."
