THE RAILWAY QUESTION AGAIN TO THE FRONT

The National Railways Will Have Another Big Deficit This Year.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The railway question is again to the front and some interviews this week with big men of both the national system have had reference to it. "The National Railways are doing a little better this year but very little. It is costing them $1.25 to do every dollar's worth of business and the heavy deficit of last year, though possibly reduced somewhat, will inescapably be repeated again. The way out, if such is at all possible, is not indicated but re-organization is in the air and all of the remedies previously suggested are being turned over again. The Grand Trunk award will be out soon and the situation will come to a head. In some quarters a modification of the Shaughnessy scheme is being suggested. What makes the condition more serious are the falling general revenues upon which the railway deficits operate as a first charge. When their appetite is satisfied, there is not much left for other things.

DECIDE NOT TO PROROGUE

But Only to Take Recess—Premier's Statement About Ireland.

London, Aug. 19.—The settlement of the Irish problem, or measures to be taken in case the Irish republican leaders break off negotiations with the British government, may be possible by the end of the session, according to a statement by Prime Minister Lloyd George and his ministry. This, apparently, was indicated by a sudden change in the plan to prorogue to-day and the announcement that it had been decided merely to call a recess of two months before ending the present session.

The British government, declared Lloyd George to-day, in making its settlement proposals to Ireland, had decided on putting the whole of its terms into a letter to Eamonn de Valera, without keeping anything back, and the sequel had proved, he said, that it was right in adopting that course.

The British government, in its Irish peace offer, offered everything it was possible to concede the prime minister declared. It embodied the largest measure of freedom ever offered Ireland, he said, and he hoped the Irish leaders would not reject it and take the responsibility of renewing a conflict which would be robbed of all glory and all gratitude by its overshadowing horror. Lloyd George disclaimed any menace for his words. He declared, however, that the government, in making its terms, had done everything it could to secure the peace and good will of the people of Ireland, and that it was faced with the possibility, through some things that had been said, that its terms would be rejected. In that case, the country would face a graver situation regarding Ireland than ever before. Therefore, he said, proroguing had been made for the summoning of parliament on forty-eight hours' notice if negotiations broke down and prospect of peace became hopeless. He hoped, however, that reason would prevail and the government's desire for the ending of a long misunderstanding between Great Britain and Ireland would be realized.

Offers All Possible.

Meanwhile the rank and file of the members of the Dail Eireann were engaged in committee work in consideration of Irish internal affairs.

WOMAN'S VOICE ON DISARMING

Deputation Asks Harding to Appoint Representative at Conference.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The "influence and intuition" of women are to be utilized by President Harding in the forthcoming conference on disarmament and Far Eastern questions.

Whether this intention will embrace the actual appointment of a woman as one of the American delegates, is not clear. President Harding declined to declare himself flatly on this question when he received a delegation from the National League of Women Voters, who asked specifically that one of their sex be placed on the delegation.

LATE GERALD O'FLAHERTY Popular Grand Trunk official for many years, who was killed on the Hamilton highway in a motor accident.

Should Settle Now. The Tribune under the heading "Settle" says: "If the members of the Dail Eireann are interested, as they are said to be, in American opinion concerning the latest phases of the Irish question it should not be difficult for them to arrive at fairly accurate conclusions. The evidence is clear that the great mass of Americans, including a large majority of those of Irish extraction, believe that the present opportunity to settle should be seized—that the British offer embodies about all that can be expected at this time.

ROBBING THE MOTORISTS.

A Scheme That was Unfolded at Chicago. Chicago, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Lillian LeBelle, recently granted a divorce from Anthony LeBelle, employe of a gasoline filling station, will receive $75 a month alimony because she said her husband makes $200 extra a month by cheating motorists. "How can you expect your husband to pay $75 a month alimony when his salary is only $165 a month?" Judge Samuel Stough asked Mrs. LeBelle. "Oh, he makes about $200 a month extra," the witness answered. "Motorists pay for the amount of gasoline they order, not for the amount the filler puts in their tanks. In this difference is where my husband makes his extra money."

QUIT BLUFF AND SETTLE

New York Press Condemns De Valera For Dail Eireann Speeches.

New York, Aug. 19.—The New York press bitterly condemns De Valera for the note of defiance sounded in his speech before the Dail Eireann. The Times declares it is "No time for Irish bluffing," and says: "In spite of De Valera's high tone and uncompromising language there seems to be a confident belief in London, and even in Dublin, that the Irish negotiations will go on until an agreement is reached.

"This would imply that the Irish leader is either fooling his extremist followers to the top of their bent for the time being or that he is trying to play a shrewd game with Lloyd George. Either course would be dangerous. In particular it would be hazardous for De Valera to attempt political tricks with the most adroit and resourceful politician of his day. "Consider what Lloyd George has already done and what he may do next. He has solidified English opinion in opposing separation for Ireland. By publishing the official correspondence he has detached from Sinn Fein the sympathies of the outside world. If the British terms are rejected outright, the general verdict that the Irish have shown themselves unreasonable and impossible. That occasion Lloyd George might eagerly seize to bring on a general election on the issue of keeping Ireland within the Empire. Its results could not be in doubt. The prime minister would emerge stronger than ever politically, and Sinn Fein more isolated and hopeless.

Decidedly, Lloyd George is not a man for De Valera to endeavor to circumvent. He is the sort of enemy to agree with quickly whilst in the way with him. It is to be hoped that De Valera's more-sagacious advisers will impress this fact upon him in these critical days."

Argument is Refuted.

The World finds that: "In denying that the British government's offer includes 'the status of dominion home rule for Ireland—the status of the British dominions,' Mr. de Valera omits all reference to the actual terms of the proposals. "The point on which Mr. de Valera labors with the greatest zeal is the separation of Ulster from southern Ireland. How would he prevent it if Ulster persists in its present attitude? He suggests external arbitration. But if Ulster still refuses, as is easily to be foreseen, what then? Is Ulster to be coerced into sharing against its will with southern Ireland the same government, and must it be coerced by the British government in order to satisfy Mr. de Valera and his followers? If that is their design they flatly repudiate in respect to Ulster the very principle on which they have based their whole case. In reason and justice they cannot refuse to concede to Ulster the same rights and freedom they demand for southern Ireland.

"The settlement of the Irish question along the proposed lines is as yet by no means hopeless. Mr. de Valera and Sinn Fein do well to bargain in a conciliatory spirit for still more favorable terms. But to force a final break on the issue of Ulster would be to injure their cause irrevocably.

THE FARMER NO PROFITEER

R. E. Burnaby, U.F.O., President, Addresses Picnic At Varty Lake.

Fully fifteen hundred people attended the picnic on Thursday afternoon, held by the United Farmers of the counties of Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, at Galbraith's Grove, located on the shores of Varty Lake, about two miles from Colbrook. In the field adjoining the grove, where the speeches were given, about two hundred automobiles were parked.

R. E. Burnaby, president of the United Farmers for the province, gave an interesting address, which was listened to very attentively by all those present. During the course of his remarks, Mr. Burnaby discussed many of the problems which confront the people at the present time. He paid special stress to the part which the farmers of this province must play in the building of the nation. In opening his address Mr. Burnaby said that the subject of his discourse would be "In unity there is strength." He took occasion to remark that the farmers were generally either misunderstood or misrepresented. The speaker remarked that he was sorry the premier of this dominion had recently made this statement that farmers were "wreckers."

When dealing with the prices the farmers receive for their goods at the present time, he said that recently he sold a hide for three cents a pound, and when he went to the store to buy machine belt lacing they asked him three dollars a pound for this article, so he would have to leave it to the people as to whether the farmer was profiteering, or the man who sold the lacing. Mr. Burnaby said "that it was high time that we as farmers have an organization which will have as its object the furtherance of the interests of the farmer in all branches of agriculture." He dealt with those people who have said that the farmers have made mistakes, and was willing to acknowledge that mistakes had been made, but the people who had the most to say had not joined the farmers' movement, and were in no position to criticize.
