THE FARMER NO PROFITEER

other such companies, had, through advertising, from one end of the country to the other, created a great demand for their goods. He urged upon the farmers the necessity of co-operation if they were to accomplish what they should.

In closing his remarks, Mr. Burnaby emphasized the need of the farmers of this country interesting themselves in the problems which confront the government, and when the votes were taken, they would be in a position to vote intelligently. He also dealt with the tariff duties, which he claimed were building a wall between nations who are anxious to deal with us. When the speaker took his seat he was loudly applauded by the large gathering.

E. H. Sills Speaks.
J. L. F. Sproule, county director for Frontenac, who acted as chairman of the gathering, called upon E. H. Sills to give the first address of the afternoon. Mr. Sills, in his opening remarks, said it was high time that the farmers were getting something, as they had been getting second choice every time for some years. He stated that he was glad to say that Premier Drury was taking no notice of the little dogs who are barking at his feet. When speaking of the Hon. Mr. Biggs, minister of the provincial highways, he said that he thought it was pretty near time that he stopped explaining all matters when charged by certain men with mere trifling incidents. He was convinced that the people of Ontario were satisfied with what Biggs had done for this country in the matter of roads.

Mr. Sills complimented the Drury government for establishing a rural credit system, which will greatly assist the farmers.

At this point of his remarks he took a swing at the Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railroads and canals, who, he claimed, was running this country into a debt of from sixty to seventy million dollars a year in his management of government-owned railroads. The Hon. George E. Foster also received a rebuke. The speaker said that he thought we should be lenient with him, as he had been recently getting a new wife, and as he was between seventy-five and eighty, he might not be responsible for all he did. There was one thing that the people of this country should not tolerate, and that was his (Mr. Foster's) statement to the effect that he did not know which was worst—the Bolshevik, Soviet, Labor or Farmer.

The Villages Robbed.
Claude Bréthen, who ran as U. F. O. candidate in the last provincial election, was the second speaker on the list. During his remarks he showed how that during the past fifty years the industries in the large cities had been stripping the country of farm hands. The population in the township of Camden, he said, had decreased two thousand. He cited cases where industries which had been located in Newburgh, Camden East, Yarker, and other smaller places, had been absorbed into the larger mergers, thus robbing these villages of industries.

Miss Balance, president of the United Farmers' Women's Association, for the county of Lennox and Addington, said that so far no organization meeting had taken place in the county, but in the very near future, the women would get together and organize. She contended that the women of the rural communities were entitled to recreation, more than they have had in the past, and when the women's clubs were formed, one of the first things she considered should be a recreation programme.

A. E. Weller, secretary of the U. F. O. for the county of Frontenac, when called upon for a speech, congratulated the people for the large attendance, but said that instead of making any lengthy remarks, he would make way for the speaker of the day, Mr. Burnaby.

Mrs. R. J. Vair, director for the women's movement in the county of Frontenac, gave an account of what had been accomplished in this county and urged upon the women the necessity of getting together.

Bushell Boosts the Fair.
Robert Bushell, the genial manager of the Kingston Industrial Exhibition, who went out to the picnic for the purpose of booming the Kingston fair, was spotted in the audience, and was called to the platform to make the closing speech of the day. He congratulated those who had organized this picnic on being able to get such a large attendance, and at the same time urged them to turn out in large numbers to the Kingston Fair. He did not let the opportunity pass for paying his respect to Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., Frontenac, with whom he had waged a newspaper controversy recently. It was unnecessary for him to go into detail, he said, but he would just leave it to them to decide who came out on top.

Mr. Bushell, when he took over the management of the Kingston Fair, after the expiration of his good friend Dr. Edwards' term, said he found that forty-five dollars had been spent annually for advertising purposes. Mr. Bushell had gradually increased this sum until a year ago last fall he had spent twenty-three hundred dollars, and then had a balance of fourteen hundred dollars to the good. Good advertising, and much thought and hard work has put Kingston Fair in fourth place in the list of two hundred and sixty. Mr. Bushell said that he would leave it entirely in the hands of those who attended the U. F. O. convention which will be called upon to select a candidate, who will meet Dr. J. W. Edwards in the next dominion election.

Although the Kingston fair manager was the last on programme, and many people were ready to leave for home, they listened attentively to his remarks, and he had a larger audience when he finished than when he started.

Notes of the Event.
It had been expected that a ball game between Verona and Yarker would have been played, but on account of the unsettled weather during the morning, the game was cancelled.

The Napanee band was on hand during the afternoon and rendered a number of selections which were very much enjoyed.

The place where the picnic was held is an ideal location for such an outing. In the woods, where the speeches were given, seats had been arranged for all the ladies.

A great deal of credit for the success of this event is due to the following men: M. N. Empey, director for the U. F. O. for the county of Lennox and Addington; E. H. Sills, Napanee; Franklin Beckwith, Berlinville; M. C. Burgess, Napanee; C. B. Brethen, Napanee; W. H. Hunter, Napanee; A. E. Weller, secretary of the U. F. O. for Frontenac; John Shibley, Harrowsmith; E. E. Day, Joseph Watson, and J. L. F. Sproule, county director for Frontenac.

During the chairman's remarks, Mr. Sproule said that if any of those present had been with him when he passed over some of the roads on the way to Varty Lake, they would have realized that the sooner the Biggs road policy was put into effect in that section of the country, the more comfortably the people would ride.

The large gathering departed for their homes about 5.30 o'clock fully satisfied that they had spent one of the most enjoyable afternoons in years.

Patenters have been busy engaged during the past few weeks redecorating the lobby, and the designs that have been hand-painted are a credit to local skill. The entrance is now exceptionally artistic and improves the first impression of the theatre considerably.

New lighting fixtures have been placed at necessary places throughout the theatre, and the lobby will be distinctively lighted by new chandeliers which are being installed. They are of very beautiful design and will provide strong illumination for the lobby.

Not in years, says Mr. Branigan, have so many excellent attractions been booked in advance of the season for the local house. All the latest musical comedies and triumphs of dramatic art are on the books, and are certain to draw large audiences during the autumn and winter.

Joseph Gallipeau, Stratford, about 42 years, expired suddenly while standing in a jewelry store. Deceased was an overseas veteran. He was born in Perth, Ont.

Can Lost Sleep Be Made Up?

People speak of "making up" sleep, balancing loss of sleep one, two, or three nights by a "good, long sleep" some time in the future. A fine theory!

But the hard-working man or woman of these days needs a good, sound sleep every night, in a bed that invites every nerve and muscle to relax. We lead in bedding.
