If you are still using the glasses that were prescribed for you two years ago it is highly probable that you should have your eyes re-examined. The eye-formations should have eye-formations, change. It may be that the muscles that accommodate the focusing apparatus have become strengthened and that you will be able to do without glasses or use lenses that are less in strength.

HELD A UNIQUE EVENT BIRD SANCTUARY NEEDED

Grandmothers' Day Held at Enterprise Was an Interesting Affair. Catarqui Creek Is Considered by Jack Miner an Ideal Location.

The annual Grandmothers' Day was held at the home of Mrs. Wellington Lockwood, Enterprise, by the Women's Institute. The madam presiding occupied the chair. The meeting was opened with the singing of an ode, followed by the Lord's prayer. The minutes of the meeting held in June were read and confirmed, after which the meeting was thrown open for business, with roll call and hints on jelly making.

Reports of committees were called for, and it was decided to send a box of fruit to the Kingston hospital, to be distributed in the wards. Mrs. Clayton Brown gave a splendid address on pioneer times. The grandmothers were extended a special invitation to attend this gathering, and were asked to bring some old relics with them. The grandmother who brought the oldest relic received a prize. Sixteen grandmothers were in attendance, and the house was beautifully decorated with flowers. The table presented the appearance of a museum. The relic consisted of a bake kettle which had served five generations, a sword which had been in a war, table cloths and towels woven in Ireland, bonnets of the olden days, gold candlesticks, sugar bowls, lamps, shawls, and a rocking chair which had served five generations, cake plate of willow ware about which Miss Carrie Jackson told interesting stories. All of the articles are a hundred years old or over. The collection also included a pitcher owned by Mrs. B. Wilson, which she stated was three hundred years old. This exhibit was awarded the prize—a beautiful cup and saucer, which the members asked her to use for the remainder of her life. A quilt was brought forward to be sold in aid of the institute, but as the hour was late, the sale was held over.

An interesting group photograph was taken of the grandmothers and an old-fashioned lunch was served, followed by a distribution of homemade candy. The meeting was closed with the singing of "The Old Folks At Home," "When You And I were Young Maggie," "There's a Land That is Fairer Than Day," and "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The event was a most enjoyable one for all who were present. The meeting was held from 2 p.m. till 6 p.m. Mrs. William Vannest being eighty-two years of age, was the oldest grandmother present. There were thirty-two members present. Mrs. Cronk is president, and Mrs. John S. Reid secretary-treasurer.

Falen-Vanwinckel Wedding.
A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's rectory at Bath, when Mamie Edith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Vanwinckel, Collin's Bay, was united in marriage to Frederick Falen, son of Mrs. Ellen Falen, Belleville. The bride looked charming in a gown of blue duchess satin with hat to match, her only ornament being a string of pearl beads the gift of her great-uncle. The bride was attended by her sister, Edna, who wore a becoming dress of sand-colored red silk, while groom was attired by H. Kilgannon, uncle of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a dainty gold wrist watch, to the bride's maid a gold brooch set with pearls, and to the best man a tie-pin. The happy young couple left for Maribank and other points.

Taylor-Potter Wedding.
On August 24th, 1921, a quiet wedding was solemnized in St. James' chapel by Rev. Fr. Coyle, when Isabella, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, John street, was united in marriage to Alexander Potter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Potter, Rideau street. The young couple were unattended. Many costly presents were received by the young people, among them a grand upright piano from the parents of the bride. The bride was a former employee of the operating staff of the Bell Telephone Co., and the groom a C.P.R. car inspector. Many good wishes go to the happy young couple through their wedded life.

Home From Trip Abroad.
School Inspector J. Russell Stuart and Mrs. Stuart arrived home at noon on Thursday from their trip to Belgium and Holland, and report a most enjoyable holiday. At Brussels Mr. and Mrs. Stuart visited their daughter, Mrs. A. Stuart Bleakney.

Why not have a bird sanctuary near Kingston? When "Jack" Miner was here last spring, telling his marvellous tale of his home for the wild geese in Essex county, he said that in his opinion Catarqui creek was ideal for the purpose of a sanctuary for the birds that do so much toward the destruction of the insects, harmful to the produce of the farm and garden, as well as for the wild geese who would stay with us on their way to their nesting place in the north. In Grey county there are two bird sanctuaries on the shores of Georgian Bay, where the birds have become fearless in the knowledge of their safety, even within a few minutes walk of a railway station. A pond, made by the damming of the Beaver river to secure power for several mills, has high, wooded banks where wood, peewees vercos gold finch and other familiar birds, whose daily food is the insect pests which destroy our garden. Killdeer plover and sand pipers were busy on the sand bars, some baby wild ducks had their home in the rushes on the turf islands with their thick growth of rushes, and the great blue heron, who strolled in a lordly fashion in the shallows late in the afternoon, every now and then condescending to catch a fish by a swift dart of his long neck, had a mate and a nest full of fledglings farther up the stream. Kingfishers flashed by in their coats of blue and scarlet, wax wings with their crested heads; red winged black birds and fly catchers were among the rushes edging the pond, and on the grassy bank, a pair of flickers made their morning meal from the insects on the foliage, while overhead all day swooped the gulls and terns with their strange weird cry. At the larger sanctuary, for six years protected by the game laws, there is a hundred acres of forest as well as meadows, grain fields and orchards, and here the migratory linger in the spring when the vegetation is in greatest need of protection; orioles, the foe of the caterpillars that destroy the fruit trees, the warblers who live on the smaller orchard insect pests, scarlet tanager, rarely seen near Kingston; mourning does nest in the orchard; the blue birds are in bird houses near the house, where tiny wrens have made their home under the eaves and bobolinks and meadow larks are in the meadows where the small seeds of the weeds and insects are their food. In the woods are partridge and many of the more shy birds that sad to say are becoming less familiar year by year.

No great outlay seems necessary for a sanctuary safety, some care to destroy the natural bird enemies, weasels, crows, cow black birds, owls and hawks, food placed where it can be got in winter, drinking places, bird houses to bring the most useful birds to the orchards and gardens, are the only real necessities, but bird lovers will find many other ways to make their feathered friends happier. Surely many among the large audience that filled Grant Hall to overflowing last spring, to hear "Jack" Miner tell his story, will be interested in bringing to our doors the enemies provided by an allwise Father to check the too rapid increase of the destroyers of vegetable life, and also to use our natural advantages to prevent the destruction of some of the beautiful wild birds who still remain with us, that they may not be destroyed or driven into the wilds such birds as the white crane, the wild swans, the white heron, the wood duck, the esquimaux curlew and many another bird useful and beautiful.

Letters to the Editor

Some Seeley's Bay Matters.
Seeley's Bay, Sept. 1.—(To the Editor): I wish to tell my friends and neighbors through your paper that I am not to blame for starting the stories concerning Mrs. Fred Willis. Thanking you in advance and hoping this will clear matters up, as I cannot stand it to be blamed in the wrong, I can prove any of my above statements.

Yours truly,
—MRS. JOHN BLACKMAN.

Can Lost Sleep

Be Made Up?

People speak of "making up" sleep, balancing loss of sleep one, two, or three nights by a "good, long sleep" some time in the future. A fine theory!

But the hard-working man or woman of these days needs a good, sound sleep every night, in a bed that invites every nerve and muscle to relax. We lead in bedding.

THE LATE CENSUS RETURNS

Hawkesbury, Smith's Falls and Pembroke Are Among the Places Growing.

An increase of 95.28 per cent. in the population of Orillia, Ont., is shown by Bulletin No. 3, covering the preliminary announcement of population, issued by the Dominion statistician. The population of Orillia now stands at 13,324, as compared with 6,828 in 1911, when the last Dominion census was taken. Sault Ste. Marie is a close second with a percentage increase of 93.26 in the last ten years, and a population to-day of 21,228. Swift Current, Sask., shows a percentage increase of 88.55, and St. Boniface, Man., of 84.63 since the figures of 1911 were compiled. Other returns are:

Smith's Falls, Ont. — Population, 10,549; 1911, 6,370; 1901, 5,155. Increase 1921 over 1911, 4,179 or 65.60 per cent. Increase 1911 over 1901, 1,215 or 23.57 per cent.

Hawkesbury, Ont. — Population, 5,532; 1911, 4,400; 1901, 4,150. Increase 1921 over 1911, 1,132 or 25.7 per cent. Increase 1911 over 1901, 250 or 6.02 per cent.

Pembroke, Ont. — Population 7,373; 1911, 6,626; 1901, 5,156. Increase 1921 over 1911 2,747 or 39.9

Cotton at a New High. — New York, Sept. 2.—Cotton advanced to new high levels for the season on publication of the government crop report here, showing a reduction of 1,166,000 bales. December sold at $17.40 and January at $17.30, representing about $5 a bale advance over yesterday's close.

The day you overlook the wash ads is probably the very day you should look over them carefully. The band concert honors of the Toronto exhibition go to the 113th regiment of Hamilton.
