A Heintzman & Co. Piano Purchased by Melba for Her Australian Home

Melba, the world's great singer, has purchased through Mr. Walter F. Evans, their Vancouver representative, a beautiful Grand Piano of "Ye Old Firm," Heintzman & Co., Limited, for use in her boudoir studio in her Australian home.

When it came to a personal purchase, the buying of a piano for her own studio, the choice was with Melba as with Tetrazini, a Heintzman & Co. Piano, the instrument always used when concert touring in Canada.

This piano was shipped on the same steamer that carried Madame Melba home again to her beloved Australia.

Strongest of all influences with these famed artists in buying a Heintzman & Co. Piano was its unrivalled tone and touch.

Just received a shipment of Heintzman & Co. Pianos of different styles now on show at our warerooms, 121 Princess Street.

Mrs. John Carson, "Sunny Knowie," gave another of her delightful bridge parties, that have been so much enjoyed by her friends this summer, on Friday last. The scene from the verandah with the maples on the point and islands beginning to don their autumnal dress, was a lovely one indeed, and the drive home when the moon was flooding the harbor with silver light was a much enjoyed ending to a happy afternoon.

Miss Laura Kilborn's bridge on Saturday in Miss Margaret Hemming's honor was a much enjoyed little party. Three tables were in play, with Miss Nora Bermingham and Miss Gwendolen Folger as prize winners. Mrs. R. Kilborn made tea in the dining room where pink asters centred the tea table with Miss Helen Strange, Miss Doris Folger and Miss Cecile Macneae as her assistants. The other guests were Mrs. J. Gordon Mackenzie, Mrs. J. Carl Murchie, Miss Olive Rutherford, Miss Katie and Miss Nora Bermingham, Miss Doris and Miss Gwendolen Folger, Miss Harriet Gardiner, Miss Doris Brown and Miss Marion Ogilvie.

"Otterburn" was lovely in the golden light of the September sunshine on Monday afternoon when the Meses Bermingham entertained at bridge in honor of Miss Margaret Hemming, to-day's bride, and Miss Dainty Notman, Montreal. Autumn flowers, in a riot of rich colorings, were in the drawing room and in the dining room where Mrs. Bermingham and Mrs. Malcolmson, Edmonton, were at the tea table, the prize winners were Miss Harriet Gardiner and Miss Doris Brown and the guests included Mrs. J. Carl Murchie, Mrs. H. K. Hill, Miss Laura Kilborn, Miss Helen Strange, Miss Doris and Miss Gwendolen Folger, Miss Louise Hill, Miss Mary and Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Eleanor Lyman, Miss Helen and Miss Doris McKee and Miss Marion Ogilvie.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 22ND.

According to the science of astrology this should be a day of brilliant achievement and long-deferred accomplishment. There should be unusual spending up of business affairs, with expansion and financial returns along all lines of endeavor. This splendid prospect should not be negated by the tendency to impetuosity and destructiveness stimulated by an adverse position of the fiery Mars, inciting to quarrels and litigation. Domestic affairs are not so fortuitously expected.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent prospects for success and growth, with fulfilled ambitions and financial rewards, but they should keep good control over their speech and deportment, avoiding rashness, quarrels and litigation. A child born on this day will be active, aggressive, quick-tempered, fortunate in its undertakings, and will make rapid rise in life.

Forest Inhabitants See A Long, Hard Winter

Quebec, Sept. 21.—The forest inhabitants are preparing for a long, hard winter, according to Gramin Bastien, a veteran trapper, here laying in supplies.

Most of the animals are busy manufacturing their winter coats, and the squirrels are laying in an unusual supply of nuts, he said. Only the brown bears, being fat and lazy, were still wearing tattered furs.

The trapper admitted that it was possible that the animals might have been deceived by the early spring, and that we might have a protracted Indian summer instead of jumping headlong into an early winter. "But, like the animals, I am not taking any chances," he added.
