20-YEAR-OLD YOUTH GETS FIVE-YEAR TERM

Renews Thefts After Being Paroled From Portsmouth Penitentiary.

Cornwall, Sept. 26.—James Edward Roderick, who was born in Martintown twenty years ago, was Friday sentenced by Police Magistrate Cline to five years in Portsmouth penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge laid by Chief Peterson of breaking into the store of T. R. Craig at Martintown, on Sept. 4th and stealing two watches, some jewellery, three pairs of shoes, a suit of clothes, a fountain pen and $20 in silver.

The young man told the magistrate his mother had died when he was four years old and he had to shift for himself pretty much since then. Roderick was only liberated on parole from Portsmouth penitentiary about six weeks ago after serving three years and eight months of a seven year term imposed on him by Judge O'Reilly after being convicted of the theft of horses, bicycles, etc., and breaking into stores in this locality.

The magistrate stated that the five year sentence he had imposed was not to run concurrently with any term the Portsmouth penitentiary authorities might impose on Roderick for breaking his parole. The young man took his sentence without a quiver and refused to sell to J. G. Harkness, County Crown Attorney, what disposition he had made of the stolen goods, stating that that was his own business.

Three Important Facts. When asked if he believed that the British Empire would be drawn into this new struggle of the future, Mr. Wright would give no definite reply. "That all depends," he said. "It is a matter which must be decided by the march of events. I shall tell some of the things that I know and the people can best judge for themselves. When I was in Berlin only a short time ago I was told on undisputed authority that the spy system had been re-established in the United States upon an even greater and more efficient basis than ever before. Also, here are three outstanding facts which are worth while considering:—

"Germany blames the United States for her present position, especially her economic difficulties; the United States has built up a world trade at Germany's expense."

"Japan views the United States with unvelled hostility. California and its laws are a thorn in her side; the United States policies, both foreign and domestic, are looked upon by Japanese statesmen and financiers as directly aimed against Japanese expansion and ideals."

"Bolshevik Russia hates the United States as the seat of capitalism; apart from this fact Russia is in an economic chaos and needs money in the worst possible way; the

SEES WORLD WAR IN 1931 AIMED AT UNITED STATES

Britain's Foremost Labor Leader Prophesies Greatest Struggle in History Ten Years Hence—Germany, Russia And Japan to Attack U.S.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—That the year 1931 will see the outbreak of a world war, which in ferocity and in the deadly engines of death, will surpass the Great War that broke out in 1914, is a prophesy made by Peter Wright, a conciliator of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union of Great Britain, and the second outstanding figure in British labor circles. Apart from his prominence as a leader of thought in the British Isles, Mr. Wright is widely known throughout the dominion as an advocate of sane labor principles and as a keen student of international affairs, he having made three tours of the dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific and addressed crowded meetings in all the large cities of the nine provinces. Therefore, the opinions of Mr. Wright, secured by the Sunday World in an interview, upon such an important question as the future of world peace, should be read with more than ordinary interest by the people of Canada.

"At the most we have but ten years of peace ahead of us," Mr. Wright said, "and in that time we must prepare to face the worst of all wars known to history. Even now political forces are coalescing which in the end will bring Germany, Russia, and Japan into a triple alliance that will open a new era of strife. I do not believe that we can prevent this war, do what we will, but we can be in a position to meet it and to protect ourselves when it comes. But will we do this? Frankly, I doubt it."

German thought has always dominated that section of Russia, which in its turn dominates the rest of the empire. It is a Russian characteristic to follow and not lead. This makes Germany's task all the easier. "I should also like to warn the people of Canada against German militarism. It is not dead; it is not sleeping; it is very much alive at the present time. All it has done is to change its uniform for a civilian garb. Germany today is just as bent upon commercial domination of the world as she was back in the days of Kaiserism. German psychology has not changed; the war has not modified its trend of thought; Germany is determined upon commercial supremacy and she knows only one way to attain it—by war."

Russia and Germany. "Therefore, there is every reason why Russia and Germany should form a close alliance. They have nothing to lose and everything to gain. In action and in thought they are outlaws among the nations. One successful war would rehabilitate them and also give them control of the world's resources. In Japan the situation is somewhat different. But we know two important facts in regard to this Oriental power which should not prove comforting to lovers of peace. The military party has gained complete control of power and the industrial situation not only is grave, but apparently steadily is growing worse. Japan has got to have room for a comfortable and a successful expansion, and she must have new markets for her trade. At present she is held in leash by natural antipathies which all the treaties and diplomatic efforts in the world
