FAIR A GREAT SUCCESS, CLOSED SATURDAY NIGHT

The Attendance and Receipts the Largest in History of Exhibition.

The Kingston fair closed on Saturday night and right up to the last there was no cessation of interest on the part of the public. While the attendance on Saturday was not quite as large as that on Friday, the management was satisfied for the receipts showed that the fair of 1921 was the greatest achievement in the history of Kingston fairs. In order to appreciate this it is only necessary to point out that the big deficit caused last year by failure, due to three days rain, has been wiped out and this year's expenses fully covered. This is a testimonial to the present board of directors and the secretary-manager, but it also shows that the people who appreciated the importance of the Kingston fair desired to make it a success. And it deserved their patronage for it was one of the finest, if not the finest, ever held on the Kingston grounds.

A review of the week shows that Thursday was the big day. On Tuesday opening day, exhibits and entries were all in position and Kingston merchants had the main building looking like some fair palace, but there was no particular interest observable. On Wednesday it rained and perhaps this circumstance contributed most to the big attendance on the following day because all who desired to see the fair made one grand rush fearing another rainy day. Friday's attendance was also large and interest held over Saturday. This great success shows that Kingston is an important centre and can support a big fair, and is therefore deserving of a greater share of government patronage.

In addressing the grand stand on Saturday afternoon, Robert J. Bushell thanked the people for their splendid patronage and promised greater things for next year. He said that the directors of the association were eminently pleased with the results and felt that next year they would be in a position to increase the attractions.

There was a good attendance on Saturday evening and directors remained on the grounds up to a late hour. Special guards were employed to take care of the exhibits on Sunday and Monday morning work or removal began and within a few hours the grounds were completely deserted.

A complete list of the prize winners will be published in the Whig as soon as it is available, also the financial statement.

Pony Race.

An extra attraction, providing a lot of amusement for the spectators, was staged in front of the grand stand on Saturday afternoon at the fair, when four ponies, with local boys as "jockeys", raced a quarter of a mile. Unfortunately for the riders the ponies were not accustomed to that style of entertainment and did not show any fine appreciation of the glory of dashing down the straight away. Instead, as soon as they came to the turnout at the stables they immediately took that course, much to the bewilderment of their riders. Finally they were straightened down the course and provided an exciting finish, one of the "jockeys" doing the stretch minus a saddle and for a time suspended from his mount's neck.

These ponies are the property of W. H. Eves. He has made a hobby of breeding them and has several fine little animals. They are becoming familiar sights about the streets in their neat harness.

Saturday afternoon saw the wind-up of the various sports in front of the grand stand. With the gaiety of the scene further enlivened now and then by beautiful selections by the 14th band, under Bandmaster W. J. Christmas, and the many attractions, all the visitors had plenty of entertainment.

The riding establishment of the Royal Military College put on their exhibition. In their Arab costumes they furnished many thrills and called forth much admiration with their daredevil riding and skilled horsemanship. The renegade rider caused much amusement with his acrobatic stunts on horseback.

These wonderful riders are all

INJURED IN HORSE RACE

W. H. Eves Thrown From Sulky and Badly Hurt, But Doing Nicely.

A gloom was cast over the racing enthusiasts at the exhibition on Saturday afternoon when in the last heat of the 2.25 class, the sulkies of Cecil May, owned by W. Smith, Belleville, and Bernard McKenna, owned by W. H. Eves of this city, fouled each other near the home stretch and both drivers were thrown. Mr. Eves was driving his own horse and was dragged quite a distance along the track, the horse's hoof striking him just above the eye, before he was tossed aside unconscious. The driver of Cecil May was only badly shaken up, though the horse was injured.

A motor car was at hand, and Mr. Eves was rushed to the Hotel Dieu. All sorts of rumors spread about the grounds and the city. Some said that Mr. Eves had lost his eye in the accident, while others had heard that the injury had been fatal.

It was therefore a big relief to everyone when it was announced on Saturday night that Mr. Eves was resting easily at his home, and that his injuries, though very bad, were far from fatal. Dr. Keyes, who is in attendance, announced on Sunday that the sight of the eye will not be impaired and that present indications point to a complete and speedy recovery.

TOOK UNKINDLY TO TRIP TO KINGSTON

Attendants Had Real Job to Remove Veale to Penitentiary.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review
 Trouble with Charles R. Veale, the Springfield man who was sent to Kingston last week for five years in the penitentiary on a charge of arson, did not end when he was put on the train at Woodstock. After making the journey in the baggage car, he again grew recalcitrant on reaching Kingston, and had to be taken bodily from the train. It took seven men to get him out of the baggage car, according to the report brought back by the escort, and finally he had to be put on a dray and conveyed the three miles to the penitentiary at Portsmouth in that fashion. There the penitentiary officials took him in charge, and he was safely lodged within the walls of the provincial penal institution.

Roosevelt on Churches.

Chicago Tribune.
 Theodore Roosevelt's church creed was continued in nine pungent paragraphs. We quote as follows:

"Yes, I know all the excuses, I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house, just as well as in a church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact, the average man does not thus worship."

"He may not hear a good sermon at the church. He will hear a sermon by a good man, who, with his wife, is engaged all week in making hard lives a little easier."

"He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible he has suffered a loss."

"He will take part in singing some good hymns."

"He will meet and nod or speak to good quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church going as a soft performance."

A good time is waiting for you at Wolfe Island fair, Tuesday and Wednesday. Boat leaves foot of Brock street. Four trips, each day. Sergt. C. F. Wolfe, wife and child, Colborne street, sailed by C. P. R. S.S. ... on September 23rd for England.

Dr. W. L. Goodwin is to spend the winter in Toronto and will be engaged in work with the department of mines.

Advertising works directly because it induces people to buy. M. Avery, Sharbot Lake, is visiting in the city.
