Interstate Commerce Commission Proposes Nineteen General Systems.

Washington, Sept. 30 .- The intered a tentative programme for consolidating all major railroads of the United States into 19 great systems; and gave notice that hearings would be called upon it soon. The step was taken under provisions of the transportation act, which allows the consolidation, if voluntary with the railroads concerned. The proposal now put forward by the commission follows, in the main, that prepared under its direction by Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard.

The commission's proposed 19 systems, as outlined today, provide for retention of the competitive arrangement of transportation lines, giving most sections of the country access to two or more of the great routes devised. The principle followed in making up the consolidations was that of hitching weaker and less profitable roads to more prosperous competitors, or connections, at the same time maintaining the identity very largely existing great railroads. In some cases branch lines of existing roads are suggested for divorce from present owners and attachment to other systems with rearrangement of terminal facilities.

It is expected that the proposal, with alternative arrangements which the commission has suggested, particularly with reference to New England, will be under consideration and argument for a prolonged period, as permission of the commission and consent of the railroads is required to every detail before it can be put

FALLING ROOF KILLS A BOY

Donald Maclean, Aged Twelve, Son of Andrew Maclean, Sr., King Street, Meets Instant Death-The Cyclone Tore Down Poles, Trees And Wires--The City's Power Cut Off.

Kingston was visited at noon Friday by the worst cyclone that has broken over this district in twenty-five years. One death and much destruction to telegraph, telephone and electrical powsr wires resulted. Donald Maclean, the twelve-year-old son of Andrew Maclean, Sr., King street, was the Victim of the cyclone, which lasted but a few minutes but shook the city like a terrier would shake a rat. The squall struck the city about 12.15 noon when so many people were on their way home, and there Kenora, proposes to run as an independent candidate on the was a great rush to cover, to escape from falling branches of trees, wires and debris generally. The city's power lines were crippled owing to wires being down.

James Cappon's house, and tell on the lad who was coming home from Victoria public school accompanied by his cousin. The cousin escaped. The little chap was tenderly carried into Prof. Cappon's house, and Dr. Carruthers, house surgeon of the General hospital, was called, as was also Dr. D. E. Mundell, coroner. Death was instantaneous, and the coroner pronounced it due to accident. Robert J. Reid's ambulance was called and conveyed the body of the boy to his father's home.

Donald Maclean was a bright boy, and his happy disposition won him friends everywhere. He was popular with his school chums and his death is deeply deplored. The deep sympathy of the city goes out to the bereaved parents.

"I was standing on the corner there when the stuff came over like a flash, said Mr. Crawford to the Whig representative who was on the scene shortly after the accident. "I had my back up against the wall of a house, and was endeavoring keep clear of everything. While the storm was raging I remember seeing a man blown off his bicycle near the corner of Barrie and O'Kill street."

The debris that struck young Maclean consisted of long pieces of planking and

TREES SUFFER DAMAGE

In the city park there is scarcely a tree that has not suffered damage. of trees were toppled over, and those which were not felled suffered by having limbs usually large, and, as a consequence, broken off them.

A chimn'sy at the home of Frederick Mahood, 160 Stuart street, was blown off and the lawn was strewn with a pile of red bricks.

The covering of the roof of the main building, used as a surgical hospital was torn off, and a large marquee in which a number of patients lived was blown dowd but no one was injured.

A large tree on Montreal street, near Brock, broke in two and came down of the edge of the roof of Dr. McCarthy's house smashing the eave.

"KIDDIES" IN SAD PLIGHT.

The storm broke just in time to catch the "kiddies" getting out of school and some of the youngsters had almost trying time. Many of them had close calls and had to dodge falling trees on their way home, in addition to getting a good soaking.

There were many absentees at the Friday afternoon session but there will be no nands for the scholars because they took the afternoon off. The weather continuugh all afternoon and it was not fit for the younger children to navigate. (Continued on Page Twenty)

THE MOVEMENT TO DIVIDE ONTARIO.

F. H. Keefer, the Conservative M.P. for Port Arthur and policy of forming a new province out of North-Western Ontario. His proposal is that the district west of White River should secede. It would have an area larger than the remaining part of Ontario, but have few towns and cities. Its agricultural areas are limited, but it is rich in timber and fish and has some mineral wealth. Secession sentiments exists to some degree in most parts of Northern Ontario,
