QUEEN'S SENIORS WIN FROM CADETS BY 43 TO 1

R.M.C. Has No Chance—Queen's Back Division Sensational.

Queen's walked away from R.M.C. in an exhibition rugby match at the old athletic grounds on Saturday afternoon, piling up forty-three points against the lonely one of the cadets. Shortly after the game had started it became evident that the tri-color was in for an easy victory and from then on it was only a matter of seeing how long the cadets could hold Queen's at a time.

In the fall of 1918 Queen's senior rugby team played R.M.C. on Thanksgiving Day. With a desperate rally and effort they managed to take a victory from the cadets by one point, and were considered lucky at that. Now, two years after, on October 1st, when the teams has only started to settle to practice, Queen's turns around and plays with cadets as with any high school team. The improvement is almost as great as the difference in the scores in the two contests shows.

First Quarter.
Queen's won the toss in the first quarter and decided to take the south of the field, with the wind helping them. The kick-off went to Harding who returned, the ball landing outside the field. Then cadets started out with a rush that sent chills down

The Man Who Works Hard Should Follow This Advice

Perseverance and will power he should have, but whether he has strength and vigor is another question. Hard working men often have headaches and suffer from bilious fits. the backs of Queen's supporters. Time after time they smashed through Queen's line for yards. Then an outside kick was captured by Queen's by Morris and Leadley, Harding and Campbell each took the ball in long runs, moving the play close up into R.M.C. territory. Leadley kicked behind cadets' line to McPherson who was downed for a rouge.

R.M.C. scrimmaged on the 25 yard line, failed to advance and lost the ball. After a kick from Queen's, Harding picked up the muff of an R.M.C. back and scored the first try, which Leadley converted.

From then to the end of the quarter cadets held their own. McPherson and Leadley exchanged kicks and on one or two occasions the R.M.C. backs broke through for good runs. McKelvey started to work on bucks and made ground two or three times, but his work was overbalanced by the effective bucking of the cadets who seemed to find a hole in Queen's line quite easily. The quarter ended with an exchange of kicks between Leadley and McPherson with the odds in favor of Leadley.

Second Quarter.
In the second quarter R.M.C. again opened out with bucking tactics. Johnny Evans stole the ball for Queen's. McKelvey plowed through for yards. Then Harding, on a pass from Leadley, got well away for one of his sensational runs through a broken field, shaking off cadets in twos and threes and advancing about thirty yards. Leadley took the ball for a try as the result of a combination trick play. The attempt at a convert was unsuccessful.

McPherson, with the wind behind him, lifted a beautiful kick-off, the ball just grazing the tips of Harding's fingers and rolling to Queen's deadline for the only point the cadets scored. After the snap at the 25 yard line Queen's advanced steadily until within kicking distance when the ball was booted over to McPherson and Campbell downed him behind the line for another rouge.

No further scoring was done in the second quarter. Gordon, of R.M.C. was hurt but stayed in the game. Half-time; Queen's, 13; R.M.C., 1.

Third Quarter.
In the third quarter Nickle replaced Campbell, Muirhead for Wilson, and Carroll for Morris on Queen's line-up. Mundell fumbled the kick-off and Saylor nailed the ball for Queen's. Leadley again went over for a try on a trick play and successfully converted the point. The kick-off came to Carroll, who returned to McPherson. It was fumbled and Queen's regained it, advancing until Leadley kicked to another rouge. A little loose playing at this point resulted in the exchange of the ball several times. Mundell drew a three-minute penalty for scragging. Minnes and Ludwig replaced Veale and Delahay. Shortly after play resumed Mundell and Leadley had a short argument but no damage was done. Harding and Leadley ran off a series of brilliant runs which resulted in Johnny Evans getting away for a try. The convert did not register.

Play was only going for a few minutes when Harding got over for another try which was converted. The kick-off came to Harding and he returned just as quarter time sounded.

Last Quarter.
Carroll got three minutes ping to start the last period. Saylor broke through and blocked McPherson's kick which was grabbed by Minnes and advanced to cadets' ten-yard line. Cadets kicked and Leadley made a beautiful running catch and advanced through a broken field. Queen's tried to break R.M.C. line and failed. Finally Saylor stole the ball from cadets and Evans went over for a try right after, which was converted.

In the last few minutes of play both teams did some fine running. Leadley opened out two or three times and Queen's secured another try and convert. The game ended with a beautiful 60-yard run by Hughes, the R.M.C. flying wing. Queen's 43; R.M.C., 1.

LITTLE BITS

Argonauts proved that the roar of the Hamilton Tigers was worse than their bite on Saturday when they tore through them for 27 points against 4 of Hamilton. Conacher, the big all-round athlete, starred for the Oarsmen, although sport critics say that he was used altogether too much and was all in when the game was over.

Ottawa Rough Riders lived up to their name and scattered the Montreal players all over the field in the inter-provincial game, finishing up with a score of 20 to 5. Tubman, Gilhooly and Smith lived up to all advance notices and the Ottawa put out a crack team despite the reports that St. Brigid's were reported to be grabbing off all the best players.

In the O.R.F.U. Parkdale's Joe Breen proved too big a pill for St. Brigid's to swallow and they couldn't stop him at all. The final score stood 33 to 7 with St. Brigid's on the small end of the horn. With Breen's running and the kicking of Douglas and Munro the Paddlers were well away and stayed there.

Varsity seniors defeated Varsity Old Boys 21 to 11 in the first game for the Blue and White of the year. Dr. Smittle Lawson captained the Old Boys, and Duncan the regulars. Hill Box and Laddie Cassels were prominent for the Old Boys and Taylor and Snyder for the U. of T. 1921 seniors.

REO

SOME OF THE SIXTY POINTS OF SUPERIORITY IN THE NEW INCOMPARABLE REO SIX:—

- 1—FLAT TUBE RADIATOR—Solid copper and brass throughout, one piece pins, frost proof, flat tubes expand but do not open up through freezing. Practically indestructible. Reo made.
- 2—DETACHABLE—one piece pressed steel radiator cover. Protects the radiator, supports front of hood.
- 3—RADIATOR SUPPORTED ON SUB-FRAME—not subjected to twists and strains as would be on main frame. Always in line with motor.
- 4—FRONT AXLE—One piece, extra heavy, forged. "High Manganese" Steel; heat treated.
- 5—STEERING ARMS—forged integral with steering knuckles, instead of being made in two pieces, which may loosen or let go. For many years an exclusive Reo feature.
- 6—STEERING SPINDLES—have hardened and ground steel bushings—insure more accurate alignment and easier steering than ordinary bronze bushings. Soon will be standard for quality cars.
- 7—STREAMLINE HUB CAPS—distinctively Reo. One piece pressed steel, smooth curved surface, avoids serious injury by planing off when coming in contact with other object.
- 8—FOUR over-size bearings in front hubs—TIMKEN.
- 9—SOLID STEEL HUBS—reinforced flanges. NO MALLEABLE IRON.
- 10—REO STEERING GEAR—exclusively Reo, because patented. Spur and bevel type gears, enclosed and running in oil bath, soft rolling motion, no back-lash, no kick-back.
