

MIRIAM OF QUEEN'S

by LILIAN VAUX MACKINNON

There is the charm and appeal of a quaint town and a real family in this story of the Dauvers, and of the girl who made her dream come true.

Kingston with its college and student activities, its quiet social life, is like some picture in brilliant colors.

Every Queen's student should read this book written by a Queen's graduate.

LAURA HAS MORE TO TELL

About the Rex Stock Company Which Kingston Theatre-goers Like.

The man who can laugh and amuse others, eliciting peals of laughter in response to his honest efforts to put the comedy over, as they say in the theatrical business, is a brick. Mr. Seymour, suffered acutely from a sudden illness during the first week in Peterboro and it has been a great strain upon him to "carry on." The efforts were not apparent, however, and his fun seemed as spontaneous as ever. "Fair and Warmer" was a huge success and the theatre would probably have been filled every night if it had continued for a week.

The vaudeville end of the programme comes in for a large share of the popularity, and deservedly so. Seymour and Williams are in reality Mr. and Mrs. Seymour. I was talking with them the other day and found them most interesting. It was during a period off stage when this pair of clever artists were preparing for their next appearance, that I obtained some of this information. Miss Hazel Williams is short, plump and vivacious. She is just as full of "pep" in real life as she is before the curtain. When she has been in vaudeville for "years" one is apt to wonder how many, because to all appearances she is still very young. Billy Seymour is a head-liner in the vaudeville world. He can sing, dance and tell a funny story—his stage presence is good and there is nothing objectionable in his character-work. For many seasons he played the big circuits, and was a great favorite with the Keith people in all the large American cities.

During the course of our little chat, Mr. Seymour and I discussed the various merits of vaudeville today and yesterday—meaning a few years ago. I can remember when a vaudeville show meant a list of eight or ten acts, each one better than the one before. Then it was a real variety show—singing and dancing, with clever monologues, constituting most of the fun. Nowadays, I find the major part of a programme given over to a skit or one-act play lasting possibly an hour—the rest of the programme being decidedly dull. Mr. Seymour says good vaudeville people are very scarce because the "youngster" is "never given a chance" now, a big city success can get bookings anywhere no matter what his or her value may be, while plenty of splendid material lives and dies away out West for lack of encouragement. Breaking into the conversation, Miss Williams said: "Well, the main thing in vaudeville, is to 'get' your audience quick the minute you come out on to the stage. 'Get 'em and hold 'em.'" You have only fifteen or twenty minutes in which to do it—so you can't afford to take it easy." The vim with which this remark was made, convinced me that fair Hazel knew what she was talking about.

"Johnny on the Spot," is the name of the next attraction offered by the Rex Stock Company. It is a comedy with a hero, who is almost a "rough-neck." Can you imagine Rex taking that sort of role? Knowing his ability, and how versatile he is, I'll say "Yes, I can." But it will be difficult to picture the suave, smooth hero we know so well, as a cow-puncher, and later a stunt rider in the movies. Johnny has a "buddy"—you know what that means? It's American for "chum." This buddy decides that conventional society, especially the high-brow clique into which he was born, is too slow for him, and cuts loose. Result is—he finds himself in jail. I am not going to tell you the story—it really spoils things to know the plot, but I believe there is a surprise.

A Divorce Granted

After many years of patient suffering, you can be divorced from corns, you can get rid of them completely by applying Putnam's Corn Extractor. This wonderful old remedy acts in 24 hours, and never fails. Refuse a substitute, and remember "Putnam's" is the only Painless remedy. 25c. everywhere.

posed "Duke" in the play, a beautiful Long Island home—and of course a girl,—maybe several. I am most anxious to see Miss Vaughn as maid, if she wears conventional maid's attire she will be absolutely irresistible. Do you know, I often wonder who first designed that attractive pretty uniform for maids? Surely it was not a female designer.

From hints dropped by members of the company I have an idea that "Johnny on the Spot" will prove very funny and popular with everybody.

MARRIED IN MONTREAL.

Miss Marjorie Keenan and M. Percy Cooney The Principals.
Rev. Father Melville Dawson officiated Tuesday morning at the church of St. Thomas Aquinas at the marriage of Miss Marjorie Keenan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Keenan, and M. Percy Cooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Cooney, Montreal. Yellow daisies and autumn foliage decorated the church, P. F. Shea, of St. Patrick's church, presided at the organ, and during the ceremony solos were rendered by Miss Irene Dawson, the bride was given away by her brother-in-law, J. Edmund Charada, and wore a French dress of yellow changeable taffeta beaded in silver and mauve with a large brown hat trimmed with ostrich feathers and carried a shower bouquet of callendulas tied with mauve ribbon. She also wore the groom's gift, a string of pearls. Miss Hilda Keenan attended her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a dress of sea green taffeta with a black lace hat and carrying a bouquet of Ophelia and sweetheart roses. The best man was Mr. Jack Cooney, brother of the groom. Mrs. Keenan, mother of the bride, wore navy tricolette embroidered in iridescent beads with a small black velvet hat and corsage of red roses and pansies. Mrs. Cooney, the groom's mother, wore black tricolette trimmed with sable, and with a large brown velvet hat and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a buffet breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Cooney left for New York Washington and Virginia. Going away the bride wore a chiffon velvet dress in sapphire blue, wrap coat of mocha brown-velvet melange cloth trimmed with mocha and a small hat to match. They will reside in the Passadena apartments, Park avenue, Montreal, on their return.

AT COLLIN'S BAY.

Shower Gifts for Miss Pearl Cousins, Bride of October.

Collin's Bay, Oct. 3.—A pleasant time was spent on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Lashford, when a large number of friends of Miss Pearl Cousins, the bride of this month, gathered to give her a variety shower. The house was prettily decorated with asters, and in the arch a large umbrella covered in green and white, in which the presents were hidden from view.

As a few bars of a wedding march were played by Miss L. Wartman, the bride-elect was led blindfolded into the room and the presents were handed to her. She replied in a few well-chosen words.

Refreshments were served, after which all joined a circle and with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close. The good wishes of the whole community will go with Miss Cousins to her new home.

Miss Jean McDonald spent the week with her cousin, Mrs. G. F. Clark. Mrs. George Vanalstyne, who has been ill, is quite recovered. Miss Hattie Ellerbeck, Kingston General hospital, was home on Friday. Miss Miller is visiting Mrs. A. Corkey. Miss Vera Wartman had the misfortune to break her arm while cranking a car. Mrs. Arthur Lane and family, Belleville, spent last week at A. Finley's, J. Lochrie, Queen's, was a week-end visitor at H. Fairfield's. George Marsh and D. J. Rankin have resumed their studies at Queen's.

Mary Bateman, wife of Cyril E. Bateman, Belleville, passed away Friday evening. She had been in poor health for two weeks past and on Friday underwent an operation.
