"I have always taken the view that Ottawa, the capital city, should be represented in the cabinet with or without portfolio, and now that this city has been deprived of its senator, I am afraid it will not add to the strength of the government in the constituencies affected.

Personally, I am naturally disappointed after thirty years' continuous work for the Conservative party in the city of Ottawa, and in the Ottawa Valley, during which I have made large personal sacrifices, having been a candidate in three elections since 1895, defeating the Liberal candidates on all occasions, including the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I feel that this was the opportunity for the government to appreciate my services and promote me to the senate, where my experience in the House of Commons for ten years, and three years in the legislature of Ontario would fit me in many respects for the important legislative work devolving upon the senate."
