"If Off Your Route It Pays to Walk"

Letters to the Editor

An Author Replies.
W. Orange, N.J., Oct. 3.—(To the Editor): Your excellent paper with the review of my book reached me to-day and my compliments to the reviewer who tabulates my sins but fails to see that the very things which she condemns are the steps in the stairway. Her perspicacity in discovering things not related in the book disappointed me when she did not discover that in 1917 I joined the Sinn Féiners in Ireland. I wrote that book for one purpose. I knew that no war could end war. If we are going to destroy war we have to change the spirit within ourselves from one of adherence to institutions, to law, to forms of any kind to faith in the spirit, the life within us. I have just returned from Britain where every one I met is calmly talking of the next war, when it is anticipated that Britain, Japan and Germany will be Allies against the United States. If we are going to prevent the next war, we have each one to commence with ourselves to eradicate the seeds of war within us. In Ireland, where I was present at a meeting of the Sinn Féin diplomats and heard the economic reasons for the unity of Ireland and the spiritual reasons for the independence discussed, I was firmly convinced that the Protestants have to overcome their fears by trusting to the life within themselves to overcome whatever evil they fear. New life is coming to the world, a new consciousness of the power of life such as the early Christians or the early Methodists had and which is always neutralized when people turn from a faith in the life force in man to the form in which they embody it, be that form church or state. There is no virtue in a name. I never deny my early Methodist training was an asset, but its greatest asset to me was that it was possible to outgrow it. I am proud that I was always a pacifist and never trusted to propaganda of the government which every intelligent person recognizes to-day was full of falsehoods. The last war was an economic war and the next war will be one also. All the patriotic motives will be again evoked, but the future will again tear the garments from the propagandists. The only way that we will prevent war is by destroying our own selfishness, our trust in any authority and putting our faith in the spirit of love and truth which is present in every individual. To-day is the time for all professing Christians to decide what their attitude will be in the next war before their minds are poisoned by propaganda.

ONE HAD REAL WHISKEY; OTHER BEER AND LEMON

Couple of Tipplers Told Magistrate About Their Drinks.

The boys with an awful thirst have to drink something, so when they cannot get the real stuff they have to fall back on two per cent. and a dash of lemon extract. The lemon extract puts a little "kick" into it, but the real kick comes when the tippler is hauled before the magistrate.

A thirsty Kingstonian hit up the two per cent. and lemon extract on Tuesday, and fell into the police nets. After giving the court all the details of his experience with mixed drinks, the magistrate closed the case with a fine of $10 and costs, with the option of one month in jail.

There was another tippler in the line-up before the magistrate, but he was bold enough to say that he had been indulging in some real good whiskey, secured on an order from a doctor. However, this did not make him immune from the usual fine of $10 and costs.

Funeral in Vancouver, B. C.

Daily Province, Vancouver, B. C. The funeral services were held on Sept. 27th, from Christ Church for Mrs. Mary Ann Henderson, whose death occurred on Saturday at the home of her son, Stanley Henderson, 901 Chilco street. Rev. C. Swanson conducted the services, which were simple and impressive, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Charles Peter, Thomas White, H. H. Watson, Frank Burd, D. S. Wallbridge and George Campbell.

Many beautiful flowers and expressions of sympathy from Eastern Canada as well as from her many friends in this city, testified to the love and esteem in which the celebrated old lady was held by all with whom she came in contact.

In two months Mrs. Henderson would have celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday, and until only the last few weeks of her life she was a wonderful example of mental and physical vigor. She was loved and admired by all who knew her.

U.F.O. CONVENTION TO CHOOSE CANDIDATE
Is Being Held in Court House
—Who Will Be Chosen?

Farmers from the different U. F. O. clubs in Frontenac invaded the city Wednesday morning for the purpose of attending the nominating convention in the court house, which opened at 1:30 p.m. The north was represented by R. H. Hamilton, Hinchbrook, and John Kennedy, Bedford, both with a strong following. In the south the prominent names are R. J. Bushell, J. L. F. Sproule, R. J. Vair, W. S. Reed, Colin Rogers and A. E. Weller.

One thing some farmers desired to express themselves strongly about was the report that there would be no selection of a candidate, and that Hon. J. W. Edwards, the minister of health, immigration and colonization, would be given an acclamation. There were some who, considering the weakness of the U. F. O. political organization, were inclined to give the minister an acclamation especially because he was a man of outstanding ability and had always fought hard in parliament for his constituents. There were some, too, who thought it utterly useless to run a candidate for there was not a man in the county sufficiently informed on public questions to take the platform with "the doctor." On the other hand, there were those who from policy would concede nothing.

During the forenoon, John A. Kennedy was reported to have the support of the delegates from Wolfe Island, Harrowsmith and Bedford.

H. M. MOWAT ISSUES HIS VALEDICTORY

He Refers to Parkdale Tories
Electing Him as Member in 1917.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—H. M. Mowat, M.P., has addressed the following letter to J. E. MacNicol, president Ward 6 Conservative Association:

Dear Sir: You, like myself, will have learned from the press that the government has seen fit to promote me in my profession. If I am to be a judge, I should straight away observe the universal rule in British countries, to give up political activities and become impartial.

So it may not be possible for me to be present at the public meeting kindly arranged by you for St. Julien Hall Wednesday, where I was to have a special opportunity to discuss current issues with the men and women who are electors of Parkdale. But there can be no impropriety in reminding the ladies and gentlemen present of the new historic fact that in 1917 your association chiefly aided in making me, although then a party opponent, the member of parliament for the most populous single constituency in Canada, because they knew that I felt with them upon a vital public question, which overtopped all others. For this action, which had a notable effect, as well as for their generous goodwill for the past four years, I have a profound gratitude, and my recollection and appreciation will only leave me when I cease to live.

Had I not been taken out of politics I would at the meeting have given back to the association what they gave in 1917. And if I had sought re-nomination I should have made no claim to special consideration merely because I have tried to use the trust as I was expected to do.

Hoping you will all have a spirited and enjoyable campaign and with thanks to all, I am, faithfully yours,
—H. M. MOWAT.
