Life's Social Side

Crowds of visitors filled Mrs. J. Edward Mackay's pretty rooms in the Victoria apartments, Brookville, on Tuesday afternoon, when this Kingston girl received for the first time since her marriage. Mrs. Mackay wore her lovely wedding gown of kitten's ear satin and lace, and her flowers were fragrant American beauty roses. Her mother, Mrs. W. T. Minnes, "Hillcroft," received with her, wearing grey satin with grey lace, and a corsage bouquet of orchids. At the dainty table in the tea room, with its sweetheart roses, creamy carnations and mauve tulle, made more lovely by the soft light of yellow candles, Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. A. Graham Code poured tea and coffee, their assistants being Mrs. Nell Black, Miss Josephine Cossett, and Miss Helen Lewis. Cosmos, those charming flowers of autumn, were about the rooms where Mrs. Mackay was received so heartily into Brookville society.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Nell Black, who is now settled in the charming house in Brookville for a long time the home of Col. and Mrs. W. Buell, who are now in British Columbia, received for the first time in her new home. The spacious rooms were lovely with flowers, and were filled with many visitors. Mrs. Black, who was frocked in navy blue canton crepe, was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Edward Ryan, "Rockwood House," Portsmouth, who was handsomely gowned in black. The table in the dining room was lovely with pink carnations and pink candles.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, OCT. 21ST.

According to the contending astral conditions this should prove to be a day of excitement and baffling situations. Peculiar circumstances may develop which it would be wise to handle with caution and deliberation, as an overweening tendency to strife, irritability and wilfulness may defeat the prospects for success and achievement. Those in the employment of others have particularly good auguries, but these may be nullified by rashness and ill-temper. The best interests will be fortified by self-control and cool management. Litigation would be inadvisable.

Those whose birthday it is have the augury of a successful year if they govern themselves with firm rule, avoiding ill-temper and impetuous actions. Litigation is not promising. Those born in the afternoon have a brighter outlook. A child

THE DECORATIVE LAMP SHADE

Unusual Method of Trimming by Use of Velvet Ribbon Instead of Conventional Gilt Braid.

The lamp shade illustrated shows a rather unusual method of trimming by the use of velvet ribbon instead of the conventional gilt braid. The result is effective and gives a striking appearance to any lamp shade.

To make the shade illustrated purchase a wire frame of the size desired and the shape shown in the sketch. Decide on the color of the silk which is to cover the frame, and get a piece of binding ribbon the same shade. Wrap all the wires on the frame with the binding ribbon. Measure the wire frame to find the amount of silk which will be required to cover it. The silk is sewed smooth around the lower wire of the frame and is plaited in to fit the top wire. Buy enough silk to line the shade. The lining may be the same as the outside covering or a contrasting color may be used with good effect. This India silk is best for making lamp shades.

To cover the frame sew the silk to the lower edge, fitting it smoothly over the wire with no fullness and lap the edges where the silk is joined. Plait in the silk to fit the top wire, and sew it over the top wire, pulling it very tight from the bottom so there will be no wrinkles. Pin the plaits in place first and then sew in place. Buttonhole twist is best for sewing on the silk as it is strong. When the shade has been covered with the silk measure around the top and bottom to find out the amount of velvet ribbon required for trimming. The shade has six stripes of the velvet running from the top of the shade down to points several inches below the bottom. Allow for these stripes when buying the velvet. The velvet ribbon may be any width desired. A piece an inch and a half wide is good. The stripes down the side may be wider if desired. Adjust the velvet ribbon to the shade and sew in place and then put in the lining. To sew in the lining turn in the edge of the silk and sew it inside the shade to the bottom with a hemming stitch. Draw the lining to the top, plait it in to fit, turn in the top edge and fasten as at the bottom. The six panels on the shade are decorated with silk flowers or fruit.

The following recipe is printed at the request of a Gananogue reader of the Whig: Cut the citron in dice about an inch thick. Boil in water with a small piece of alum until clear and tender, then rinse in cold water. Make a syrup of 3/4 pound of sugar to 1 pound of citron; tie 2 oz. of ginger root in a cloth and boil with the syrup. Next, put the citron in and boil until tender or until the fruit can be pierced with a straw. Then add 1 lemon sliced thin to two citrons. Four into sterilized jars.

How to Rid the Arms Of Objectable Hairs

(Aid to Beauty)

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required: Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delatone.

That Miss Annie G. Cannon, an astronomer in an English University, is endowed with a remarkable gift of classifying the distances of stars in the spectrum almost at a glance a feat that would otherwise require laborious measurement. That inexpensive Hallowe'en masquerade costumes can be made from crepe paper. Orange and black with black cats on the orange paper and crescent moons and pumpkins on the black, make an effective frock at a small cost.

That the lend-a-hand circle of King's Daughters held a most successful rummage sale on the island market of Wednesday. Good useful clothes, boots, etc., of real use to the purchasers, were displayed for sale.

That Kingston Humane Society is a live organization that should receive strong support from the public, whose opinion goes a long way in the righting of the wrongs of our dumb friends.
