THE ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN

Short-haired women are banned in Norway. Russia has more than 2,000,000 excess females over males.

Statistics show that women than men are leaving the farms. The Cent Kilo club, of Paris, a club for men weighing 220 pounds, is considering the admittance of women to membership if they weigh 220 pounds.

Professional occupations, such as college women usually engage in, have fewer risks than the industrial and other occupations of non-college women.

Mrs. Amelia Summerford, of Brighton, Eng., who has reached the age of 102 years, attributes her long life to the munching of onions between meals.

In parts of Tyrol the bride's mother gives her daughter what is known as the "tearchief," woven in fine linen, with which she is supposed to dry her eyes at the ceremony.

Mrs. John Gordon Mackenzie, Toronto, is at "Glen Lyon," Emily street.

Miss Walbridge, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. W. C. Phillips, Maitland street.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, OCT. 27. Unsettled and restless conditions are forecast from this day's astral rulership.

The Cent Kilo club, of Paris, a club for men weighing 220 pounds, is considering the admittance of women to membership if they weigh 220 pounds.

Professional occupations, such as college women usually engage in, have fewer risks than the industrial and other occupations of non-college women.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

Here Are Some Pertinent Hints About Family Albums.

Probably every reader whose eyes rest upon this article, has been bored frequently, as has the writer, by friends who persist in showing snapshots taken of themselves and their children and their friends on various pleasure trips.

The old album was in former days even more valuable in starting the conversational ball rolling than the weather, and it had its use, for pictures were an event in those days.

Most persons have not only the good and clear prints, but the cloudy ones, which have to be explained to the stranger—"No, that is not Sally's hair, that is a little bush back of her," instead of tearing up the monstrosities.

There are many unheeded "don'ts" for the camera fiends that no one seems to have the heart to impress upon them, but they should be widely circulated.

Where the pictures are valuable to perpetuate the scenes of a holiday for those who enjoyed it together, paste them in a book and keep them to look over with the crowd, but do not show them without provocation to uninterested friends.

Again, the making of baby books is interesting for the parents, and in later years to the children. But these should be sacred to the family circle.

One very prominent woman is making an unusual scrapbook for her two children. On the first page of the book she has written a little resume of her public life, criticisms of her work and events surrounding the birthdays.

On the following pages are pasted in all of the letters, telegrams, flower cards and list of gifts that came during the arrival and announcement of the births.

Then come the pictures of the babies, with events, ages, weights and all little items of interest in connection with the photographs. The book is linen-covered, and bears the title "History of My Children, by Their Mother." The wee foot and thumb prints are included in the descriptions of the children, and the book is kept in the safe. The idea is unique and carefully carried out, and under such circumstances the snapshots are valuable. She has kept, of course, only the very best ones in all cases.

Instead of making large and mixed scrapbooks, a man who travels extensively makes books of each trip, writing little descriptions under the more important pictures. The scrap library is catalogued so he can find quickly any special thing he may wish.

On Children's Clothes, Too, The Deltor Means Money Saved!

LITTLE frilly, flowery things—sturdy suits with a decidedly bachelor air—diminutive thimble-down bits of clothing that add much pleasure to the first few years of life!

Now you can have the fun of making them yourself and making them for less money than such tiny things could possibly cost hitherto!

Because of a wonderful invention, accompanying every Butterick pattern—the Deltor—any woman, no matter what her sewing experience, can easily make her children's clothes; she can create with her own fingers the dainty little things she has always desired for her family; and—with the Deltor—she can actually save money even on these clothes!

The DELTOR

Saves 50c to $10 On a Gown for Yourself

First, the Deltor gives you an individual layout chart (yes, individual—not just a general chart, but one for your exact size and for each suitable width of material.)

Second, you follow simple picture-and-word illustrations of just how to put together the little garment you are making. Your needle fairly flies, saving hours of time, and you achieve the professional's own delightful results!

Third, vastly important and infinitely small details of finish are revealed to you. Any little whim which the bloomers, blouse or frock you are making, embodies, is clearly explained. Your finished garment, as smart as those in exclusive children's shops, is as sweet as youth itself!

GO to the Butterick pattern counter. And whether you select a child's style or one for yourself, remember that the Deltor saves 50c to $10 on every garment—a saving of 50c to $10 on every garment!

For That French Touch you can give the children clothes—with the Deltor. Advice on the upbringing of children, how to run your house and keep within your income. Brilliant fiction.
