"Nearly Wed." At Grand.

At the Grand tomorrow night you will be introduced to a new variety of specialist. Have you ever heard of a divorce expert? "Nearly Wed," the Rex play for this week, may furnish you with something new in the line of conjugal difficulties. The husband in Edgar Selwyn's clever farce is still in love with his wife, she is the victim of a selfish brother and feels the pangs of exquisite jealousy when she finds Harry with the paid co-responder. This same young lady is a business woman who always has an eye to the main chance. She is equally willing to go on with her paid "rampant" or call it off, provided she receives her stipend. You will see many shows before you are tired such genuinely funny situations as are to be had when the young couple of our sketch start off on their second honeymoon on a rainy night, and are pursued by their friends, the ubiquitous brother and the other woman; wait till you see Rex and Zana extricate themselves from the troublous situation that seem to be overwhelming them. Well, the course of true love never did run smooth, they say, and I only hope that everyone who is involved in marital troubles, will overcome them as do the Rex players in "Nearly Wed."—Adv.

At The Allen.

The new photoplay at the Allen Theatre, for the last half of the week, is "Ace of Hearts," by Gouverneur Morris, and was produced by Goldwyn, who also made this author's powerful story, "The Penalty." Those who saw the latter picture will remember the marvelous impersonation of a legless man by Lon Chaney. This remarkable character actor has one of the three leading parts in "Ace of Hearts." The other leading roles are taken by Leatrice Joy and John Bowers. The story is a powerful drama, dealing with the aim of a fanatical group of reformers to destroy all the evil-doers in the world. They are so obsessed with their idea, that they do not realize that to destroy individuals will not raise the moral tone of the universe. The truth does not come home to the group as a whole; but the girl and the man she loves, who are members of the group, realize that their love is a far greater thing than the destruction of a few overweening materialists. How they find peace and how the designs of their colleagues are thwarted furnish many thrilling episodes. There are some excellent photographic effects, a rain storm at night being particularly effective. The picture was directed by Wallace Worsley.

At The Strand.

The rise of Peter B. Kyne as a writer has been nothing short of phenomenal. A red-blooded man himself, he has written many stories of the Western plains that are as true to life as the living, virile, hard riding and hard shooting figures who once roamed the spaces of the great west. But Mr. Kyne is a deep student and lover of human nature everywhere, and he has been as successful in his stories of city life as he has been with his tales of the outdoors adventure. "The Ten Dollar Raise," remembered with such pleasure by the thousands who read it in the "Saturday Evening Post," is the story of the feature to be shown at the Strand for the latter half of this week. Produced by J. L. Frothingham, with a brilliant cast, this Kyne masterpiece is one of the most impressive photoplays from the pure human interest standpoint that has ever been made. A story of everyday life, of workaday folk, of the ordinary trials and troubles of the average man and woman, yet rich in humor and pathos, and all the elements to make an absorbing picture. "The Ten Dollar Raise" should be seen by all Kingstonians who love to see a slice of real life, such as they know themselves, presented on the silver screen. The cast includes De La Motte, Pat O'Malley, Helen Jerome Eddy, and other favorites of the motion picture world.—Adv.

At Griffin's Theatre.

An event of international importance, the visit to Kingston of the Made in France exhibition train and the showing at the Griffin theatre of the production "France" will take place Thursday Oct. 27th for two performances only. The special train arrives on the Grand Trunk on Thursday and the citizens are cordially welcomed to visit this wonderful array of exhibits. Showing to Canada how France is once more taking her place among the great nations of the world after five years of sorrow, the production presents the most beautiful of French actresses, styles the ladies of France are wearing today. You can visit the Eiffel tower, see Paris from its dizzy heights, the ascent of Mount Blanc, see the scenes your Canadian boys saw. The theatre has been donated by the management for this worthy cause and the proceeds will be given to the blind, maimed and crippled heroes of France as a tribute from Canada and a remembrance of the coast to coast Canadian tour, now nearing an end. A special performance will be given for the school children on Thursday afternoon at 4 p.m. and adults wishing to attend can do so at Griffin's. In the evening, owing to the length of the production, only one performance can be given, so patrons are advised to come early. Doors open 7.30 p.m.—Adv.

Miss Bertha Crawford, the Canadian girl who charmed war-stricken Russia and Poland, will sing in Grant Hall for the first time since her return to Canada, on Thursday evening.

QUEEN'S OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

A Tactical Tour May Be Held —Col. Macphail in Command.

Queen's University Officers' Training Corps held its first parade of the season Tuesday afternoon when the unit which was re-organized last season and began this year's instruction period. Last winter about fifty students availed themselves of the opportunity to fit themselves to secure an officer's certificate in Canada's militia and many were again anxious this year to continue the course. Although a number graduated last spring Tuesday's parade had thirty men, of whom nine were recruits, thus assuring well for the success of the corps this year. The training consists of instruction in drill and lectures on military subjects Queen's corps is at a distinct advantage being in a city where there is a military college and the headquarters of a military district, whose officers lectured last year giving the information on subjects of which they are masters. The weekly parades will be held on Saturday afternoons. As many of the men have overseas experience the elementary drill will be taken by a small squad only.

In order to give the students the very latest in military tactics the officers hope to arrange a tour similar to that held in Kingston this fall. The details will be worked out, if the scheme be carried through, by the staff of the military district No. 3. A proposal is being made that a inter-university indoor rifle league be formed, thus stimulating interest in shooting in the university corps. As this league would embrace all the university corps in the dominion great interest and competition would be assured.

The next parade of the corps will be held Saturday, at which uniform will be issued.

The slate of officers is not at the present time complete, as several who were with the corps last year have graduated. Several appointments will have to be made. The corps is commanded by Col. A. Macphail and the company commanders are Col. P. G. C. Campbell and Major J. L. Morrison.

Capt. E. W. Skinner, who was adjutant of the P.W.O.R. and who is a member of the faculty of science, has been appointed adjutant of the unit. Among the subalterns who were with the unit last year and will be acting this year are Lieutenants G. Keill and Macgillivray.

ST. JAMES MEN'S UNION

Held Supper Tuesday Evening—Prof. Jolliffe Gave an Address.

The first meeting of the St. James' Men's Union was held in the parish hall on Tuesday evening and was an unqualified success. A most delightful supper was served by the ladies of the congregation at 5.30 p.m., and afterwards there was a very entertaining programme of music and addresses. B. Gilbert presided, and Salisbury's orchestra played throughout the evening. The feature of the evening was the singing of popular songs, led by Sydney Smith, who also took a prominent part in organizing the club. Mrs. L. A. Gull was accompanist. Prof. R. O. Jolliffe gave an interesting and instructive address in which he emphasized three important events in human life—birth, marriage and death. He was at times very humorous. Votes of thanks to the ladies and entertainers were moved by N. A. Smith, Dr. Huycke and George Hague.

Students' Christian Movement.

The first of the fortnightly meetings to be held under the auspices of the Students' Christian Movement at Queen's, was addressed Tuesday evening in Convocation hall by Professor J. L. Morrison. The topic for discussion was "Modern Unrest", and the speaker in an inspiring address treated the three types of unrest now prevailing in the world—social, international and religious. In all three the speaker considered that the only solution was Christianity. Following the address a discussion took place, several of the audience taking part and asking questions, on which the speaker gave his opinion. The meeting gave promise of giving much inspiration during the coming season. The meeting this evening at which Dr. Fraser Campbell, of India, will speak, is under similar auspices.

Mowat Hospital Entertainment

The boys of the Mowat Memorial hospital were treated to another fine concert Tuesday night when the military "Y" gathered local talent, who journeyed out there and gave a splendid programme. Among those who took part were: Miss Phyllis Devlin, Miss Frances Devlin, Prof. Jelly of the R.M.C., Jack Elder and Miss I. Goodfellow. The programme was enjoyed immensely by the soldiers and their friends present. George W. Young acted as chairman, Capt. W. C. Ross, supervisor of the military branch of the Y.M.C.A. for Ontario and Quebec, was present and was greatly pleased with the performance. Refreshments were served after the concert, being furnished by the military "Y" and a dance was put on, with music by M. J. Salisbury's ten-piece orchestra.

Three prisoners were brought down from Windsor on Tuesday night for the penitentiary, one being the bandit who was shot in the hip by a police constable and who was given three years. His companion, it will be recalled, died from a bullet wound inflicted by the constable who fired at the two bandits. Kingston had quite a heavy frost Tuesday night, the first of the season.

SPORTING NEWS

CADETS ON THE GRID

The final arrangements have been made with McGill for the R.M.C. senior team to clash with them in Montreal on Saturday next, with the return game in Kingston on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd.

The cadets are very much handicapped, with several of their players in bad shape since the last game with Queen's. Among these are Panet and Williams, and it is not certain whether they will be fit by next Saturday or not.

The practice of the cadets yesterday was very ragged as many of the men were still suffering from wounds and bruises sustained during the last battle.

Company competition at the college is very strong, and some very exciting games of both rugby and soccer have taken place recently, especially when platoons from rival companies oppose each other.

Mundell may not be able to play in the game at Montreal on Saturday, and the cadets would be severely handicapped thereby. However, they intend to put up a strenuous fight with all their old fighting spirit.
