POSSESSES GREAT CHARM

Large Audience Heard Miss Bertha Crawford Sing at Grant Hall.

Thursday night the large audience that filled Grant Hall, to hear Miss Bertha Crawford sing for the first time since her return to Canada, realized to the full, the wondrous charm that held vast crowds of the war-stricken people of Eastern Europe captive. The liquid notes of her perfect soprano, the exquisite sympathy, combined with a marvellous agility and ease, the extraordinary range of her voice, and the absolute sweetness and ease with which she held the high notes till they died away, added to her personal charm and simplicity, make it a small wonder that "The Canadian Nightingale" was the idol of the populace. Such a coloratura soprano is rare indeed, and Kingston is proud to have had the "First Night" for this Toronto girl, who has come back laden with laurels from the lands where so many of the great composers have lived and sung.

Wearing a charming frock of pale pink satin and georgette, a bandeau of diamonds in her golden hair and more diamonds glittering on her white throat, Miss Crawford first sang her famous Aria-Caro Nome, from Rigoletta (Verdi), which was greeted with rapturous applause. Her next numbers were the lovely song, "Down in the Forest," (Ronald), "Solitude Champetre," a gem of Brahms', and another French song, "Retites Roses," (Cesek). The audience was so insistent in its applause, that the prima donna came back and sang Dowak's "Humoresque," set to words. Her last number was the Aria-Ombre Legere (Shadow Dance) from Dinorha, (Meyerbeer) and as the audience recalled her again and yet again she came out with her accompanist, Mr. Robb, and sang "The Last Rose of Summer," with exquisite sweetness, the liquid notes falling as softly as the petals of the departed companions of the "Last Rose."

Douglas Stanbury, who has a good baritone voice, was most popular with his audience. His rendering of the "Sands O'Dee," that immortal song, showed much dramatic power and "Fuzzy-Wuzzy," (Kipling), sung in response to repeated recalls was loudly applauded. Harry Adaskin, a clever young violinist, played two delightful numbers by Kreisler and "Souvenir de Moscow" (Wladawski) with a skill and sympathy that won the audience. His allegro passages were excellent and his interpretation most intelligent. He was recalled again and again, kindly responding by playing "The Rosary" (Neyen), in a way so much to the liking of his audience, that they coaxed him back to play a Scotch Lullaby, which he did most sweetly. Harvey Robb, who was the accompanist, was noticeably good, a fine pianist, yet always subordinating his instrument to the soloist. The audience was a large and representative one, the music lovers of Kingston showing their appreciation of the committee of the University Concerts that brought such a splendid concert to Kingston.

MET DEATH IN COLLISION.

Matthew A. Ryan Killed Near Albion, N.Y., on Monday. Further particulars have been received in the city regarding the death of Matthew A. Ryan, brother of Dr. Edward Ryan, Rockwood Hospital. Deceased, who was fifty-eight years of age, was in Kingston on a visit just three weeks ago.

Deceased was one of the most extensive sandstone quarry owners and operators around Albion, N.Y., and was killed on the afternoon of Oct. 24th, when his Ford coupe was demolished by a westbound passenger train of the Rochester, Lockport & Buffalo Railway Company, at the Richard Road grade, two miles east of Albion. Mr. Ryan left his home in Albion in the morning, and visited several quarries near Hubertton, in which he was interested. He was about a few hundred feet from the Filkins' quarry in Richard road, to which he was going when he was struck by the train which did not stop at Richard crossing.

The approach to the crossing from the south is a deep cut in the rock, and the view of the approaching train from the east was cut off as Mr. Ryan approached the crossing from the south until he was within fifty feet of the railway tracks. The auto was struck and thrown to the west of the highway against a power transmission line pole.

Small pieces of the body were scattered along the south side of the rails a distance of 245 feet to where the badly twisted chassis lay. An inquest was ordered to be held next week.

Mr. Ryan was a widower. He leaves three children, James Ryan, of Batavia; Lieut. Edward Ryan, of the U.S. Army, who recently graduated from West Point, and is now in Florida, and Miss Corinne Ryan, Albion, who is attending school at Buffalo. Mr. Ryan was recognized as one of the most expert quarry owners and operators in the country and for years has been a large producer of fine sandstone from several quarries in central Orleans county. He was a member of St. Joseph's church at Albion, and a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.
