HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time. In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS which has been on the market for the past forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dumfries, Ont., writes:—"My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head, which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends, who were in a similar condition, and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous—and the joy is its harmlessness. A large sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. Police Court Happenings.
Fighting in the old Homestead Factory, at Picton, with Frank Robbins cost Wales Ferguson $35 on the former's complaint. Robbins was badly battered about the face. Both were put under bond to keep the peace.
Disorderly conduct cost Messrs. Swartz and Finkiesteen, fish buyers, a total of $41 in the Picton police court. They had attempted to put over a practical joke, showing badges, presumably as constables, while saying they would arrest Alexander McDonald. The scene of the horse play was the Picton Cafe.

TORONTO SCHOOL VISITED
By Miss E. Lillian Mowat Who Gives an Interesting Account.

On invitation of Mr. Bulmer, principal of the Perm Avenue School, Toronto, I spent a very pleasant and profitable afternoon inspecting his school with over 1,500 pupils in attendance, and with its own Domestic Science and Manual Training equipment. There are three auxiliary classes for the crippled children, the backward children and those with weak hearts, who need special care. By backward, I do not at all mean deficient, but backward in one or more subjects. One little girl of eight is a first-class reader and well on in geography and spelling, but very poor in arithmetic and writing. She is given special attention in those subjects. I heard a singing lesson given to these children and was very much struck by the vein with which they sang. They certainly are not backward in musical effort. The delicate children get milk and biscuits every morning at 10.30 o'clock, and those who seem to require it have an egg as well. There are stretchers provided so that the children may rest when necessary. These children are from five to thirteen years of age. The cripples are surprisingly agile. One little boy who has never walked and never will probably, has a little motor go-cart and goes like the wind around the class room and through the corridors.

A lesson in writing interested me greatly. It was given in rhythm to a gramophone's directions, while the teacher walked through the aisles supervising. The senior third class gave a remarkably good recitation in unison of "Polly the Cows are in the Corn," the voices blending most harmoniously.

The girls in the sewing class were most of them making aprons, fancy and otherwise, for their mothers' Christmas gifts. Some of them have made their own dresses for school wear and many have made blouses. Their ages are from eight to twelve. The babies, just out of kindergarten, sang very prettily for me, but the best was kept for the last, the choral singing by the school children trained by Miss Hunter. They did really wonderful part singing, quite unaccompanied. "Lift Thine Eyes," from the "Elijah," a difficult number, was marvellously well done. They also gave "Annie Laurie," "Down in Ole Virginny," and a beautiful rendering of Poe's "Bells." Mr. Bulmer and Miss Hunter may well be proud of their choir.

I was rejoiced to think that now with our own Mr. Hill we have a chance to emulate the Toronto schools, for there is plenty of talent among our children if it can only be properly directed.

We wound up our afternoon of nearly three hours' inspection with a cup of tea in the principal's office served by the Domestic Science mistress and very welcome it was.

—E. LILLIAN MOWAT.

The Sick Chicken Recovered.
This story is touched for at the golf club house: A very well known citizen had a sick chicken and decided to put it out of its misery. He took it to the cellar and wrung its neck. The furnace had been started, and thinking to save the trouble of putting the carcass in the garbage can he placed the bird on top of the coal. Later he went down to see how the furnace fire was progressing, and when he opened the door, out flew the "deceased" chicken, which has been perfectly well ever since, despite the fact that it had its neck wrung and was placed in a furnace for cremation.

At Child Welfare Station.
The lantern views which were to be shown to the children of the Neighborhood Welfare Class in the Welfare station on Saturday afternoon, turned out to be a very disappointing affair to the kiddies, as owing to an unavoidable accident the lantern refused to work and the entertainment could not be given. Secretary George Young of the Military "Y," who had charge of the proceedings, organized a general "sing-song" to take its place and promised a real treat for next Saturday. Ice cream and cakes, furnished by Mrs. John Wright, were served, and this helped greatly to make up the loss to the youngsters. Miss Jack, Mrs. Frances Robinson and Mrs. Miller assisted in serving the refreshments.

Bay. The several cheese factories will close for the season next week. Mrs. Thomas Degnem, who has been ill, is much improved.
