WINTER BERTH PROTECTION

For About Sixty Steamers at the Wharves in Kingston Harbor.

Kingston harbor is now in fairly good shape as a result of the dredging carried out this year around some of the wharves and the channel leading into the inner harbor. A survey of the wharves shows that there is ideal winter berth protection for about sixty steamers, and this fact is to be made known by local marine men who desire to see Kingston harbor made the winter headquarters for a number of the inland navigation companies.

Last winter the Mathews, C. S. L. and Key boats were tied up here, but there is now room for a great many more. There is plenty of water inside the LaSalle causeway where all vessels are safe from ice and wind. The water is the same depth throughout the year in this harbor, so there is no danger at any point available for big steamers.

J. M. Campbell, president of the Kingston Navigation Company, is anxious to see Kingston get all the benefit possible from the harbor and he is making strong representations to other companies to utilize the splendid facilities here for wintering vessels. This will mean a large expenditure of money in Kingston in the way of repairs to hulls, fittings and machinery and profitable employment for a large number of men. The close of navigation is now approaching and it would be well if the mayor would have the secretary of the industries committee issue a circular to the principal lines pointing out the advantages of Kingston as a winter berth and the facilities in the form of skilled labor and machine shops, available here for outfitting.

W. J. Moore & Sons, Headquarters
For Children's Toys.

W. J. Moore & Sons, well-known dealers in automobile tires and accessories, Wellington street, have opened a new department, which consists exclusively of toys of all kinds for children. There is a very large assortment, not only for the ordinary requirements of children of all ages, but to meet the special demands of the Christmas trade. There are all kinds of mechanical toys, trains and animals, games, dolls and Christmas decorations. On Saturday, the display was opened for the first time and the announcement of the firm is received with delight by all the children of the city. Moore & Sons is now the headquarters for children's toys in Kingston.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

A big gale raged on the lake on Friday night, and as a result a large number of vessels were forced to remain in port.

The steamer Edmonton was among the vessels windbound in port, also the steamer John Rougee.

The tug Mary Robinson was in port on Saturday, on her way to Cornwall.

A number of coal carriers are windbound at Oswego.

The schooner St. Louis has gone into winter quarters at this port.

Kingston Teachers' Institute.

The final session of the Kingston Teachers' Institute was held on Friday afternoon in the Robert Meek school. Dr. G. A. Cornish, Toronto, gave an instructive lecture on "Living Plants and Animals," and the report of J. G. Ettinger on the Ontario Educational Association was read. Inspector J. R. Stuart gave a short address on the physical culture work in the schools, which has become greatly developed in the city during the past few years.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, W. G. Kidd; president, J. J. Carty; vice president, Mr. T. McKee; secretary-treasurer, Miss H. E. Bamer; assistant secretary, Miss G. Hipson; executive, the president and vice president, and G. Scott, Inspector J. R. Stuart, Miss F. Ryder, Miss A. Boyd and Mrs. N. Gallagher; auditors, Miss H. Connolly and Miss E. Wilder; delegates to O.E.A., Miss Maud Sanderson and G. Scott.

Rotary Company at Grand.

Although the Rotary Club was among the missing at the Grand last night, as well as Billy Hargrave's false teeth, the house was crowded to capacity as usual and nobody was disappointed who went there to see the Rex Company. The scenery in this play is really the best that the Rex Company have ever shown here, and that is saying a lot. The specialties by the Park Kiddies and William Yule, a former Kingston boy, are features. Billy's Tombstone will be shown at the bargain matinee this afternoon and for the last time on Saturday evening.

Kingston Hunters Leave.
The Kingston hunters are leaving the city in groups these days for the big game runways. In addition to deer, partridges are this year included in the open season and the hunters need not come empty-handed. Reports from the north state that partridge are very numerous and deer are to be seen farther south than in previous years.

NOTED MUSHROOM GROWER

Westbrook Man Shows Fourteen Varieties That Are Edible.

Andrew Aylesworth, Westbrook, in the vicinity of Kingston, is probably the highest authority on fungi, from the view-point of the practical value of this plant. Mr. Aylesworth is a constant attendant at the Kingston city market and one day last week he had on sale no less than fourteen different varieties of mushrooms, all of which are edible. One can imagine the patient industry and keen perception called into operation in order to learn the secrets about mushrooms and be able to distinguish with absolute certainty those fit for food and the poisonous varieties. It must be remembered that some fungi bearing a close resemblance to the edible varieties are fatally poisonous, and almost every year someone is poisoned simply because of inability to distinguish the difference. Mr. Aylesworth was a visitor at the Whig office recently and exhibited his mushrooms, also one kind known as the Scarlet Cap which is mildly poisonous. Nearly all kinds grown in the vicinity of Kingston.

The Ontario department of agriculture has issued a bulletin (No. 236) entitled "Mushrooms of Ontario," by R. E. Stone, Ph.D. This report is designed to enable any person to distinguish the common edible from the poisonous, for the mushroom is a very great delicacy.

MORRISBURG MAN

Offers Proof That U. S. Soldiers Were Shot.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Talking with the Canadian Press over long distance telephone from Morrisburg, Ont., J. J. Fry, of that place, admitted authorship of a telegram to Senator Watson, of Georgia, stating he could furnish a volume of additional evidence to the senator's charges that United States soldiers were hanged and shot in France without trial. He refused, however, to make further statements other than to say that he was in communication with Senator Watson.

Mr. Fry stated he had had no direct connection with the army and had not been overseas.

Don't Guess About Butter

BE SURE IT IS

Victoria Brand

HEATHMADE CARBONATED
CREAMERY

We guarantee that Victoria Brand is purest and with ordinary care will keep until used.

Remove the cause or trouble.

10% of the cubic volume of Butter consists of tiny bubbles of contaminated germ laden air, which sets up fermentation and causes the butter to go rancid. Through the carbonating process this air is removed from the cream before it is churned and replaced by CO₂ (carbonic acid gas). This gas is nature's food as yeast is in bread. Ask your doctor what he thinks of it.

INSIST ON HAVING IT

It may not be the lowest priced Butter—
it costs money to make Butter by this process, but We Guarantee Victoria Brand is
