DO YOUR GLASSES NEED RE-ADJUSTING? THEY HURT MY NOSE!
OUR eyes should be examined at least every two years, but your glasses should be adjusted at more frequent intervals. Not only should they fit your nose and if you wear spectacles should the bows rest securely behind your ears, but they should remain in front of your eyes so adjusted that the exact centre of the lens is in juxtaposition with the centre of your eye pupil. IN THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

The Student Christian Movement Meeting—Arts '23 Took Levonia Debate.

Prof. John Matheson was the speaker at the meeting of the Student Christian Movement in Convocation hall Wednesday evening. The subject, "How Far Should Custom Determine Our Standards of Conduct," was dealt with by the speaker who pointed out that it is not always well to hamper a free spirit. Following the brief address a short discussion took place. The subject has been discussed among the study groups meeting at various rooming houses where students group leaders are living.

The Levonia Society meet Wednesday afternoon when the programme was the final debate between the representatives of '23 and '25, the winners of the preliminary debates. The negative of the subject of debate, "Resolved that the invention of modern machinery increased the sum of human happiness," was supported by Miss Ruth Redmond and Miss Marion McFayden of Arts '23 and was awarded the decision. The affirmative, debated by the freshmen, was supported by Miss Lois Taylor and Miss Ruth Hossman. The interesting programme attracted a goodly attendance.

The Choral Society met for re-organization purposes on Wednesday afternoon.

Further issues of uniforms were made on Wednesday to members of the G. T. C. who were not fitted out at previous parties.

It is likely the lady rosters at the game on Saturday will add a bright touch to the support which will be offered the team when they will wear tams made of the tricoler. It will be up to the men to get some distinctive head gear.

The snow storm of Wednesday delayed the work at the rink, the gang working on the cement mixer being the only ones able to get ahead. The steel construction is very nearly completed, the work going more slowly at the last span and end parts, due to the necessity of doing more of the work by hand. The carpenters are getting in their work now and bolting the wooden beams to the steel in preparation for the sheathing. If the cold weather settles down the men will be working under considerable difficulties.

At the meeting of the Polecon club Wednesday evening, the timely subject of "The Tariff Platform of the Three Federal Parties," was the subject of discussion, the speakers pointing out the good and bad points of each. This club was the main attraction at the college last evening and drew a large attendance.

The Naturalists met at the new medical building on Wednesday and were addressed by Prof. A. B. Klugh on "Photographic Printing Papers." The speaker, who has done much work in this important line, was much enjoyed.

The proofs of the student directories have been posted at the college for corrections to be made.

Commencing Thursday morning, Dr. Alex. McMillan, of Toronto, is lecturing to the students of the Theological college on "Hymnology." He will be at the college for several days, giving the course of several lectures on this important subject.

The snow has for another year broken in on the interfaculty and faculty sports. The rugby schedule between the years are partly through and the soccerites are still at it. In all the storm of Wednesday afternoon a game was in progress on the lower campus. As so often occurs unless the weather returns fine again, it is likely that, like last year, the interfaculty championship games will be decided on frozen and snow-covered ground.

Like Queen's rugby team, after being for several years apparently a back number, "Alfie" Pierce, for many years a familiar figure around Queen's, as trainer of the teams, has come into the limelight again. "Alfie" has come into much prominence this year and is becoming as well known to the new generation of students attending the university as he was to the many graduates who passed through when "Alfie" was employed. Perhaps Queen's were wise in sending from Toronto for the old standby to be on hand to lend his whisper to the cheering crowd of tri-color supporters of last Saturday's game. "Alfie" takes in all the practices of the team.

LATE ROBERT DOBSON WAS TEACHER OF MARK BORN IN 1839, HE TAUGHT IN PICTON FOR THIRTY-TWO YEAR.

There died in Picton on Nov. 2rd, Robert Dobson, M.A., who was born in Orono, Durham county, July 19th, 1839. The late Robert Dobson received his education chiefly from Victoria University and the University of Toronto. His first position was taken at Lindsay, as principal of the high school, where he taught with efficiency. He made his first appearance in Picton as the principal of the high school in that town, which position he held for thirty-two successive years. About eight years ago he was honorably retired as emeritus, after long and faithful service. He had fully established his right to rank with the foremost instructors of his day, when, under his tuition and influence was laid the foundation of an education that has resulted in a brilliant and successful career for many who are well known.

Mr. Dobson was a zealous student of national and Bible history. He read also with deep interest the best of French literature, which language he enthusiastically admired and commended to all who would seek a refined education. He was, in religious belief, a Methodist, and his voice was frequently heard in the ministry, though he was not called for ordination.

The late Robert Dobson suffered a stroke one year ago, and has passed to his reward, held in the highest esteem not alone for his richly cultivated mind, but also for his kindly refined and Christian character.

Mr. Dobson married in early life, Susanah Gillbank, Orono, Ont., and their family surviving are: Harvard Dobson, Detroit; Mrs. Claude Grimam, Kingston; Mrs. George Thresher, Thorold; Mrs. Claude Grimam, Kingston. His second marriage was with Mrs. Eliza Spencer Stinson, member of a prominent pioneer family in Prince Edward county, who survives her husband.

GEN. KING UNVEILS PETERBORO GENOTAPH

In Memory of Those Who Died in the Great War.

In commemoration of the noble dead, impressive services were held by the Great War Veterans' Association at Peterboro on Thanksgiving day, and the beautiful chaste cenotaph that stands on the lawn of the G.W.V.A., a lasting memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice, was unveiled by Brigadier General W. B. M. King, D.S.O., C.M.G., G.O.C., M.D. No. 3.

The hope of Brig.-Gen. King was that there will be no more war. He hoped for the success of the disarmament conference. "I know, and these men know, what war was in its deadliest form and we do not want to see any more."

To the friends and relatives of those who died, he said he believed their loved ones died peacefully. He had never failed to find an expression of peace on dying soldiers' faces, he said. He believed the heroes were now soldiers with Him.

Had A Family Reunion.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Whelan, Westport, on Thanksgiving day. Those present were Rev. Father W. Whelan, Belleville; Rev. Sister M. Marina, supervisor of schools; and Rev. Sister M. John the Baptist, Kingston; Rev. Sister M. Loyola, Perth; Mrs. Lynch and children, Westport; Miss Anice Whelan, Queen's University, Kingston; Miss Frances Whelan, B.A., of the Cornwall high school staff; Miss Mary Williams, St. Vincent de Paul hospital, Brockville; Mr. T. J. Ryan, Brantford, and J. H. Whelan, St. Michael's College, Toronto.

A VETERAN LADY.

She Died At Her Home In Florida, Frontenac County.

In the passing away on Oct. 31st of Mrs. William Martin at her home in Florida at the age of ninety-seven, Frontenac loses one of its pioneers. She was born in the township of Mountain, of U.E. stock. When a small child she came with her parents to the farm where now resides her only surviving brother, Benjamin Campbell, of the village of Hartington. Then there was only a small clearing, known as Denison's Corners. Over seventy years ago she was married and moved to Florida to the farm where she died. She is survived by two sons, Edward, of the homestead, and William, Odessa. She was a life-long Methodist. Her kindly disposition and upright Christian character made her loved and respected by all. Rev. Mr. Latimer Wilton, conducted the funeral service and paid loving tribute to her faith and trust in God and the things pertaining to the kingdom that is no of this world. She was laid to rest in Wilton cemetery beside her husband.

Husband's Honeymoon Habit.

How would you like a honeymoon lasting forty years? An American, named Joe Pickner, and his wife, started out in a covered wagon for a honeymoon journey from Chicago shortly after their marriage in 1877, and the trip lasted until a few years ago. Pickner was seventy-five years old when he died recently in his tent near Glenrock. At the time of their marriage his wife was sixteen years old. Unable to get on well with his father, a rich brewer, Pickner determined to go "on tour." So he and his wife set out on their long honeymoon, visiting almost every part of the United States.
