SPORTING NEWS

One Chance of Winning. A Toronto despatch says: McGill defeated Queen's easily three weeks ago, but many who saw that game declared the score was no criterion of the play. McGill may win, but their only possible chance of doing so is for their backs to play away above the speed they have shown so far this year.

Seat Sale Fast. The seat sale for Saturday's senior intercollegiate fixture between Queen's and McGill here is fast drawing to a close. Despite the wintry aspect of the general landscape, the rugby fans are going to be out in force for this last game of the season. It means the championship chance to McGill and they will fight hard.

Athletic Director Awrey reports that Montreal supporters have reserved a large block of seats in the grand stand and will be coming up here in crowds.

To Clean Away The Snow.

The playing field at the George Richardson memorial stadium, where the final game of the Intercollegiate Rugby league, between McGill and Queen's, will be played on Saturday afternoon, was covered with six inches of snow on Thursday. It was stated on Thursday morning that it was the intention of the athletic board of control to shovel the field during the day. The ground is real firm so it is expected that when the snow is removed the playing field will be in first-class condition.

The members of the Queen's team are fully confident that they can defeat McGill on Saturday. On Wednesday afternoon, although the snow was falling fast and there was about three inches of snow all over the field, the team had one of the best practices of the season. Every player was on the job. The team came out of the game with Varsity in Toronto on Saturday last without an injury.

McGill and Queen's.

The Montreal Herald says: Shag intends to give Queen's famous running half-back—Leadley and Harding—some worthy opposition. With a line which is recognized as the strongest in the Inter-collegiate, McGill victory depends entirely on whether the tackling of the Red and White is able to smother the work of the crack Queen's back division.

The analysis of the much-discussed Varsity-Queen's game discloses that in 32 attempts at making yards Varsity could only move the stick five times, while Queen's in 30 attempts were successful 10 times. Varsity did better than this against McGill, while Queen's were away ahead of the Montreal collegians. The main reason seemed to be that Queen's were considerably faster in attack than McGill and faster even than Varsity. What is meant by this is that there was a smaller lapse of time from the snapping of the ball until it was carried past the line of scrimmage. Further, Queen's had more men in each play than Varsity. Again and again Varsity sent the ball-carrier single-handed against the line, and even when he did pierce it there was no one there to help him along or take the ball if opportunity presented itself.

Toronto opinions are that if Queen's plays anything like as well against McGill next Saturday as they did against Varsity there should be no doubt as to the outcome. They have shown conclusively that they have a most powerful team.

County Hockey.

Although it will be a few weeks before there will be ice for the county hockey teams, the Frontenac fans think that it is nearly time a meeting was called to make plans for the winter. There is a feeling among the players that the league should be completely re-organized under a new management. On several occasions, the statement has been made that the county hockey league was operated for political purposes. It is understood that the management of the Sydneyham and Wolfe Island teams, which were entered in the league last winter, have decided to play only exhibition games this season.

Dominion Rugby Finals.

The rest of senior Canadian rugby finals will be played in Toronto on Saturday, November 14th, although it is not yet known who the contestants will be. If Queen's defeat McGill on this coming Saturday Argonauts and Varsity will meet. If McGill pull out with a win, tying up the intercollegiate, Parkdale and Argos will meet in the semi-finals.

We veterans in Kingston are, without doubt, the most fortunate of any in Canada. While others are trying to organize to put a veteran candidate in the field, we already have one in the person of Dr. Ross—a soldier and a man—not a Barrieffield hero or a Shorncliffe ornament, but a man whose outstanding characteristic has been his willingness to sacrifice himself in order to serve others, a real man who from the very first was where the "goings" was hardest. We all know that if the veterans are to get what they want, getting
