CADETS NOT STRONG FOR VARSITY GAME

Three Good Men Out—Queen's Quiet But Determined to Turn Tables on McGill.

On the eve of the first game in the finals of the intermediate intercollegiate rugby series comes the distressing announcement from the Royal Military College that the team may play Toronto tomorrow far below its usual strength. This is indeed unfortunate but is no cause for undue worry.

Mundell's shoulder has not improved very much and is still so serious that it is not thought possible that he will be used. Swabey has a bad knee and will also be out of the game. Norris is in hospital with tonsillitis. This certainly is rather hard luck for the cadets, to lose their captain and star quarter for the first game of the finals.

However, the cadets, like Queen's their sister college, fight best under difficulties and the Varsity II squad has some work out for it. If the Blue and White men adopt the kicking and running game they will find themselves up against opponents and past-masters of the art, and, if heavy work is resorted to, they could not pick on a tougher crew than the cadets. Both Queen's seniors and intermediates will certify to that.

For the senior fixture here there is not much to be said. The tricolor camp is rather quiet but there is an air of determination about the players that speaks well for the chances of the team on Saturday. The Queen's squad is hard as nails and Shaughnessy's men will meet a team conditioned second to none in Canada. Many McGill supporters are expected for the conflict, and, as the Red and White will put up a desperate fight, it promises to be a memorable struggle.

Queen's third squad men are commencing to get a little restless. No announcement has yet been made as to what team the juniors will meet next or where the game will be played. The boys are practising faithfully and keeping in condition and can be relied upon to give a good account of themselves when their opponents are announced. In all probability Varsity III will be the team.

Have Left for Toronto.

The Royal Military College team will leave this afternoon for Toronto, and will go up against Varsity on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. Outside of Mundell, Swabey and Norris, the line-up will be the same as in the last game with McGill, and though handicapped to a large extent by these men being on the sick list, nevertheless the scarlet and white are conceded a victory over the Toronto aggregation. Tomorrow night one of the teams will have to limp home with their first defeat of the season checked up against them. The return game will probably be played in Kingston on Wednesday afternoon next.

Flowers!

Queen's are most certain winners over McGill if one considers the dope, and there is perhaps more truth than poetry in that statement. This tricolor team is evidently a battling aggregation that can play football, and the way they mauled Varsity roused Saturday inclines to the belief that had they started in the first half Saturday as they finished, the Dominion championship flag would wave in Kingston, this year.—Ottawa Journal.

Chicago and Michigan met on the gridiron for the first time in 1892 and the Wolverines were victorious, 18 to 10.

IS JENNINGS TO SUCCEED MCGRAW

J. J. Said to be Planning Retirement—Has Won Two World's Series.

HUGHIE JENNINGS Rumor will not down that Hugh Jennings will pilot the New York Giants during the 1922 season. Realizing a sixteen year ambition — that of winning two world's championships—John J. McGraw is said to be planning to retire from active leadership of his club.

It has now been several years since McGraw made the statement that he was getting a bit too elderly for active field duty, but that he intended to stick in the game until he had won another world's title. Now that the Giants have won the series, it would not be surprising to hear that McGraw had relinquished the reins in favor of Jennings.

Spotlight Notes

Yale and Harvard began their football relations in 1876.

Frank McDonald, a left-hander who has been signed by the Boston Americans, has spent the summer pitching for an independent team in Lynn, Mass.

Glen Myatt, catcher, and Ivy Griffith, first baseman, have been released to Milwaukee by the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Harvard enrollment of freshmen has passed the 1,000 mark. The freshman football coach looks auspicious at the figures.

Yale is expected to be a contender with Penn and Harvard for the holding of the intercollegiate track and field championships.

Nine baseball clubs from the United States and Hawaii are planning to invade Japan this winter. The University of California team recently completed a tour of Japan while the University of Washington squad recently sailed for that country.

Tom Carmody, who won many games for the Pittsburgh Collegians the past season, is now a student in Carleton Tech. He should be valuable assistance to the Plaid pitching staff next spring.

"BIG FIVE" CHANGES NAME

To Be Known as "Western Canada Hockey League."

The name of the Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton professional hockey loop was changed from "The Big Five" to the "Western Canada Hockey League" at a meeting of hockey delegates from the three cities interested. The change was necessary by reason of the amalgamation of the two Calgary clubs. The league will consist of Edmonton Eskimos and Dominions, Calgary hockey club, and Saskatoon Crescents.

The Association will open its schedule on December 12th and close on March 3rd with the final game of the play-off between the two leading teams.

To Sell Racing Stable. D. J. McDonald, well-known race horse owner of Winnipeg, is going out of the racing game and is selling his entire stable. Phil Patch, 2,051-1-2, one of the leading pacers in Canada, losing only four races this season, is among the horses to be sold.

CONVERTS AND TRYS

Toronto city rugby foot ball league has thirty-one teams enrolled.

It seems but yesterday since the first football practice was held at Queen's, with Jack Evans, Jack McKelvey, and a half-dozen others out kicking and running while the baseball season was still on high.

The Argonauts may win the Dominion title and they may not. In any event they are fortunate that they do not have to face Queen's.

Prayers and good wishes of Kingston fans follow the cadets to Toronto, where they meet Varsity II in the first game for the intermediate intercollegiate championship.

"Alty" Pierce, speaking of the game in Toronto, of which he was an eye-witness says: "That was just a warning to the rugby world of what is going to happen in the next few seasons to come."

Very little can be told of what will happen between the intermediate intercollegiate semi-finalists. As the teams have played in widely different groups there is no basis for judgment.

Interest in this Saturday's rugby games will centre in the McGill-Queen's game at Kingston. Locally the fans can see nothing to it but Queen's and the latter are also very confident that they will put Shaughnessy's team out of the running. Hugh Gall will be one of the officials.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Many Kingston fans have a hunch that something that will live in rugby history is going to happen at the Queen's Richardson stadium on Saturday. One can scarcely blame them, considering the rest of this year's intercollegiate series.

Argonauts will entertain the Ottawa Rough Riders on Saturday. It would be a case of a clean sweep if Argos win out, as the odds favor, but the Ottawas would carry a lot of glory home with a victory, also.

The R.M.C. seniors left today for Toronto to meet Varsity II. They are not unduly confident but can be depended upon to acquit themselves creditably.

To Have a Strong Team. It is expected that a strong team will be placed in the Military Association Football League by the staff of the Royal Military College. Several splendid footballers are serving at the R.M.C., including Captain Finney; Sergt.-Majors Westler, Huggins and Preston; and Sergt. Richardson, and it is felt that they should put up a strong fight for the possession of the "Whig" challenge trophy.

Hope to Show Up Better. Although the Highland Cadets were defeated by a local football team on Monday last when they played at the R.M.C. field, they are by no means discouraged, and in the return match hope to give a better account of themselves. And in the meantime they are eager to take on any aggregation of young aspirants for rugby honors.

Hockey Star Joins Falcons. Joe Olson, the flashy wing player of the champion Toronto Varsity hockey club, will play with the Winnipeg Falcons in the Manitoba League this coming winter. Olson started his hockey career with the Falcons, but developed into a star while attending the Toronto University.
