IN THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

Nominations Are Made for the Alma Mater Society Elections.

At the regular meeting of the Alma Mater Society, Saturday evening, the nominations of the students to contest the offices in the elections which will be held December 3rd were made.

The following are the candidates for the other offices—1st vice-president, J. T. M. Wilson (theology), H. P. Salter (arts '23), and W. H. Becking (arts '23); 2nd vice-president, J. M. Givens (medicine '23) and E. A. Davidson (medicine '23) and A. Abernethy (medicine '25); secretary, F. V. Deamude (science '22) and A. Hamilton (science '22); assistant secretary Miss Gertrud Deadman and Miss Georgina Ettinger; treasurer, V. Minnes (science '23) and H. C. Hunter (science '24).

As the election is two weeks away the appointing of the various scrutineers and officers for carrying on the election will be done next Saturday evening.

The election of the members for the board of control will take place later in the year. Several vacancies will be filled, including that of Prof C. W. Drury who has resigned.

Some of the students interested in curling are thinking of getting their hand in at the game this winter, and are considering re-organizing the now defunct curling club which used to exist among the undergraduates.

As a result of further developments communications will be carried on by the Levana society with the view of participating in a debate with McGill girls.

It was left for the midgets to "cop" a championship again this year and Karl Quinn, who was a deciding factor in the winning of the junior hockey title last winter, was again in the foreground booting the team to victory.

The play-off of the interfaculty games will wind up the rugby season at Queen's. There has of late years been some attempt to have these games played off earlier in the season but again this year the games will likely have to be played off under rather bad playing conditions.

In preparation for the annual performance of the dramatic club in Grant hall the members of the club have been preparing scenery and the necessary equipment.

Letters to the Editor

Learned Professor Taken to Task.

Elginburg, Ont., Nov. 18.—(To the Editor): Many of the good things that you place in your excellent paper make enjoyable reading, but sometimes we get wormwood articles that make us draw a long face.

It is said by reliable authority that Ontario has 150,000 autos for pleasure. Should we possess those autos today if we had not had prohibitory laws, which have enabled so many of the unfortunate victims of the drink curse to get deliverance, and now able to purchase an auto instead of poisoning his body and enriching a few liquor sharks?

—REV. JOHN PUTTENHAM.

A lot of times it's mighty hard work to get side-tracked ambition back on the main line.

"He thinks he's a particularly bright social light." "Not any longer—he's been turned down."

Midnight Oil Or Noonday Sun?

THE various stages in the making or manufacture of a finished product such as a popular novel, are many and varied.

Both Tarkington comes closest at present day novelists to the popular picture of the frantic genius, driven by a demon of writing, with a house-hold breathless and on tip-toe, to keep the slightest interruption from him.

The Old, Soft Pencil The case of Edith Wharton presents a striking contrast. She winters just outside Paris and summers in Provence.

Don Marquis, who shows his versatility by making a desk of a soap box.

Another writer whose working hours are clearly defined is Robert W. Chambers, who uses a soft, shapely pointed pencil, and whose course is of amazing ease and rapidity over the pages.
