CAVE FINE PERFORMANCE

"The Winnipeg Kiddies" at the Grand-Final Presentation To-night.

"The Winnipeg Kiddies" are in the city, and they have with them the best show they have ever presented to the public. They appeared at the Grand last night, and captivated a large audience, and more than held down their reputation of being the best juvenile entertainers on the road. The production is an entirely new one—and of the type that is bound to please. There is an abundance of good singing and dancing, with a number of special features, and there is not a dull moment from the time the curtain goes up for the first time, until the finish. To see a company of juveniles go through such a performance as is given, is indeed wonderful. The entire production is given with a swing and a polished finish such as very few companies composed of old and seasoned players present. One cannot see too much of "The Winnipeg Kiddies" and they well deserve the great praise they are receiving all along the line. The management of the company and those who have had training of the youngsters in charge are deserving of the warmest praise. Little Dorothy MacKay, well-known in Kingston, having appeared in "Little Red Riding Hood," and "Babes in the Woods," is with the company, and this charming Miss won the hearts of her audience with her songs and dances. "Jackie" Finesilver is also in the cast and the mere mention of his name is sufficient for those who have witnessed the performance of this young star. He has just as much "pop" as ever, and as a comedian he is first-class. The ever favorite Holmes Twins are still with the show for it would not be complete without their sunny smiles, laughter and various turns. The programme is a lengthy one, and every item is good. The first part of the programme is given over to singing and dancing. "Jackie" Finesilver won rounds of applause with his song "Kill 'em with Kindness," while Dorothy MacKay shared honors with him in her song, "Alice Blue Gown." The "Holmes Twins" made a big hit in their song, "Daddy." Other good numbers included, "Winter in Fairyland," by Dorothy MacKay, Holmes Twins and Company; "Teach Me" by Florence Simpson, "Scandinavia" by Lillian Beck and girls; "Who Said Irish" by Geo. and Billy Howley and dance by Irene Jones, the latter also giving a very fine skipping rope dance. One does not need to be Scotch to enjoy the great "Scotch Scene." There is a regular feast of Scotch songs and dances. It kept everyone in the audience in high spirits. A number of very sweet songs, of various kinds follow, in which the Holmes Twins, Dorothy MacKay, Edna Patrick and Vera Montgomery and chorus take part. "The Vamping Rose," directed by "Jackie" Finesilver is a very interesting feature, and one must not forget the very fine musical numbers given by the Holmes Twins. The song hits come thick and fast, and space would not permit a mention of them all, but "Where Flies Go," rendered by Dorothy MacKay, and "Ain't We Got Fun," by Dorothy and the Holmes Twins are perhaps the top notchers. The fairy dances by the girls and the burlesque dances by the boys should not be overlooked. The Big Four cracked jokes just like old timers in the business, and put over some good ones. The performance closes with a cabaret scene, and it is a dandy. Taken altogether, it is one of the best treats of the season, and everyone should see these young artists. The final presentation will be given at the Grand tonight. A big audience of children and grown up folk enjoyed a special matinee given this afternoon.

BANQUET AT BETHEL

Tendered by C.E.S. to the Calvary Y.P. Society.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Bethel church tendered a banquet on Monday evening, in the school room of that church, to the members of the Young People's Society of Calvary church. About sixty sat down to supper shortly after seven o'clock. Afterwards a programme was carried out under the direction of R. H. Treener, president of Bethel society, who occupied the chair. Solos were rendered by Miss Mildred Fittz and Aubrey Williams, and a recitation by William Treener. Short papers were given by Miss Margaret Leauge, president of Calvary, dealing with the social life of a society, while William Bruce and Mark Veale dealt with the missionary and look-out work of a society. Rev. A. F. Brown and Rev. A. S. Duncan also addressed the young people. Mrs. W. H. Godwin and Mrs. J. Lytle assisted in the preparation of the supper.

Stole Flowers From Grave.
 That there are people in this neighborhood to whom even death and sorrow are not sacred, was shown when Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parkin, Division street, found that the beautiful crescent of wax roses and the wreath of everlasting, left among the lovely flowers on the grave of their daughter in Cataragui cemetery, had been stolen when they visited the grave on Sunday afternoon. They intended to keep the everlasting wreaths in memory of their child. People who would be guilty of such act are beneath contempt.

NOTIFY THE OFFICE.

A resident of Queen street has sent in his cheque for a year's subscription to the Whig delivered in the city (five dollars in advance, six dollars otherwise) and with it the comment that he cannot get satisfaction from the Independent carrier boys.
 Several complaints of this nature have reached the Whig office lately, and we will be very glad if those Whig readers who are not receiving good delivery service will notify us at once, giving name and address.

Letters to the Editor

After Death.
 Verona, Nov. 18.—(To the Editor): I regret, after seeing so many editorials in the Whig so thoroughly in harmony with scripture, to see the one under the heading above, in your issue of yesterday. Its sentiments are by no means scriptural.

What do we know about the life after death except what we learn from the bible? I think, Mr. Editor, I may safely venture to hope and to believe that both you and practically all your readers believe in the bible as the inspired word of God. And if it be then it is in that word we are to find out what God intends us to know about the future world while we are in this world. We do not require any "spirit-rapping" so-called or moving tables, seances, etc to teach us truth or give us information regarding the unseen world.
 You call them "spiritualists." Perhaps you mean spiritists, as we have no reason to assume that they are any more spiritual than those who seek for their instruction in spiritual things from the word of God. As saith the prophet Isaiah, "To the law and to the testimony; if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them." And the same prophet says, "Behold, all ye that kindle a fire, that compass yourselves about with sparks; walk in the light of your fire, and in the sparks that ye have kindled. This shall ye have at mine hand: ye shall lie down in sorrow." Surely men would do well to heed this prophetic warning and let the "sparks" business alone. The only "true light" comes from God, and His Son, Jesus Christ, said, "I am the light of the world; he that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."
 I am sorry, Mr. Editor, that you should take the ground that we owe a great deal to those men, who, through mediums, seances, etc., "have attempted to reveal to us many things concerning the life hereafter, which all Christians believe we are to inherit." One would think that a Christian, that is, a believer in Christ, would accept His teaching rather than the "attempted" revelations of men who leave the book of revelations for spiritism. You very guardedly and prudently use the word "attempted." I'm glad you do not assert that they have succeeded. Reading the stuff they hand out as something "revealed" is about the dearest mess of nonsense one could be called upon to wade through. I have seen pages of it in the London newspapers sent to me, but I confess a very little of it was sufficient; there was absolutely nothing to be learned from it. If people would read their bibles they would show more intelligence and would get a great deal more reliable information. What God has not seen fit to reveal no man can know.

You say, Mr. Editor, that "astronomists tell us about the conditions of the moon, etc." To me that looks very far fetched. (Some 238,000 miles!) and not at all to the point. Astronomy and spiritism are by no means alike, though possibly some of those spiritists may be more or less under the influence of the moon!
 It is not very complimentary to Christianity to intimate that spiritism so called affords more comfort than it does to those who are nearing the end of life here and whose lot has been hard. I submit, Mr. Editor, that your concluding paragraph savors of Universalism. I see your paragraphist has an appropriate joke on the subject in the first column, while in your editorial you appear to be in earnest. I thank you for kind indulgence in giving me space in your columns even when we differ in our views.
 Yours faithfully,
 —JAMES LAWSON.

Was Well Known.
 The late Sir Frederick Orr Lewis, who died in France, was a resident of Kingston, and left here in manhood for Montreal where he entered into the hardware business, having been trained here under Montague Strange. His parents lived on Earl street in the house now occupied by W. H. Wornath. His father was a merchant on Ontario street, handling ship supplies. Sir Frederick had many warm friends here.
 He is survived by his wife, one son, Juncun, two daughters, Miss Helen and Miss Mary Graham, and four brothers, James Graham Lewis, Howard L. Lewis, T. G. Lewis and W. J. Lewis, residing in Montreal and district; also four sisters, Miss Agnes, Miss Adelaide, and Miss Maple, all of Montreal, and a married sister, Mrs. J. J. Volland, residing at Houghton, Mich.
