The new street costume, a compromise between the ordinary coat and suit, is to me the most becoming garb for early winter. And not for early winter, alone, for it can be nicely worn under a fur coat when the coldest days set in. It can be made in serge, tricotine, duvetyne or satin. I made mine in soft light brown duvetyne with fringes of black.

The making is very simple and by carefully following the pattern there ought to be no trouble. The simple tailored lines of this dress are very effective, especially for the person of slim build.

The center front and back of pattern are laid on the lengthwise fold. Cut the two side pieces and set into the notched parts, thus forming the entire gown. The belt is cut in one piece. The beading running around the bottom of the skirt is graduated until it is even with the back of the skirt at the bottom.

The material required is three yards, 42 inches wide.

President of Women's Institutes Mrs. George Edwards, of Komoka, newly elected president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario gave her presidential address at the closing session of the Women's Institutes convention, asking for the co-operation not only of the young girls, but of the older women. MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels With "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

No. 31— Selling Typewriters.

An ambitious stenographer, not yet out of her teens, is making about $60 a month selling typewriters on a new and novel plan. She goes to a business in need of a machine and offers to furnish a stenographer a month free if the proprietor will purchase a machine. She has an arrangement with a business college to furnish the stenographer, and when she sells the machine she telephones the school and they send down a stenographer, which costs the school nothing, the business man nothing and the girl who sells typewriters nothing. The school agrees to give all its graduates a month's experience in a business office and it often happens that the stenographer is permanently engaged. It makes a good drawing card for the school, it helps the young lady sell typewriters and it assists many graduates to permanent and well paying positions.

She also has an arrangement with the business college to instruct any of her purchasers who may wish to learn to operate the typewriter. It often occurs that a man needs a typewriter but his business is so small that he cannot afford to employ a stenographer. The school instructs them free of charge, as the proprietor of the school has the general agency for the machine, so gets a commission wherever a sale is made.

The Real Censor of Plays, London Daily Express. Doubtless a censor who was omniscient and omnipotent would be a blessing both to managers and audiences. Failing these qualifications, it is difficult to be certain of his usefulness. Under modern conditions there can only be a censor of public entertainments—the public. If the public wants a certain kind of entertainment it will eventually have it, but the censor never so wisely. It is public opinion, nourished by an enlightened press, that must judge the fitness or unfitness of a play. And public opinion is, in the long run, a sound and wholesome referee.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble
WEDNESDAY, Nov. 23.
The astral testimonies for this day pressage an unusually active and interesting state of affairs. All mercantile, industrial, professional and literary pursuits are particularly under fortunate planetary rule, with all sorts of encouragement for new projects and dealings with trusts, closed corporations and secret societies. Under the benign reign of Jupiter, assisted by the favorable position of Mercury, there should be increase of business and financial gain. A similar flourishing and happy condition should prevail in social and domestic affairs. Those whose birthday it is are justified in looking for a year of growth

IN NEW FASHIONS

Wider Skirt Is Feature of Chicago Style Review.
Coats to Be Short, Suits Have No Pockets or Cuffs and Muffs Are Barred.

According to the association nearly everything in suits and coats and dresses will be brown or moose, heavily embroidered and beaded. Gold and silver thread embroideries especially will be shown. Beads will be used on everything except the most strictly tailored garments.

As for the suits, the coats will be fairly short, and the skirts perfectly plain. The jackets will have big fur collars and fur about the bottom of beaver, seal, dark squirrel, or taupe nutria.

Nothing will keep warm the hands of the fashionably gowned. There are no cuffs or pockets on the suit, and muffs are quite out. The bodices of these jackets will be quite close fitting, as mildy has signified that she has had enough of loosely fitting things, but skirts will have a decided flare. Tassels will be found every place a tassel can be. Quantities of elaborate buttons of rich shades will be used. Silk bolivia, chiffon velvet, duvetyne, duvetyne.

Girls shown in the recent style review of the Chicago Manufacturers' association are wider than they have been worn for some time. They were not much shorter, however, twelve inches from the ground being declared to be the correct length.

and duvet de laine are the materials from which the winter suits will be fashioned.

Cloth coats will be forty-eight inches in length, embroidered in gold or silver thread, with huge capular collars of fur and with fur cuffs and pockets. But the fur coats will be shorter. They will be thirty-six inches and have large collars and cuffs, and fur buttons and belt. No fur combinations at all will be used this season.

The evening wraps will be fairly plain, with big fur collars, wide at the bottom, and lapping over 20 inches where they fasten.

Shoestring belts and buckles of self material, silver and gold embroidery, and either high choker collars, or a neck line cut only three inches from the base of the throat, one pocket next to the seam, and tight three-quarter sleeves, with white cuffs to the wrist are the new features of the tallier and afternoon frocks. Many of them will have deep hems, buttons all the way down the back, and white lace yokes. Duvetyne and velvet in moose and brown, with an occasional Copenhagen blue will be the material most in vogue.

For the fluffy young person, evening dresses of black lace over charmeuse, with French flowers will be shown, and for the woman given to severer lines; gowns headed from top to bottom in all sorts of gorgeous colors. Both straps will be used.

Gowns will be somewhat higher cut this year, both in front and in back, and some of them will even have little sleeves.

Printed platted chiffon blouses are extremely good with platted satin or taffeta skirts, and the combinations of colors are too numerous to mention. Light colored dresses in silk crepe or in organdie are shown with wide ash of black taffeta ribbon bowed at the side or the front. Jade and blue, minko, red and taupe, mahogany, and bronze are favored color combinations.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lugan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

Answers to Correspondents:

ENGLISH GIRL—Sorry you are losing your good color, but that is because of our climate. It is so much dryer than it is in England, and dry climate is ruinous to a good color. The best thing you can do is to massage your face well each night and morning with CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM and particularly after each washing. We also recommend you to use it for your hands. It will keep them soft and white and prevent redness and chapping. You can buy CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM at any Druggist. Also a large bottle.
