NEARLY 50 YEARS WEDDED FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Marsh, Elm Street, to Observe Event.

On November 28th, fifty years ago, John W. Marsh and Miss Sarah Burgess were married in Kingston by Rev. Mr. Saunders of Sydenham street Methodist church and have been since then amongst the city's most esteemed citizens. Mr. Marsh had been for seven years a sailor in the British mercantile marine service and eight years in the Royal Navy. He was on the corvette "Pylades" at Halifax in June, 1866, and transferred to one of the patrol gun boats, "St. Andrew's," which was fitted out with batteries fore and aft at Montreal to protect the St. Lawrence from the Fenian Raiders. The St. Andrew's route was from Kingston to Gananoque daily and to Prescott weekly. Mr. Marsh has good pictures of the "Pylades" and the "St. Andrew's," also a photograph of himself and a chum taken in the Barbadoes. Another interesting picture is one of a British cruiser and a slaver both under full sail, the British man-o-war having auxiliary steam had caught the slaver near a high promontory. Mr. Marsh was in China in 1870, when he first heard of the Franco-Prussian war, the news coming that the Prussians were in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh look back to the old days of struggle in this new country without regret and are rather inclined to think that the people of today are not as frugal and hard working as those of their young day. They remember when Colonel Duff had all the land west of Alfred street from Union street to Princess street, under cultivation and when there were no plate glass windows on Princess street. For twenty years Mr. Marsh was in the employ of J. S. Muckleston and Co., hardware merchants, and then he began gardening in the cosy home and garden on Elm street in which he and his wife have lived for forty-six years. His father, who was a gardener in England, also came to this country, where he worked among the plants he loved; so Mr. Marsh's well known skill as a gardener is inherited. "It seemed to come to me naturally," he said when asked how he brought up at sea from eleven years of age, knew how to grow the lovely plants he has for sale on the market every summer. Five children, ten grandchildren and one tiny great grandchild, Muriel Jackson, are the family of this happy couple. The children are Mrs. W. Saunders, Beverly street, Mrs. Earl Parkin, Division street, Mrs. James Black, Havelock, John Marsh, Nelson street, traveller for Robertson's Ltd., and George Marsh, Watertown, N. Y.

Some clever models, an ocean liner and a channel steamer of the old days, have been made by Mr. Marsh in the winter evenings showing the truth of the saying that a sailor can turn his hand to anything. Mr. and Mrs. Marsh are faithful members of St. Luke's church, Williamsville. A golden wedding celebration was arranged for, but the sad death of their beloved grandchild, the late Miss Edna Parkin, has cast a gloom over the family circle. However many good wishes and congratulations on fifty years of wedded life are theirs from those who have the pleasure of knowing them.

REV. W. T. DALE'S ADDRESS

At the Y.M.C.A. on "The Religious Value of Memory."

A stirring address was given by Rev. W. Taylor Dale on "The Religious Value of Memory," before the senior Bible class of the local Y.M.C.A. at their first, weekly session on Monday evening. The speaker referred to the great heritage, we as Canadians, have in our national history which should be familiar reading to every young man in this country. This could not be over emphasized, and the young men should be inspired when reading the noble achievements of those early pioneers and settlers. In continuing his narrative, Mr. Dale told something of the lives and biographies of a number of our great men, as it were, "touching their bones" and receiving the highest inspiration. A strong plea was made by the speaker for everyone to give some earnest consideration to the task of storing the mind with the sacred, the good, the pure and the beautiful, which could only be attained by reading of noble deeds and the witnessing of good scenes, which all became readily impressed on that great heritage, the memory.

F. J. Wilson presided at the meeting. A nominating committee, consisting of C. A. Bunt, Earl Moncrief and A. W. Dean, was appointed to bring in a slate of officers at the next meeting. Refreshments were served by the women's auxiliary.

Navigation Closes Friday. Montreal, Nov. 22.—The date of official closing to navigation of the St. Lawrence river was fixed by the Canadian government as Nov. 25th. This is a step that is taken annually on account of accumulation of ice, making the position of buoys and channel marks uncertain.

To Discuss Ulster Difficulty. London, Nov. 22.—Representatives of the Sinn Fein have been invited to meet the premier at Downing street today to discuss the Ulster difficulty with a view to the interview the Ulster premier is to have with Lloyd George tomorrow.

Christine Nilsson Dead. Copenhagen, Nov. 22.—Christine Nilsson, noted operatic soprano, died here today. She was one of the greatest singers of a generation ago and was born in Stockholm in 1843.

H. B. Sherwood, an Old Railroader, Thinks It Will Work Out.

H. B. Sherwood, the former manager of the Bay of Quinte R.R., now the C.N.R. line, writes a letter to the Napanee Beaver approving public ownership of railways. He says: "To convert and damn public ownership of the National Railway from performance to date would be on a par of having deserted in the times of its early performance the Canadian Pacific Railway before it got into its somewhat belated natural stride of successful operation. In that period of doubt and uncertainty there were many misgivings as to its future. Its success and final results have obliterated in the memory of many Canadians the dark days of its early existence, and a new generation or two unacquainted with the facts have intervened to assist in forgetting its early hardships.

"My wish is to express my belief in the eventual satisfactory outcome of the public ownership of railways. The one great question at issue in the securing of success for this great enterprise is, 'Will it be possible to keep it out of politics?'"

"I am sufficiently optimistic to believe if President Hana is allowed to carry on without political interference, for all present great railroad managers agree that Mr. Hana stands in the A. No. 1 class of management, that within a decade the Canadian National Railways will be a great financial asset to the dominion of Canada and an undisguised blessing to all the people."
