KINGSTON ROTARY CLUB

District Governor Hart Seely
Chief Speaker at Dinner
On Monday Night.

The Kingston Rotary Club had a visit on Monday from District Governor Hart J. Seely, of Waverly, N.Y., and "Tom" Caldwell, a member of the club of which the district governor is identified. They met the directors of the local club in the afternoon, and in the evening a dinner in their honor at the British-American hotel. There was a good attendance of the members and the gathering was a most enjoyable one. Governor Seely and Rotarian Caldwell set forth the principles of Rotary in able addresses. During the evening, the members had a "sing-song" of Rotary songs led by the chief singer, Rotarian M. S. Grace. President "Joe" Stewart presided.

Governor Seely presides over Rotary District No. 4, which comprises all the Rotary clubs east of Amsterdam, N.Y., practically all the clubs in Ontario, and all the clubs in Quebec. He was given a warm reception, and his short address was brimful of good things on Rotary, with some timely advice for the members. At the outset, he pointed out the great obligation on each member for regular attendance at the meetings. It was at these gatherings that knowledge of Rotary could be secured. Fellowship was one of the chief fundamentals of the organization, and it must be remembered that to make friends, one must be friendly to others. Emerson wrote, "Wouldst thou have a friend then be one." Rotary presented a great opportunity for making friendships. Rotary also called for the making of good citizenship.

"Good citizenship of today depends on the boys of today," added the speaker. "The work we are undertaking among the boys gives every member something to do trying to make better citizens. Many of the clubs are working among the boy scouts, and others with the unprivileged boys. We can look forward to a better community tomorrow, by looking after the boys of today. With good boys of high standards the girls will be safe. It is up to us not only to look after our own boys, but all the boys of our community, including the unprivileged boys. Our International President, Dr. Crawford McCullough has defined three of the fundamentals of Rotary: (1) attendance at meeting; (2) education in Rotary; (3) fellowship in Rotary; (4) higher ideals in modern business; (5) good citizenship. "Ask the question, are you an asset or liability to the Rotary club of Kingston? Do you respond when you are called upon to be a real man and a Rotarian? Are you putting into your service some real deeds?"

Governor Seely, in closing his address, stated that it was a great pleasure for him to visit the local club, and expressed the hope that he would be able to come to the city again at an early date.

President "Joe" Stewart referred to some of the points outlined by Governor Seely, in his address, and said that the question of attendance at meetings was one of the most important things, and stated that if the Kingston club would be among the first three clubs having the highest attendance in the district for the next report, he would put up a dinner for the members.

"And I will be glad to send the cigars for this dinner," said Governor Seely, amidst much applause.

So it is now up to the members of the Kingston club to make President "Joe" Stewart provide a spread.

Rotarian "Tom" Caldwell extended greetings to the local club from the club at Waverly, N.Y., the home club of Governor Seely. "This town has a population of 5,000, and its Rotary club has a membership of sixty, and is making itself felt in the community. Rotarian Caldwell spoke of the good Rotary had been able to do in his town. The organization he said had presented a new social vision, and had made possible things which could not have been accomplished but for Rotary. Rotary had proved itself to be the most constructive force that ever came into the town. It was something worth while in the community.

The club received a communication from Mrs. F. R. Gimblett, 179 Queen street, asking if the club would devote some of the money collected in fines, to a "shoe and stocking fund," to help out needy families in the city. Mrs. Gimblett stated that there were several families in the city in need of attention. The matter was referred to the committee for a report.

Rotarian Roy Ward moved a vote of thanks to Governor Seely and Rotarian "Tom" Caldwell, for their visit and addresses, and it was carried by a unanimous vote. "We have received a most inspiring and instructive address," remarked Rotarian Ward.

In honor of Governor Seely's visit the members sang "For He's A Jolly Food Fellow" as only Rotarians can sing this popular song. The singing was followed by three cheers and a "tiger."

The proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

The Rotary club passed a resolution moved by Rotarians L. A. Guild and H. E. Day to have weekly luncheons held on Friday of each week instead of Thursday. The change is being made to suit the convenience of a number of the members who find it difficult to attend the gatherings on Thursday.

The first Friday session will be held on December 16th. It is expected that the club will have Rotarian Sir Harry Lauder as the special speaker for the Thursday meeting this week. Prof. J. L. Morrison, of Queen's University, will be the speaker on December 8th.

TO INTERVIEW HYDRO OVER STREET LIGHTING

And to Reach Better Understanding Between Local and Provincial Commissions.

In order to arrange a better understanding with the Hydro-Electric Commission, the Public Utilities on Monday afternoon decided that Chairman R. F. Elliott, Mayor Nickle and General Manager Folger should go to Toronto and "talk things over" with the Hydro officials. Commissioner R. E. Burns, after a letter had been read from the provincial engineer, stating that it would require another month before a statement could be prepared with regard to the production cost of Kingston street lighting, remarked that he was strongly in favor of "getting together." He felt that more could be accomplished by the local commission meeting with the Hydro commissioner. Differences could be more easily discussed and a settlement arrived at. The local commission appeared to be at loggerheads on occasions with the provincial commission, and he felt that "personal contact" was better than passing resolutions and writing letters.

Chairman Elliott stated that he had always found the Hydro officials willing to do everything possible for Kingston. Every time he had gone to Toronto and approached the Hydro people he had obtained whatever concessions he had gone after.

Mayor Nickle said he was agreeable to accompany the chairman and the manager, and try and get the street lighting question straightened out, and on motion of Mr. Burns, it was decided that the deputations of three should have an interview with the provincial heads in Toronto before the commission's next meeting.

In order to co-operate with the city council on the unemployment situation, the commission decided to lay water pipe in Drayton avenue, and upper Johnson and Toronto streets this winter at the same time as the Board of Works will be putting in sewers there. The sewers are of little use without water, and although the commission will not for some time get any revenue from the water extensions, the commissioners decided that they would do their part in giving work to the unemployed. The city will pay for the trenches.

Chairman Elliott wanted to know if the commission could come in under the government's unemployment fund in a matter of this kind, but Mayor Nickle said it could not. Commissioners Hewitt and McFarlane pointed out that the commissioner would be spending a large amount of money for extensions without securing the necessary revenue in order to issue debentures. In view of this, the full cost of the pipe will come out of revenue.

The manager was given authority to purchase a blower in order to augment the gas supply. This blower will cost about $1,400, or $500 less than eight months ago.

Take the Terror out of the Saturday Night Tub

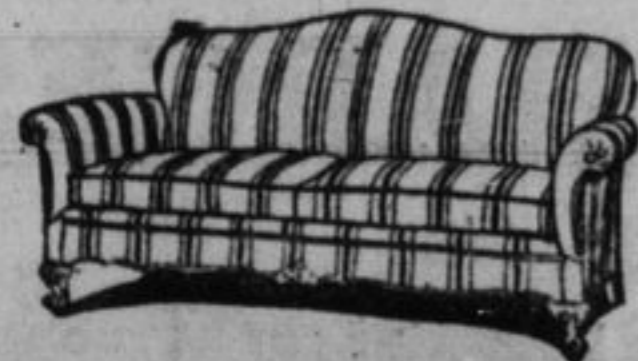

Boys don't need any persuading when they have a big porcelain enameled bath-tub to jump into. They get almost as much fun out of it as is afforded by the lake or that "old swimming hole." It gives them the bath habit and all the physical and mental cleanliness which frequent immersion creates.

And when they are through, shining with health, it's a matter of only a few moments to restore the normal lustre of both tub and fittings. Is your bathroom equipped with such ware?
