ALONG LIFE'S DETOUR

BY SAM HILL

Observations of Oldest Inhabitant.
I kin remember when hunters had to use the old, muzzle-loading shotguns.

Ye Editor Shows Uncanny Diplomacy.
(McCreary County Record)
The newcomers will be christened Betty Butler, Bruce, and the good fairies have wished her the good looks of her mother and the winning ways of her dad.

This Has a Metallic Sound.
If a man has Golden thoughts, A silver tongue, An iron will, Plenty of brains, and Steely blue eyes, All he needs is plenty of tin and he can copper any old bet.

Henry Knew What Was Coming.
"I have just finished a very wonderful new painting of a wedding and now I am looking for an appropriate title for it," said the great artist.
"Why not call it 'Just Before the Battle, Mother,'" meekly suggested Henry Peck.

Something Amis.
There was a young miss from St. Louis;
She made us believe that she knew us;
But what seems so funny
She borrowed some money,
Can't you see what this miss did to us?
—C. N. S.

Two Awful Whoppers.
Once there was a woman, who said she would be ready in a minute and was ready in exactly 59 seconds.
Once there was a man, who, when he saw a pretty girl in a short skirt coming his way, looked up at the sky.

Foot Questions.
H. B. asks: "Does idle fancy ever go to work?"

Taking No Chances.
"John," said the wife of the famous football hero, who had a record of more injuries received on the gridiron than any other star. "I wish you would stop at the bargain sale of Smith's, and get me a yard of that ribbon they are advertising for to-day."

"Say, what's the idea? You want a collect on my life insurance?" snorted John. "Do you think I am gonna risk my life and I'mbs getting in a mob like that? Nothing doing! Absolutely nothing doing!"

Either Will Do.
Say, if you have intense desire
To get to Kingdom-come
Just take a wife, or several drinks,
Or try to kick a bomb.

Any Other Little Tasks You Want Done?
"Stop the next war," says a line in an advertisement of a new book. Well, we always like folks, when they are asking us to do something for them, to ask us to do something easy like that. Next thing we suppose they'll request us to enforce prohibition or tell them just what the total vote of the winner in the next presidential election will be.

Pa Gets By With Another.
Willie: "Pa, what is the Dance of Death?"
Pa: "Must be the toddle, my son. Anyway when a man begins to toddle they say he has one foot in the grave."

Daily Sentence Sermon.
Take your mind off your troubles and put it on your work and you'll succeed.

News of the Name: Club.
Sue A. Mann lives near Kem, Colo., but she declares she never expects to.

Aw, Tell It To The Marjies.
"Moonshine is against the law, isn't it?" asked the Sinner.
"It surely is," replied the Reformer. "Well, then, if you drink moonshine could you say it was just putting down a rebellion?"

Help!
We read in a news item that Spain has nearly a quarter of a million beggars. It will be terrible for the poor old country if they ever adopt the "drive" system of America over there and turn that army of experts loose on a defenseless public!

Poor Old Hank.
Henry Peck was the candidate for dog catcher, or something like that, on the Independent ticket. At the election he received a few scattering votes and was the low man of all the tickets.

A kind-hearted reporter asked him for an expression on the results. "I did my best and would have been glad to serve if I had had the honor of being elected. But I bow to the will of the people," he said humbly. Then he added bitterly: "And I should rather judge the people have almost as strong a will as Henrietta."

Here's Our Idea of a Square Deal.
(From an account of a wedding at Harrisburg, Pa.)

If guests at the wedding feast of Steve Bakle and Anna Popp, who were married to-day in the Serbian Orthodox church, in Steelton, did not get enough to eat it was their own fault. On the table there were two roast pigs, 68 chickens, 150 layer cakes, 25 hams and 40 gallons of ice cream.

BELIEVES IN LASH FOR THE CRIMINALS

Sir Hugh John Macdonald Imposes Some Heavy Sentences in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Twenty-six years and a half in jail sentences were handed out by Magistrate Sir Hugh John Macdonald yesterday to men convicted of various charges of theft. Sir Hugh, in an interview with the Free Press, declared in favor of the lash for the suppression of crime in Winnipeg.

Charles T. Good received a five-year sentence; George Reid, three years; René Leflech, two years; Harry Blair, 18 months; Henry Dupas, five years; Walter W. Went, five years; and Clarence Lecky, one year. Concurrent sentences of two years were also imposed upon Went and Dupas.

The latest ruse of Winnipeg police to check criminal depredations, according to the Tribune, is to "instal bohunk cops" around the city, who will endeavor to gain the confidence of burglars, hold-up men and other members of the crook fraternity. Its success, the newspaper says, rests on the fact that a "crook" will divulge secrets of the "trade" to a friend.

DEFENDS MARY PICKFORD.

Attempt to Set Aside Divorce Is Denounced.

Carson City, Nev., Dec. 1.—Declarations that the attempt of Attorney-General Leonard B. Fowler, of Nevada, to set aside Mary Pickford's divorce from Owen Moore "violates every principle of institutional government," and "is the first of its kind, and should be the last," were made by Miss Pickford's attorney, Gavin McNab, San Francisco, in an answer filed in the State Supreme Court yesterday to Fowler's appeal from District Judge Frank P. Langan's ruling upholding the decree.

Miss Pickford was granted a divorce at Minden, Nev., March 20th, 1920, by Judge Langan, and in a short time married Douglas Fairbanks. On April 16th, 1920, Attorney-General Fowler filed an action at Minden asking that the decree be set aside "in the interests of the State of Nevada." Judge Langan upheld the decision last June and Fowler appealed to the State Supreme Court.

VILLAGERS NEED HOMES.

Favor German Labor in Reconstruction Work in France.

Paris, Dec. 1.—A movement is growing in the devastated districts of France in favor of the employment of German workmen for the rebuilding of the destroyed villages. The inhabitants of several villages in the districts of Chemin des Dames of sinister, if glorious memory, have approached the authorities requesting an establishment of a plan whereby they may receive German help, similar to that planned for the Chaumes region. It is interesting to note that practically the only hostility against the use of German laborers comes from the people very far removed from the invaded districts. Those who are still rootless do not seem to care much who builds the houses for them, so long as the houses are built.

GOES TO NEW YORK.

Takes Charge of Canadian Government Railway Passenger Agency.

Montreal, Dec. 1.—C. E. Jenney has been appointed general agent, Passenger Department, of the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways in New York city. Mr. Jenney is now located in Vancouver, and has had many years' service with the Canadian railways. This appointment will take effect January 1st, 1922.

Fooled the Tenderfoot.

Along a hot and rusty Kansas road a homesteader was pursuing his way towards one of Uncle Sam's free homes in the Cherokee strip. His family and furniture were in a shabby wagon drawn by a pair of shabby nags. "Whar ye bound?" a farmer asked him when he halted to water up. "Bound? Why, bound for a hundred an' sixty acres o' govment land in the Strip," the homesteader answered enthusiastically. Some two or three months passed, and then the homesteader stopped once more at the farmer's to water up, this time traveling north. "Wot ye done with them hundred an' sixty acres?" asked the farmer. "See them mules?" the homesteader answered, pointing to the sorry animals that were harnessed to his prairie schooner. "Well, I traded eighty acres of my claim for 'em." "Wot ye done with the other eighty?" "Don't give it away till I get further on," said the homesteader in a low voice, "but the feller was a tenderfoot, and I run the other eighty in on him without his knowing it?"
