OUMIN DEFT

Lieut, McDonell Comes Back. Kingston, Ont., Dec. 3 .- (To the Editor): Evidently some people are ensistent. They will not answer cold they will be almost chilly, and of that paper again. But for Major "Billy" Nickle make no allowances and brand his statements, if quoted properly in the Standard of Nov. 30th, as a very serious tampering with the truth and an indecent attempt on his part to make election capital out of reports hat are not true. -I am glad I am not on a plane with Major Billie.

Since personalities have been introduced into this question of rement in rebuttal of my criticisms, I ter explain my position in this election. I wish it clearly understood that no one regrets this personality have the legitimate right to fight back in like manner.

I come from good old Libera since passed to his reward. Therefore my tendencies are naturally Liberal and I am not Liberal only in this campaign because it serves purposes. Only once in my life have I fallen from grace, and that when when I voted in the last general election for Major Billie's father, W. F Nickle. Considering the later independent action of W. F. Nickle in respect to the Borden government I did not commit a heinious offence and my chances of a heavenly abode have not been marred by that fal! cannot help the fact if Mr. Hoag made the error of asking me to nominate Dr. Ross.

Further, in my little address on re-establishment the other night made no remarks derogatory to the character of Dr. Ross. I consider him a soldier and a gentleman, but I re-establishment Dr. Ross is unable to handle himself as well as M Campbell. That is not Dr. Ross fault-it is only his human limitation, and I cannot blame him for The other connection in which Dr. Ross' name was mentioned was my closing sentence when I said that when the train of public opinion vent through on Dec. 6th Dr. Ross would find himself knocked in the other. I cannot and will not be held responsible for political accidents of that character.

Now to go on with more persona! reestablishment when there was no election issue at stake. As the trut is not in a Liberal, according to his statement in the Standard, I would refer him to his father, W. F. Nickle, for verification of what is to follow.

In the fall of 1917 I began duties with the department of D.S.C.R. Six months later I resigned as a protest against local conditions, which were inefficiently administered and unjust to the soldier. An investigation was called, and at that investi gation sat Prof. Haultain, chief vocational officer for Ontario, W. W. Nichol, head of the Soldiers' Aid Commission; Dr. Graham, chief of the medical services for the province, and W. F. Nickle, as chairman. Upon completion of that examination into conditions the inefficient cog in the machine was removed, and Prof. Manley Baker took over the duties of D.V.O. To his credit, be it said, an administration was adopted that put the Kingston district on the map as a decently run unit. As for myself I was requested by Prof. Haultain, by letter, to consider my resignation period as a holiday and return to headquarters at Toronto with him. I refused. Every month during that summer I was asked to return to the department and finally after eight months after my resignation I came back as assistant to Prof. Baker. Will Major Billie or the Standard if they be fair insist that I did this voluntary resignation because I was a sore-head? I think they will have to give the credit of having done it for the cause of re-establishment, Evidently the chief for Ontario thought I did decently and unselfishly by his request for me to return, but I suppose in view of what has happened today his opinion is of little value. But it is necessary, I suppose, to give all the personal facts in my dealings with the department of soldiers' re-establishment in order to make my stand of the present time clear. Time went on and I finally became D.V.O. I was last December appointed in full charge of the district except for the medical services. Here gain are some facts I wish Major Bfile and the Standard to take note of. Evans, their colleague in the present fight, took a hand in the proceedings in view of the fact that his powers of dictating the policy of the department in Kingston would have been exceedingly curtailed. He sen: for Parkinson, the deputy minister in the department, and one who particultarly plays petty party politics Parkinson came at Evans' beck and spent the whole time with our Conservative boss. No one was seen concerning my side of the case. That was his idea of fair play. Of course, clear cut arguments indicating the | we could not blame him in view of failure of soldier civil reestablish- the fact that Evans had promised ment but resort to personalities. the party machine of Kingston that They are looking for trouble. amount of rationality on the part Did I play fair? On the 4th of November I wrote Meighen and Dr. Manion demanding an investigation. Acknowledgments were received after considerable delay. On the 15th of November I wrote asking action by the 24th of November, or I would consider I was legitimately entitled to take any action I saw fit. On the 24th of November a reply came that they could not investigate by mat date. Mr. Editor, they dare not in view of the election pending.

In the local example of extravagance I cited the other night I did not say it was records that were destroyed in the old hosiery mill, I stated clearly that it was thousands of stroyed. In fact, if their whole record had gone up in smoke they would have blessed those fires. There ty advertising material that the mighty academic mind of Major Billie might note. I saved everything

Once again, Major Billie, you were out on my salary at that period with the S.C.R. by at least a thousand dollars. Of course it will never do for you to take the word of a Liberal That information is to be had in the local offices of the D.S.C.R. and can be given to any citizen who will expend a three cent stamp and write headquarters, Ottawa.

I reiterate my arguments of the other night. Re-establishment has failed, failed dismally through poor administration, and I would for verification of some of its injustices, as Major Billie will not take the word of a Liberal, refer him to his Uncle Hughie, who as one of three granted training in this district extenure of office. Make Uncle Hughie show you that letter he sent to Flexman, director of administration a cisions and wherein he promised to ditch on one side of the government- them for a future use. I thought it

Major Billie, as a rising young tegal light, I would advise you to be sure of your facts, square up to the argument and if you fall before it do history which I did not desire not camouflage your fall by personal brought into this campaign but which attacks on your opponent, and do ny am forced to bring in order to con- let partizanship entirely blind you vince Major Billie and others of his the failure of re-establishment for ilk that I have made similar sacri- the returned men under this governfices and fought similar battles pre- ment. Dr. Ross is absolutely ignorant of the local industrial situation when he suggests using the pasture lands in Cataraqui ward as manufacturing sites with deep water terminals.

There is not a site with deep water available and there will not be until our lower harbor is developed. Is Ross the man to carry on this work?

Vote for Campbell.

How Some Ladies Promise. Whilst waiting in a Princess street store on Saturday afternoon, the following conversation was heard, coming from an attractive looking girl, who said: "Yes, and when Dr. Ross' solicitors came to me. I said, 'Sure, I was going to vote Conservative,' and when Mr. Campbell's workers came, I said, 'Of course, the Liberal man will get my vote." It is so silly to waste one's time in arguing, isn't it, dear?" One can depend upon the ladies to roid trouble.

Held Weekly Meeting. The weekly meeting of the Kingston District Optrometical Association was held last Wednesday evening with a good attendance. The speaker was P. House, his subject being Presbyopia (old or failing sight) which was handled in a very masterly manner. 'At the previous meeting the subject of Retinosbopy or shadow test was clearly demonstrated by J. J. Stewart, R.O.
