A REMARKABLE RECORD

First Baseman of Boston Americans Made One Error Last Season.

"Stuffy" McInnis, the brilliant first baseman of the Boston Red Sox, made a most remarkable record last season.

Usually, when a player performs some unheard-of feat, it is heralded all over the states in big headlines.

In many ways the record of McInnis was one of the most extraordinary feats ever performed in the major leagues, yet it has been given only slight consideration.

Playing throughout the entire season, McInnis made only one error. Considering all the play that centers around first base. Recall the many difficult throws the first sacker has to handle. Don't forget the many plays the first baseman must make on ground balls.

Think over all those things and then remember that during the entire season McInnis made only one error, and you will have a fairly good idea of the magnitude of "Stuffy's" performance.

It was the irony of fate that McInnis should have made his only error in the city in which he made his first start, Philadelphia. It was also a tough break that caused the official scorer to record the play as an error. It was really a play that involved merely the judgment of the scorer. Generous scoring would have made it an easy matter to have entirely overlooked the play.

Here is the play that was the only blot on "Stuffy's" great record. Read it over and form your own opinion. No doubt you will express a regret that the scorer decided to give McInnis an error.

The scene was Philadelphia and the date May 30th, 1921. The error was recorded on a thrown ball. Jimmy Dykes was on first base, noboddy out, and the score close. McInnis figured the batter was going to hunt, and went in on the pitch to make a play at second if possible.

The batter missed the ball. Jimmy Dykes, who had taken a big lead, seemed to be a sure out either at first or second. The moment the batter missed, "Stuffy" ran to first, watching Catcher Walters all the time. A perfect throw, properly handled by him, would have gotten Dykes a couple of yards. Walters started his throw and then hesitated slightly.

This rather threw McInnis off his stride and he slipped slightly as he neared the bag. When Walters finally threw the ball, he floated it down to first, rather than with his usual speed. A trifle off his balance, McInnis was forced to stretch for the ball and was unable to hold it. That enabled Dykes to get back to first in safety.

It seems the official scorer was of the opinion that Dykes was so far off the base when the throw was started, that he would have been an easy out, had the ball been perfectly handled. He failed to take into consideration that Walters had once made a false start and that McInnis was off his balance when he received the ball.

It is a cinch the scorer would have overlooked the play entirely had he known it was to be the only thing that approached a misplay on the part of McInnis all year.

To me no record has ever been made in baseball that is more noteworthy than McInnis' stunt of playing an entire season at first base with only one error. And that was a questionable one.

All the officers were unanimously elected. The following were elected as members of the executive: R. Butler (Lindsay), A. D. Campbell (Cobalt), Frank Hyde (Woodstock), and Willie Wilkinson (Galt).

WHAT BABE RUTH WANTS.

Thinks His Services Are Worth Big Money

Fifty thousand dollars from the New York Americans, and five thousand dollars from each other club in the American league.

That is the salary that Babe Ruth will ask for the season of 1922. I have Babe's word for it, writes Billy Evans.

Ruth had a sliding contract with the New York American league club last year. His actual salary was $20,000. He received a bonus for his home-run record, which perhaps carried the figure to $35,000.

Ruth's contract with the American league expired at the close of the 1921 season. When he confers with the New York club he intends to ask a combined salary that will total $45,000, which is $10,000 in advance of what the president of the United States receives.

TO BE DECIDEDLY ACTIVE

The Kingston Amateur Athletic Association Promises a Fine Programme.

Boxing classes under the auspices of the Kingston Amateur Athletic Association have been started in the temporary club rooms at 173 Wellington street, and have gained an enthusiastic following. It is hoped to get the classes in wrestling and judo-juitsu under way early in the coming week. The reading room furnishings and bulletin service will be installed at once, providing a feature that is sure to make a hit with the members.

Directors of Athletics Marchand is now busily engaged in making preliminary arrangements for a K. A. A. senior city hockey league, a fine silver trophy for which has been kindly donated by Vice-President Taylor. The participation of several good, fast teams in this league is already assured, and it is hoped that all teams desiring to enter will get in touch with "Ray" at the club rooms as soon as possible.

The first regular meeting of the association will be held in the club rooms on December 8th, at eight o'clock, when a good turnout of local sport enthusiasts is looked for.

The programme for the evenings of next week is as follows: Monday, physical training, boxing, wrestling; Tuesday, musical evening; Wednesday, hockey, including a short talk on the fine points of the game by Ray Marchand; Thursday, open house; Friday, club meeting, and boxing; Saturday, physical training and hockey.

The club rooms are kept open from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. daily for the convenience of members.

SYRACUSE CHALLENGES GIRLS' COLLEGE NINE

While trying to arrange a southern trip for the Syracuse University baseball team next summer, Graduate Manager "Cy" Thurston was told that Goucher College of Baltimore had a good team and Thurston, after seeing it listed in a catalogue sent a ring challenge for a game next spring. It was not until today that he learned this was a girls' college. The information was conveyed in a letter from Connie Stener, president of the institution, who said:

"Much as we would like to accept your challenge to play you at baseball, I am afraid you will withdraw your offer when you find that our team is the more deadly of the two. Unfortunately, as it proves to be in this instance, Goucher College is open to women only and I have a very fair idea that the gods on high would not consent to any coed tendencies even in athletics."
