KING'S COLOR TO 21ST
PLACED IN ST. GEORGE'S

An Impressive Military Ceremony at the Cathedral on Sunday Morning.

An impressive service was held in St. George's cathedral on Sunday morning, when the King's Color of the 21st Canadian Battalion was deposited in the sacred precincts with due religious and military ceremony. The color was brought to the cathedral in charge of a color party, with the P.W.O.R. pipe band, and was carried by an officer, escorted by two sergeants. When the congregation was assembled, the cathedral authorities received the color escort at the door, and the procession moved down the aisle to the singing of the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the escort carrying rifles and fixed bayonets.

Upon arrival at the chancel steps, the commanding officer, Lt.-Col. H. E. Pense, D.S.O., M.C., addressed the Dean of Ontario as follows: "Sir, on behalf of the officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the 21st Canadian Battalion, British Expeditionary Force, I have the honor to inform you that this color has been presented to our battalion by His Majesty King George the Fifth, and to request that it be deposited here for safe keeping as a token of their gratitude to Almighty God, by whom alone victory is secured, for His providential care and gracious benediction granted them in the discharge of duty." In so acting they also desire to provide a memorial to the men of all ranks who served under this color, and to afford an inspiration for patriotic service and sacrifice to all who may worship here for all time to come.

Dean Starr answered: "In the faith of Jesus Christ we accept this color for the glory of God and in the memory of those who were faithful, many of them even unto death, in the sacred cause of king and country and in confidence of the inspiration it will afford to all who may behold it, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

The color party then presented arms, and the National Anthem was sung, at the conclusion of which the color was handed to Mr. P. B. Lyman, one of the wardens, who in turn, handed it to the dean, who received it reverently, and conveyed it to the altar, where the Bishop of Ontario, gave a short prayer. Major (Rev.) Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's, read the lesson.

A beautiful sermon was given by Major the Rev. W. E. Kidd, M.C., who was the chaplain of the 21st Battalion, his text referring to one of the wars carried on by King David, in which they had set up a standard, trusting in the guidance of God for victory. Major Kidd told of how our standard had been set up in August, 1914, when our men had gathered around it, convinced that fight was on our side. The speaker said that we were now in the final phase of that great experience, and had now just seen the color of the battalion, presented by the king, deposited in its last resting place. However, in referring to the glorious deeds of our own battalion, continued the speaker, it is not to forget the great deeds of other units—we were one of many.

An outline of the history of the 21st was sketched by Major Kidd, from the mobilization days in November, 1914; the crossing of the Atlantic; the training days in England; the crossing of the channel to Boulogne, and the weary march to the rest camp; the first night in the front line, and the sadness of the first casualty; then down through the long months of fighting with the regiment covering itself with glory; and finally the signing of the armistice, and the triumphant march into Germany. The speaker stated that the present service brought back memories of another service, which stood out above all others, that of a similar service held for the regiment, on Easter morning, just prior to the battle of Vimy.

Reference was made to the many courageous acts which brought honors to the individual and glory to the unit, in which they served. The speaker feelingly remarked that one of the greatest things that had come out of the great conflict was the wonderful spirit of true comradeship, which was developed during those trying days of the war, and which will be only intensified by time. In referring to the late commanders of the battalion, Lt.-Col. E. W. Jones, D.S.O., the preacher said that we could not begin to mention all these who stand revered and holy in our memory, but that this officer, perhaps more than any man, seemed to typify a certain spirit in our lives, so much so that we looked up to and loved him when he lived, and deeply mourned him when he died. Major Kidd, in closing his address, expressed the hope that this would be the final resting place of the king's color of this famous battalion, standing as an emblem of those we all love, those who served and who have gone, of the glorious good times and the comradeships, and a lasting memory of the great things that have been done. Capt. Alan Cowcram, D.S.O., acted as adjutant, and Major E. B. Sparks represented on the staff of Col. Pense, the 1st Battalion of the P.W.O.R., which perpetuates, in the active militia, the 21st Battalion.

Capt. F. K. Ludlow, M.C., carried the color.

The color was escorted by a guard of ex-21st N.C.O.'s; Sergt. Maj. A. Tugwood, Sergt.-Major Jarrett, Sergt. R. Anderson, Sergt. Pullen, Staff-Q.M.S. E. Cockburn and Corpl. W. Clifford. R.S.M. W. G. McCullagh, M.M., acted as R.M.S. The regimental pipe band played the color and escort to the cathedral.

Major-General Sir A. C. Macdonell, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., the staff and cadets of the R.M.C., Brig-Gen. W. M. King, C.M.G., D.S.O., the G.O.C. and staff of M.D. No. 3, and the church parade of the R.C.A. were present, with ex-members of the 21st, the officers and N.C.O.'s of the P.W.O.R., and a large congregation.

Archibald Norey, of the township of Portland, who was charged with seducing a girl, appeared before Judge H. A. Lavell at the court house on Saturday. There was no evidence submitted to corroborate the statement of the girl, as is required by the criminal code and the judge had to give the accused his freedom. The judge stated that he believed the girl had told the truth, but there was lack of evidence which would call for a conviction. The prisoner has been confined to the county jail for a week. T. J. Rigney appeared for the prisoner and J. L. Whiting prosecuted.
