MIGHTY BOOT OF HUGHES GIVES ST. AIDAN'S WIN

Rally and Struggle Hard But Could Not Make a Win.

Queen's juniors went down to their first defeat of the 1921 rugby season on Saturday afternoon when the Toronto St. Aidan's champions of the Toronto City league and the Inter-city series, put it over them 10-8 in a game which was in doubt till the final whistle blew.

The kicking of Hughes, centre half for the visitors, was the main factor in their victory. Queen's line was vastly superior at all times and smashed the Saint's defense time and again for long gains. The opinion is that as a general rule the Inter-city players were better than their opponents but whenever they threatened Hughes booted the ball far back towards their goal line and placed his own team's goal in safety once more. Quinn kicked well but his punt could not equal those of the St. Aidan's back and the whole visiting half line caught better than the local boys.

Saint's Delay Game.

The game was held up for over an hour in starting by St. Aidan's. It was given out that their train had been delayed by many of the spectators claim that they delayed unnecessarily downtown before coming to the field. As a result the second half started in twilight and the last quarter was finished in almost darkness, the spectators merely guessing what the players were doing and the officials having an unenviable job trying to keep track of proceedings.

The Game.

Queen's won the toss and had the wind with them in the first quarter. Working the ball towards the visitors' goal by Quinn's kicks, they tallied the first point by Quinn's kick to the goal line. In a short time the visitors evened up and so the score stood as the second quarter started. Hughes' kicking had been remarked against the wind but with the wind his punts were wonderful. Before half time he had kicked another point and his punting had advanced his team to a point from which they plunged over for a touch. At half time the score stood 7-2 for St. Aidan's.

In the second half Queen's came back with a rush and broke up all the plays of St. Aidan's. Gaining possession, the battered their opponents' line and finally got over for a try which they failed to convert. Before the quarter ended Quinn kicked another point which tied the score.

By this time the field was almost in total darkness. Although playing against the wind, Queen's forced the ball into St. Aidan's territory with the mighty plunges of McNeill, Affleck, Ritchie and Whitton doing the work. Once again Quinn kicked a point and Queen's were in the lead 8-7. Then the tide turned and Hughes got a chance to kick, and booted well, following up with succeeding kicks and punted over three points in fast succession, making the final score 10-8.

Queen's tried hard to overcome the lead but their efforts did not have any effect. As fast as they advanced they were driven back by Hughes and it is this man that St. Aidan's can thank for their victory.

AMERICAN LEAGUE NEEDS NEW MATERIAL

Every Club Needs Patching and Trades Will Feature the Coming Meeting.

It wouldn't be at all surprising if some big trades were put over at the coming meeting of the American League.

Every club in the Johnson organization is in the field for material. Not a club is content to stand pat on its line-up of last season.

The St. Louis Browns could use a star second baseman to advantage. The loss of Gedeon killed the Browns' chances. McManus, on his fall showing, has chance to come through. Pitchers could also be used.

Connie Mack says he is satisfied with only Second Baseman Jimmy Dykes and his catcher, Ralph Perkins. He says he must rebuild the rest of his club.

Clerke Griffith, at Washington, must have a shortstop. It is to get anywhere. No ball club can get along without a shortstop. That is the plight at Washington.

New York, it seems, must have its pitching strength. A star outfielder would also help.

Boston needs only a little bolstering here and there to make it a mighty good ball club. The outfield is the weakest point.

Detroit unless it gets a shortstop and second baseman, is going to have a rocky road. No ball club can hope for success without good men at those two positions. It is possible Pep Young may do a comeback and fill the bill at second.

Chicago needs more pitching. Keri and Faber can't carry the entire burden. Another infielder would help. The outfield also could stand some changes.

Cleveland was a strong contender last year but it is understood that speaker has a number of changes that he may put through before the opening of the season.

KITCHENER STAR WILL NOT TURN PRO.

George Hiller Declines Tempting Offer Made by St. Patricks.

A Toronto despatch says: St. Patrick's tried to coax George Hiller, the great little centre player of the Kitchener O.H.A. team over to the pros, but George couldn't be coaxed a little bit. Hiller is in business in Kitchener now, and hockey in the future is going to play second-fiddle. It always did, for that matter, as far as the little fellow was concerned. The offer to Hiller was well over the $2,000-mark.

It would appear now that Rouch is the only amateur pro. will land around these parts this season. Top prices have been offered to Carson, Burch, Conacher, Munro, McCaffery, and Watson but the players have all treated them alike.

Further efforts will be made to get Munro, McCaffery and Watson, McCormick will not be available.

To Draw Up Games.

The O.H.A. is arranging its schedules and the convenors for drawing up of games are:

Intermediate series, Group No. 1, convenor, J. P. Fleming, 225 Earl street, Kingston. Meet at Kingston. Clubs—Cornwall, Brockville, Queen's University, Kingston Frontenac, Belleville.

Junior Series, Group No. 1. Convenor—J. P. Fleming, 225 Earl street, Kingston. Meet at Kingston. Clubs—Kingston Frontenac, Queen's III, Cornwall, Brockville.

The receipts for the 1921 World Series broke the previous record by nearly $175,000.

Taber's record for the mile was established at Cambridge, Mass., July 18th, 1915.
